THE CHARTER BY BISHOP HENRY, CONCEDED TO MARGAN
THE CHURCH AND CHAPELS OF KENEFEG, PAYING TO TEWKESBURY TEN MARKS PER ANNUM.

[COTTON MSS. CLEOP. A. VII., fol. 86 b.] 1196—1218.

Carta H. LANDAVENSIS episcopi concedentis domui de MORGAN ecclesiam de KENEFEC cum capellis terris et omnibus pertinentiis suis assensu et petitione W. abbatis et conventus THEOK' solvendo domui THEOK' annuatim x. marcas; quinque infra octavam Pasche et quinque infra octavam Sancti MICHAELIS.

As King John's Charter is silent as to this matter, it probably came between 1205 and 1218.

Kenefec is Kenfig, in Pyle, the parish next south of Margam, and which reaches the sea-shore. Much of it has long been covered up with drift sand, but under the Normans the village was a borough town, and the parish part of the demesne of the Chief Lord. A slender remain of its ancient Castle rises through the sand, and it is celebrated for its pool. It is also a contributory parliamentary borough to Swansea, or recently was, but this was solely in compliment to its former prosperity.

Salvis de TOPPESEFELD tres partes feodi unius militis et de villa Sancti HILarii dimidium feodi unius militis.

ESSEX GLANMORGAN SURREY.

St. Hilary, containing half a fee, was probably a part of the de Cardiff property, and William de St. Hilary, who, in 1149—1183, was sent by Bishop Nicholas to take seizin of the Church, cited at 190s. against the Abbot of Gloucester, was no doubt the Incumbent. In 1197 the half fee was held by Thomas de Bavis and Hadwise, his wife, one of the co-heirs of Richard de Cardiff. The half-fee descended to Elias Basset, who is supposed to have married the heiress of some intervening family. The half-fee was then valued at x. lib.

There was a Stephen de St. Hilary, who received from Alex. Adam, son and heir of Philip de Landoch, a quitclaim for 7s. 6d., and who, in 1197 or 1272, conveyed to Mvle de Reguny three acres of arable land at Langeton, in Landoch. Stephen, in 1205, had a suit against Herbert de St. Quintin for a tenement held by Stephen in Lanblethyan. William and Walter de St. Hilary tested Charters in the thirteenth century. Probably they were in Orders. The Bassets inducted the impropriation of the Church in 1537, and finally, with John Mathews, possibly a trustee, in 1607.

The Lords of Glamorgan, down to the Clares, did not admit of appeals to the King's Courts, and strove hard against the growing encroachment of the Sovereigns. John, however, High Lord of Glamorgan, expected to become King, and took a different view, hence the recording of the present fine, and the conservation of the record at Westminster, during the period when John was Lord of Glamorgan.

The eighth part of a fee 'in Nova-Villa,' is in Newton, near Bridgend, and the half-fee to St. Hilary. It shews that Richard de Cardiff, the owner of the land specified, was father of Anabel and Hadwise, who married, the one Thomas de Sanford, and the other Thomas Bavis. Bavis is thought by Mr. Floyd to be ancestor of Roger de Bavent, who, about 1345 [Abb. Orig. Plac. 166 b, and Rolls of P. II. 147], gave Colwinston to Edward III., by whom it was granted to Dartford Nunnery. This is the only trace of Bavis or Bavent continuing to hold land in the County. The Sanfords had continued to hold Newton, as will afterwards be shewn.

THE SUIT BETWEEN PAGAN DE TRUBLEVILLA AND WALTER DE SULIA IS TO AWAIT THE KING'S RETURN TO ENGLAND.

[ROT. DE OBLATIS I. 27.]

DEVON. WALLIA. GLANMORGAN. PAGANUS de TRUBLEVILLA dat domino Regi x. marcas et unum dextrarium ut loquela quæ est inter ipsum et WALTERUM de SULIA de terra de COITIFF et de VETERI-VILLA, sit in respectum usque coram Domino cum venerit in ANGLIA.

This relates to a suit between Turberville of Coity and Sully of Sully concerning a Knight's fee in Coity and land in Veteri-Villa, now Old Castle, in Bridgend. Both are anxious for a decision, the one giving ten marks and a 'destrier,' the other twenty marks and a horse [equus] for a hearing.

The Turberville property lay about Coity, and it is unknown how Sully came to have a claim in that direction. The suit was to be tried in the 'Curia Regis,' not in the 'Curia Comitatus.' Possibly John, as heir to the Crown, did not care to stand up for the right claimed by an ordinary Lord.

Kinithwin is probably one of the streamlets that flowed from the high ground into the marsh of Avene. The name is now lost. Eglin’ was Sheriff about the third quarter of the twelfth century. R. de Purbei was his brother, so they probably had more than a mere official connexion with the Lordship. William Pincerna was the son of Simon de Halweia of St. Donats, and married the daughter of Philip de Marcross. Their son, Sir Richard de Pincerna, held Marcross and Gelligarn, the latter under le Sore of St. Fagans. They were hereditary Butlers to the Lords of Cardiff. Halweia, Luvel, and Turberville are noticed in another place, but we have here Gilbert de Turberville, A., his wife, and Pagan, Simon, Gilbert, and Robert. their sons.

Robert, son of Walter, Seliman of Kaerdif, demises to John, son of John, son of William de Landilt' [Llantwit], his burgage in Kaerdif, and five acres in the Estmore, called Stokescroft.

Avicia de Kaerdif is daughter of Simon de Berges, she makes over to Robert Seliman, her son, land in Subrent, or South-Brent, which she had from her father on her marriage. The Bailiff of Brent is to give him seizin. This is all that is known of Seliman.

Estmore is, probably, part of the wet land on the right bank of the Rhymny at its mouth. Stokescroft is a name, perhaps, imported from Bristol.

William de St. Elena was Sheriff circa 1202.

BULL OF POPE INNOCENT III., DIRECTED TO THE ARCH-BISHOP OF CANTERBURY AND THE CLERGY OF THE PROVINCE, IN FAVOUR OF THE CISTERCIAN ORDER.

[MARGAM CHARTER. 6TH YEAR.] 10TH NOV. 1203.

INNOCENTIVS episcopus servus servorum Dei venerabilibus fratribus . CANTUARIENSI archiepiscopo . et suffraganeis ejus et dilectis filiis abbatibus prioribus decanis archidiaconis . et aliis ecclesiarum prelati in CANTUARIENSI provincia constitutis . salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Non absque dolore cordis et plurima turbatione didicimus quod ita in plerisque partibus ecclesiastica censura dissolvitur . et canonice sententie severitas enervatur . ut viri religiosi . et hii maxime qui per sedis apostolice privilegia majori donati sunt libertate passim a malefactoribus suis injurias sustineant et rapinas . dum vix invenitur qui congrua illis protectione subveniat . et pro fovenda pauperum innocentia se murum defensionis opponat. Specialiter autem dilecti filii . abbas et fratres de MARGAN CISTERCIENSIS ordinis tam de frequentibus injuriis quam de ipso cotidiano defectu justitie conquerentes . universitatem vestram litteris petierunt apostolicis excitari . ut ita videlicet ei[s] in tribulationibus suis contra malefactores eorum prompta debeatis magnanimitate consurgere . quod ab angustiis quas sustinent et pressuris . vestro possint presidio respirare. Ideoque discretioni vestre per apostolica scripta mandamus . atque precipimus . quatenus illos qui possessiones vel res . seu domos predictorum fratrum vel hominum suorum irreverenter invaserint aut ea injuste detinuerint que predictis fratribus ex testamento decedentium relinquuntur . seu in fratres ipsos contra apostolice sedis indulta sententiam excommunicationis aut interdicti presumpserint promulgare . vel decimas laborum seu nutrimentorum ipsorum spretis apostolice sedis privilegiis extorquere . monitione premissa si laici fuerint publice candelis accensis excommunicationis sententia percellatis. Si vero clerici vel canonici regulares seu monachi fuerint eos appellatione remota ab officio et beneficio suspendatis . neutram relaxaturi sententiam . donec predictis fratribus plenarie satisfaciant . et tam laici quam clerici seculares qui pro violenta manuum injectione anathematis vinculo fuerint innodati cum diocesani episcopi litteris ad sedem apostolicam venientes ab eodem vinculo mereantur absolvi. De monachis vero et canonicis regularibus id servetur . ut si ejusdem claustrum fratres manus in se injecerint violentas per abbatem proprium . si vero unius claustrum frater in fratrem alterius claustrum hujusmodi presumpserit violentiam exercere . per injuriam passi et inferentis abbates absolutionis beneficium assequantur . etiam si eorum aliqui prius quam habitum reciperint regularem tale aliquid commiserunt . propter quod ipso actu excommunicationis sententiam incurrissent . nisi excessus ipsorum esset difficilis et enormis . utpote si esset ad mutilationem membri vel sanguinis effusionem processum aut violenta manus in episcopum vel abbatem injecta cum excessus tales et similes sine scandalo nequeant preteriri. Si vero in clericos seculares manus injecerint . pro vitando scandalo mittantur ad sedem apostolicam absolvendi. Villas autem in quibus bona predictorum fratrum vel hominum suorum per violentiam detenta fuerint . quamdiu ibi sunt interdicti sententiam supponatis.

Audivimus et audientes mirati sumus . quod cum dilectis filiis . abbati et conventui de MARGAN CISTERCIENSIS ordinis a patribus et predecessoribus nostris concessum sit et a nobis ipsis postmodum indultum et confirmatum . ut de laboribus quos propriis manibus aut sumptibus excolunt . nemini decimas solvere teneantur . quidam ab eis nichilominus contra apostolice sedis indulgentias decimam exigere et extorquere presumunt . et prava ac sinistra interpretatione . apostolicorum privilegiorum capitulum pervertentes . asserunt de novalibus debere intelligi ubi noscitur de laboribus esse scriptum. FULCONE de KANTILUPO. Datum per manum J. de WELL', apud WESTMONASTERIUM, XV. die Maii, anno regni etc. VI.

A former confirmation [CCIII.] was granted by John as Earl of Moreton. The present (as King) descends far more into particulars. It is remarkable how few of the donors are known as county land-owners. The exceptions are the Earls of Gloucester, Morgan of Avan, Humfraville, Bonville, and Scurlagge. Most of the rest are either unknown, or known only by these donations, such as Sturmy, Burdin.

It appears by an inquisition dated 15th June, 1400, that Richard Scurlag the younger died on 25th July, 1390, seized of a mill, lands, and tenements in Lanrythian in Gower, and that Richard Mansell, his next heir, was a minor in the hands of the King, represented by William Stradling, Seneschal of Gower. The Wardship fell first to Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and on his death to Thomas de Mowbray, and then to Thomas, his son, Duke of Norfolk, who being under age, the King stepped in and acted by the Seneschal. Mansel was grandson of a Richard Mansell, who married Lucy Scurlag, eventual heiress. Lucy Scurlag, or Scurlag, thus carried her lands to the Mansels, who still, as Mansel-Talbots, retain them. Scurlag Castle is close west of Penrice Church. No masonry is in situ, but there is a moderate-sized moated mound. It is a Manor, and there is another Manor of the same name a little south of Llantrisant, probably founded by the same family before they passed into Gower. A branch migrated into Ireland, and became Scurlock.

CCLXXXVIII.

KING JOHN'S CHARTER OF PROTECTION TO MARGAM ABBEY.

Rex omnibus etc. Sciatis quod abbas, et monachi, et conversi, et domus de MORGAN, et grangie ejusdem domus sunt in custodia et protectione nostra et ideo vobis mandamus etc. quod eos et omnia sua custodiatis, manuteneatis, et defendatis sicut dominica nostra, et non faciatis aut fieri permittatis eis aliquam injuriam, gravamen, vel molestiam, et si eis in aliquo forisfactum fuerit id eis sine dilatione faciatis emendari. Et concessimus eis quod sint quieti de theloneo et omni alia consuetudine per omnes terras nostras, de blado et de omnibus aliis rebus, quæ ad opus suum proprium emerint vel de suo proprio vendiderint, et prohibemus ne quis eos super hoc impediat super forisfacturam x. librarum ad opus nostrum et xxs. ad opus vicecomitis nostri, et prohibemus ne ponantur in placito de aliquo tenemento suo nisi coram nobis vel coram capitali justiciario nostro. Testibus G. filio PETRI comite ESSEX. SAHERO de QUENCY. PETRO de STOK'. FULCONE de CANTILUP. Apud WINDES. xx. [? die Maii].

The Mise and Prestite Rolls state that King John was in Cardiff in 1210, on the Tuesday before Ascension Day [25th May], and at Margam on the Thursday following, when he went to Swansea, was there Saturday, and on Monday was at Haverford on his way to Ireland. The record that fixes his presence at Margam is as follows :—

'Die Veneris in crastino Ascensionis Domini apud Margam. Johanni filio Cardonis de Fresenevilla de prestito super terram patris sui x. marcas pro Rege liberatas eidem Johanni.' [Rot. de Prest. Memb. 8, 12 Joh.]

In the same year another entry shews the King to have visited Margam on his return to England. On Tuesday, the Feast of St. Bartholomew, he was at Dublin; on the following Thursday at Fishguard; next day at Haverford; on the Saturday at Margam, and on Monday at Newport, on his way to Bristol. The Margam entry is very brief.

'Die Sabbati proxima [29th August] apud Margam Ricardo de Samford militi ij marcas liberatas Stefano de Bayusa.' [Ibid. Memb. 3, 12 Joh.]

It is recorded that John was so satisfied with his reception, that he excepted Margam from his extortions on the Cistercian Monasteries; the only other exception being Beaulie, his own foundation. If the royal visits were on the scale of that paid by John to Bury Abbey, Margam must have been a flourishing corporation to bear the expenses.

SUIT BETWEEN HENRY DE ST. QUINTIN AND STEPHEN
DE ST. HILLARY.

[ROTUL. DE FIN., 323. 7 JOHN.]

1205.

GLANMORGAN. HERBERTUS de SANCTO QUINTINO dat quinque marcas pro convin-cendo XII. juratores per XXIV. qui fuerunt recognitores in assaisa nove dissaisine arrainiata inter ipsum HERBERTUM et STEPHANUM de SANCTO HILLARIO de libero tenemento ipsius HERBERTI in LAMBLETHYAM.

Herebert de St. Quintin tests a Charter by R de Haia in the time of Fitzhamon [N. Mon., iv., 633] Richard de St. Quintin, in the time of William, Earl of Gloucester, gave the Church of Frome St. Quintin to Tewkesbury; and Richard de Granville gave to Neath the mill of Pandelia, which he held of Richard de St. Quintin [N. Mon., v., 58]. They were a wealthy and numerous race, holding lands in Wilts. Dorset, Essex, and Yorkshire, in which last County the name is still found. In Glamorgan they built the Castle of Llanblethian, of which a good Edwardian gate-house remains.

1205. Herbert gave 30^{li} for his holding of ten fees of the Honour of Gloucester in Wilts [R. de Oblatis,
3 John]. 5 John, he is rated upon one fee in the same Honour. Also another Herbert held lands, 43 Edward III., under Hugh de Audley and Margaret, his wife [A.R.O. 11].

In 1201 he holds the ten fees in Wilts, and in 1205 Herbert de St. Quintin and Agnes, his wife, held lands in Yorkshire, and probably this is the Herbert referred to in the Charter. Herbert de St. Quintin was summoned to Parliament in 1294, and in consequence the Earl of Pembroke, who married his heir general, assumed the creation of a Barony in fee: but the connexion with the Glamorgan family, though highly probable, has not been proved.

SUIT OF GILBERT DE TURBERVILLA, FOR HIS FATHER'S LAND.

[ROTUL. DE FIN., 373.]

1207.

GLANMORGAN. GILLEBERTUS de TURBERVILLA dat quinquaginta marcas et unum equum pro habenda tota terra unde PAGANUS pater suus fuit saisitus in dominico suo ut de feodo die qua obiit. Et mandatum est FALKESIO servienti domini Regis quod, accepto ab eo securitate de illis l. marcis et equo, tunc ei de predicta terra cum pertinenciis in balliva sua saisinam habere faciat.

This is a writ to give livery of seisin to Gilbert, son of Pagan de Turbervill, of his father's lands, for which he is to pay 50 mares and a horse, giving security for the payment. When the fine was paid does not appear, but he obtained a quittance for the horse in December in the same year [CCC.]. The Turbervilles of Coyty were members of a Norman family, holding lands in Devon, Dorset, and at Abergavenny, where they established branches at an early period. The founder of the Glamorgan branch was Sir Pagan de Turberville, known by the Welsh as Sir Pagan Cythrawl, or the Devil, first mentioned in 1126, and said to have died about 1207. He seems to have acquired Coitif, or Coyty, and Oldcastle before 1199, and Gilbert, probably his son, held the Honour of Coyty, as it was then called, 'per serjantiam renatus,' in 1264, also of the new feofment a tenth part of a fee in New Castle. At Coyty the family built a strong Castle, subsequently added to. Seventh in descent from Pagan was Richard, whose sister and co-heir broke up the property, Coyty going to the eldest, who married Berkerolles, whose heiress married Gamage of Rogiad, whose heiress, Barbara, married Sydney, by which family the property was broken up and sold. The Coyty Turbervilles gave off branches at Tythegston, Penlyne, Llanblethian, Llantwit Major, Sutton, Ewenny, Heol Las, Wattrail, Llandeudog, and Picketston, all now, in the male line, extinct. The Castle seems to have been built in a Welsh earthwork. The Turbervilles strengthened their position by intermarrying with the Welsh, with whom they often sided in their local rebellions. Of the Castle, no doubt built by them, at Newcastle, a Late Norman entrance remains. The original estates were very considerable, and included Coychurch, Llanhary, Newcastle, Newland, and Llampha.

A Close Roll, 1 Edward III., 24th February, 1327, states that it is found by inquisition that William de Turberville holds tenements in Llanhary by feofment from Gilbert de Turberville by the service of half a fee, and also in Newland

KING JOHN'S CONFIRMATION CHARTER TO MARGAM ABBEY.

[ROTUL. CHART., p. 167.] 22 JULY 9 JOHN. 1207.

JOHANNES D. g. etc. Sciatis nos concessisse, et hac carta nostra confirmasse, abbati et monachis de MORGAN, ex dono et concessione GAUFR. STURMY, totam terram illam que est inter terram HUBERTI filii GODWINET et rivum KNIHWINI, sicut rivus ille per montem descendit in moras usque ad inferiorem aquam, et ab aqua inferiori usque ad viam que vadit per montana et dividit terram comitis et suam, tam in pratis quam in terra arabili et terra morosa; ex dono et concessione ROGERI STURMI filii ejus, totam reliquam partem terre quam tenuit pater ejus de feodo comitis GLOUCESTRIE in MORGAN vel idem ROGERUS post patrem suum; preterea ex dono et concessione RESI COH, medietatem terre que fuit KETHEREH in territorio de NOVO CASTELLO; et ex dono et concessione ENYON filii RIRID, aliam medietatem terre que fuit predicti KETHEREH in territorio de NOVO CASTELLO; preterea ex dono et concessione WILLELMO de LONDONIIS quicquid continetur inter duas aquas de UGEMOR' et GAREWE, sicut carte predictorum donatorum quas inde habent rationabiliter testantur. Quare volumus et firmiter precipimus quod predicti abbas et monachi habeant et teneant omnia predicta, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, bene et in pace, libere et quiete, integre, plenarie, et honorifice, in omnibus locis et rebus, cum omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus ad ea pertinentibus, sicut predictum est. Testibus WILL. BRIWER . EUSTACH. de VESCY, etc. ut supra.

This is a confirmation of the grant of Geoffrey Sturmy to Margam [CCL.], as well as of one by Res Coh. not before recorded, in Newcastle. Eynon ap Ririd, who gave the remainder of the same land, was possibly a relation, probably both descending from heiresses of Kethereh. William de London occurs many times elsewhere. He was son of Adelayn [CXXIII.] and father of Maurice [XCVIII.]. His grant of the land between the Ogmore and the Garw is not before mentioned.

CCCVII.

KING JOHN'S CONFIRMATION CHARTER TO NEATH ABBEY.

[ROTUL. CHART., p. 168.] 5 AUG. 9 JOHN. 1207.

JOHANNES D. g. etc. Sciatis nos dedisse et concessisse et presenti carta nostra confirmasse Deo et ecclesie sancte Trinitatis de NETH et monachis ibidem Deo servientibus locum ubi castellum RICARDI de GRANAVILLA quondam fuit cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et totam terram quam idem RICARDUS habuit inter THAWY et NETH, in bosco et plano cum omnibus pertinentiis suis; habenda et tenenda in liberam puram et perpetuam elemosinam, quieta ab omni servicio sicut predictus RICARDUS ea illis prius dedit et carta sua confirmavit. Salvis tenementis burgensium nostrorum de NETH. Ita quod predicti monachi eos sine iudicio amovere non possint, sed tantum homagium et redditum illorum habeant. Salvis etiam tenementis WALENSIUM nostrorum de predicta terra. Ita quod dicti monachi eos sine iudicio amovere non possint sed tantum homagium et redditum illorum habeant, et nos habeamus servicium quod nobis debent. Quare volumus, etc. Datum per manum W. de GRAY cancellarii nostri, apud WUDESTOCK, v. die Augusti, anno regni nostri ix.

The terms of this Charter have given rise to the notion that the Granvilles' Castle no longer existed, and had been placed west of the river Nedd, between it and the Tawe, no doubt on the right bank of the former river. The remains of the present Castle are later than the Granvilles, as late perhaps as the reign of Edward II., but it is singular that there should be no local tradition of a preceding Castle on another site [LXVII.].

Charter CCCIX. shews that the Monks of Neath paid 100 marcs and a palfrey for the Castelwick and its appurtenances, and for all Richard de Granville's land between Nedd and Tawe. The tenements of the King's burgesses were reserved, the Monks receiving their homage and rent and the King the service due. Half the fine and the palfrey were already paid.

GRANT BY KING JOHN OF THE MOOR OF LAWARETH TO MARGAM ABBEY.

[ROTUL. CHART., 168.] 11 AUGUST. 9 JOHN. 1207.

JOHANNES D. g. etc. Sciatis etc. dedisse etc. Deo et ecclesie beate MARIE de MORGAN, et monachis etc. pro salute anime nostre et antecessorum et heredum nostrorum, in puram, liberam, et perpetuam elemosinam, totam moram LAWARETH de HEVEDHALOC cum pertinentiis suis, et similiter terra de PEYTEUN cum omnibus etc. Quare volumus et firmiter precipimus quod predicti monachi de MORGAN habeant et teneant predictam moram et predictam terram, cum etc., in perpetuum, bene et in pace, libere et quiete, integre et honorifice, cum omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus ad eas pertinentibus, sicut predictum est. Testibus. SAHERO de QUENCY comite WINTON'. W. BRIWER'. PETRO filio HERBERTI. THOMA BASSET. ALANO BASSET. THOMA de SANFORD'. W. de CANTILUP'. Datum per manum HENRICI de WELL' archidiaconi WELLENSIS. Apud OCCHAM XI. die Augusti anno regni nostri nono.

KING JOHN'S dealings with Margam were by no means concluded. He here grants the moor of Lawareth, of Hevedhaloc, and the land of the Peytevin. Hevedhaloc is a hamlet of Margam, and lies towards the sea coast. Nothing is here said of a fine, which however a later document [CCCXX] shews to have been 100 marks. Peytevin is clearly the terra Peitevin of CCCXX.

[ROTUL. CLAUS., I. 92.] 24 SEPTEMBER, 1207.

Rex baronibus etc. Sciatis quod monachi de MORGAN pacaverunt nobis in camera nostra per manum WILLELMI celarii sui apud BRADENESTOK dominica proxima post festum Sancti MATTHEI apostoli anno regni nostri ix. quinquaginta marcas de fine quem nobiscum fecerunt pro terris WALENSIUM in KENFIG. et

SUIT OF THE ABBOT OF MARGAM TO THE KING FOR THE WELSHMEN'S LANDS IN KENFIG.

[ROTUL. DE FIN., I. 386.]

GLANMORGAN. Abbas de MARGAN dat centum marcas et ii. equos bonos pro habendis terris VALENSIUM in territorio de KAENEFEK in perpetuum elemosinam, unde ipsi solebant reddere domino Regi per annum xxx. solidos per manus ballivorum domini Regis de GLANMORGAN, et pro habenda inde carta domini Regis et pro habenda confirmatione domini Regis de aliis terris et tenementis que tenent in balliva de GLANMORGAN, sicut carte donatorum rationabiliter testantur. Et mandatum est FAUKESIO tunc vicecomiti quod, accepta ab eo securitate de illis c. marcis reddendis ad festum Sancti MICHAELIS anno regni Regis ix, l. marcis et duos equos (sic) infra predictum festum Sancti MICHAELIS, et ad Pascha proximo sequens l. marcis, tunc ei sine dilacione habere faciat plenariam saisinam de predictis terris et si eum de aliquo tenemento suorum dissaisivit contra libertates cartarum et confirmationum quas de domino Rege habent, eum sine dilacione reseisiet et in bona pace tenere permittat.

It appears that the Monks of Margam, though with strong Welsh sympathies, were not above profiting by the confiscation of their brethren at the hands of King John's most unpopular Bailiff. The acquisition was confirmed in 1207 by King John himself, whence it appears that the lands were in Kenfig, at that time a very discontented district, encouraged, no doubt, by the Lords of Aven.

CCCXVI.

Quare volumus etc. Datum per manum H. de WELL. archidiaconi de WELL. apud BURBECHE VI. die Januarii anno regni nostri IX.

The ancestor of the de la Mare family seems to have held three fees in the Honour of Gloucester and one in capite de Corona soon after the Norman Conquest. The family spread rapidly and widely, and in the eleventh and twelfth centuries are found not only in Gower but in five or six English counties, especially in Gloucester and Wilts. Whether those in Wales represented the main trunk or a cadet branch is uncertain, but probably the latter. The head of the Oxfordshire branch had a writ of summons from Edward I. and II.

In 1201 Robert de la Mare held the four fees as above. In 1208 King John confirmed to North, ex dono Johannis de la Mare the land which his mother had from Osmond Gros and held in dower. Gros was probably her second husband. Another version makes Agnes, the daughter of Osmund le Gros, marry John de la More, or Mare, of Oxwich and Portynou, in Wales. Their grandson married at Neath, whose heiress married a Mansel. The male heir married Avene, daughter of Sir John Penrice of Gower, and was ancestor of the de la Mores of Aldermaston, Berks. It seems probable that de la More and de la Mare are different renderings of the same name. William, Earl of Gloucester, confirmed a gift by Robert de la Mare—probably the same person—of Burdecomb to the Convent of St. Mary de Brueria—witnessed by Robert de la Mare, William and Robert, his sons, Richard, William, and Simon de Cardi [Madox, For and Angl., p. 16].

John de la Mare held half a fee in Langonydd [see MCCIV.] in 1461-2. In 1399 they sat with two lions passant in pale.

Le Sor, Sor, Soor, were of Backwell-le-Sor, co. Somerset, and probably came with Fitz Hamon, or soon after him, into Glamorgan, where they had Peterston and St. Fagans, and Kilticar, otherwise Kelligarn, and now St. Mary Hill. They also held land in Gloucestershire, and were connected with Devon and Cornwall. Robert le Sor witnessed a de Haia Charter in 1102, and John le Sor held land in Kelligarn before the reign of Henry II. Sir Peter no doubt gave name to Peterston. Kelligarn seems to have been acquired by Sir Richard Pincerna and so inherited by Sir Samson de Halweia, who, with the permission of Sir John, son of Sir Odo le Sor, granted it to Neath Abbey, and it was confirmed by King John in 1208.

In 1201 they held 15 fees in the Honour of Gloucester, and paid an aid on the marriage of the Earl's eldest daughter, in 1251. In 1202 and 1262 they held a fee in St. Fagans, valued at £10.

Sir Mayo, or Matho, le Sore of St. Fagans, Knight, was Sheriff of Glamorgan 20 Edward III. His descendant of the same name is said to have had a feud with David ap Gwiliam about the capacity of a drinking cup; and to have been besieged in Peterston Castle by Owain Glendowr, who took the place, dismantled it, and cut off Sir Mayo's head. The hill from which Owain descended upon the Castle is called in consequence 'Allt Owain.' This final Sir Mayo was probably the last male, as Peterston escheated to the Lord. He married Maud, daughter and co-heir of Philip Huntley, who bore 'sable ar goble argent y 3 cheon sable rhwng y 3 phen karwst gardant argent, on a chevron gules between three stags' heads embossed sable, as many hunting horns argent, strung or.' Sir Mayo seems to have had three daughters, co-heirs:—

I. Wenllian, married Sir Wm. (John) Wolf of Wolf's Newton, who bore '3 wolff pais Rodri gules blew saliant or' in a border engrailed or; and their descendant, Barbara Wolf, married Sir Henry Seymour of Wolf Hall, whence the ducal family. In the Seymour escutcheon appear the arms of Huntley, miscalled 'Le Sor of St. Fagans.'

II. Sarah, married Howell ap Griffith, whence Lewis of Van, Llanishen, etc. Her descendants have usually quartered Le Sore, and still do so.

III. Co-heiress of St. Fagans, married Peter le Vele, from whom came John Vele, who, by Inq. p. Mortem, 9 Henry VI., died seized of St. Fagans Castle and Manor, and a member of the Manor of Llysworney.

The Veles, who were a Gloucestershire family of Tortworth, there continued; but the St. Fagans branch ended in Alice Vele, an heiress, who married David Mathew, and had four daughters, co-heirs, who seem to have sold the property. Charter L. shews that Sir Peter de Veel was in possession before 1377. St. Fagans was sold to Dr. John Gibbon in 1578, and became the residence of the Lewis' of Van.

For the Le Sore pedigree see Sir S. Meyrick, i., 18; Coll. Top., iii., 73; v., 19, 22; Rees Meyrick, p. 41; J. p. M., ii. 129; Hearne, Liber Scacc., i., 161; Collinson's Somerset, ii., 148, 306, 320, 453, 545.

(1) Clendach in the Record Edition, but an error.

(2) Constance Cross, which seems a name applied to a brook, is lost, but Cleudach is Nant Clydach. The Chapel of Neath Castle seems to have been endowed: if so, it is the solitary instance in this county

(3) Aissa is Monk Nash, where, in 1290, the Abbey had a grange, and where are still remains of the Abbey barn. The farm included 10 carucates of land.

(4) Pendelin, Pandelia of LXVII., can scarcely be Pendoylan as has been supposed; it may be the Pondewelin [CCLXXXVII.] and Urban de Penducaet [CCXII.] Urban de Pendiuelin.

(5) Litteham, given by Samson de Allweia of St. Donats, in exchange for Kilticar, and confirmed by William, his son, was in Somerset, as were Exford and Cubehietu. Kilticar is unknown, but it is mentioned in Pope Nicholas' taxation. It was in Groneath Deanery. The Abbot of Neath was patron of its Church. The House retained Exford Manor to the Dissolution, when it yielded 10s. annually. 1s. 2d., possibly for its cure, was paid to the Abbot of Clyve.

(6) De Ponte is probably the land whence the Moricius de Ponte derived his name.

(7) Blakescarra, or Blackscar, now Sker, is a village among the Kenfig sands. The right of wreck is admitted to belong to the present Lord of the Manor, derived through the Evans' of Gnoll.

(8) The Mansion, in Cardiff, is probably that called by Meyrick the 'House de Villarys,' of which the Monks never got possession.

(9) The Castle, Grange, and now destroyed Chapel of Loughor was in part of the Lordship of Gower, within which Villiers held of Henry, Earl of Warwick.

(10) Rees ap Jestyn held land in the Neath Valley, and is said to have given name to Resolven. His sons, Jorverd, Oeyno and Hoel, are not elsewhere named.

(11) St. Ilith is Llanilid, near Llanharran. Huntingeshill is near Cwm Sarth, in the Lordship of Neath-citra, and which, in the presentment of 1628, is named as a part of the Abbey estate, but in the Manor of Cadoxton.

(12) Brigeton is probably Briton Ferry.

(13) Turgehill is probably Takkard of the Dissolution records; it may be Craigmawr.

(14) Leyson ap Morgan was Lord of Avene, as was his father, Morgan ap Caradoc.

(15) Portwer, Portenmayn, Barnotesdone, St. Decumanus, and Kanisford are lost.

(16) Barri held a fee in Gower.

(17) Error for Blancagnel.

(18) Aicene, error in the Record Edition.

(19) Cwmtioch, or Cwmtureh, is in the Neath Valley.

(20) St. Augustine's was in Bristol, where J. de Grenehill and his wife, Alienore, held a messuage at the Dissolution, yielding £1 11s. 8d. annually.

ROYAL WRIT TO THE BARONS, ETC., OF THE HONOURS OF GLAMORGAN AND CARDIFF FOR BUILDING HOUSES
IN THE BAILEY OF CARDIFF CASTLE.

[ROTUL. LIT. PAT., I. 79.]

1208.

Rex omnibus baronibus et militibus de Honore de GLANMORGAN et de Honore de KAERDIF etc. Mandamus vobis quod faciatis fieri domos nostras in ballio castri de KAERDIF sicut ibi fieri debent et solent et faciatis ibi wardas sicut facere debetis et consuevistis sicut diligitis feoda vestra. Teste me ipso apud HARPETRE. v. die Martii.

An Honour, sic Moden, was the name given by the Normans to a large fief or territory controlled by the Sovereign upon a great noble. It is sometimes styled a Barony, a Terre, or other names as applied to a much smaller estate. Etitled its name is derived from the final s of Gloucester, but sometimes from the name of its Lord, as the Honour of Gliford, or of the Honour of Aquila.

The Lord of an Honour was bound to do personal service to the Crown, and to provide as many Knights as the Honour was rated to. When he paid scutage to the Crown, he received it from the King's, his tenants. The Honour of Gloucester was rated at 327 knights fees, that of Clare at 136 fees, that of St. Hilary at 131 fees, all held by the family of de Clare, who also inherited a moiety of that of Galloway. Every Honour had a capital or chief residence, most commonly a Castle, as the Honour of Richmond, of Clare, and that of Dunster. The tenants of an Honour were not bound to give personal service, they had the option of paying scutage.

When the Lord of an Honour was a minor, the Crown had the wardship; on the father's death, if escheated to the Crown, but in such case it was not absorbed, but held as detached and distinct, and the sub-tenants held 'in Capite de Corona,' while the ordinary tenants of the Crown held 'de Corona' only.

Strictly speaking, Glamorgan, though held with the Honour of Gloucester, was not an Honour nor included in that of Gloucester, though the distinction was sometimes neglected.

Probably, when the estates of the Saxon Brictric were granted to Fitz Hamon, they were erected into the Honour of Gloucester. John detached the Castle of Bristol from the Honour; the Castle of Gloucester never belonged to it. The statute 'Quia emptores terrarum' put an end to subordinate tenures in Capite, confining it to holdings direct from the Crown.

Henry II. died seized of the Honour of Gloucester by escheat. It descended to Richard I., who enfeoffed Prince John of it, who held it in fee 'per Baroniam' by homage and service. John was afterwards disseized of it in the Royal Court, but it was restored to him by his brother Richard. When John became King, the Honour vested in the Crown, and the homage and service ceased on the part of the Lord, but the tenants held 'ut de Honore in Capite.' Fiefs held at second hand, being held of the Lords, who held of the Crown. On the Continent they were styled 'Arriere-fiefs.'

The Lordship of Glamorgan seems to have passed into a sort of abeyance between the co-heiresses of Earl Robert, until the Crown determined which sister should inherit.

KNIGHTS' LODGINGS, CARDIFF CASTLE.

The maze of fable that has invested the early settlement of the Lordship of Glamorgan has thrown doubt upon all statements not absolutely proven, and among others upon the belief that the Knights who held by Castle Guard were bound to maintain houses within the Castle precincts. The matter is however set at rest by this document, by which the King calls upon the Barons and Knights of the Honour of Glamorgan and Cardiff (a phrase here used carelessly) to maintain the houses within the Castle Bailey, and to keep ward there, as they were wont to do. The houses were within the outer ward of the Castle, where their foundations were lately laid open, and where also was originally the Town Hall, of Cardiff. The houses, being within the Castle, were the property of the Lord, but the tenants were to keep them in repair.

The Pipe Roll of 1208 shews that John was expending £22 10s. on the repairs of the Castles of Cardiff and Neath, and he therefore with some reason called upon the chief tenants to do their duty.

KING JOHN'S WRIT TO THE BAILIFF OF GLAMORGAN TO REINSTATE WILLIAM DE CARRIO IN HIS HOUSE OF CARRI.

[ROTUL. LIT. PAT., VOL. I., PART I., p. 92.]

21 MAY. 14 JOHN. A.D. 1212 or 1213.

Rex dilecto et fidei suo FALKESIO ballivo de GLANMORGAN etc. Sciatis quod reddidimus WILLELMO de CARRIO domum suam de CARRIO cum terris quas habuit die quo venimus ultimo usque PENBROC' ad transfretandum in HYBERNIAM. anno regni nostri xij^{mo}. Et ideo vobis mandamus quod domum illam cum terris illis que sunt in balliva vestra ei habere faciatis etc.

Teste WILLELMO BRIWERR apud WESTMONASTERIUM . xxj. die Maii .

The name of Carrio for either person or place has not been recognised in Glamorgan. The reference is probably to Carew, in Pembrokeshire, and the writ addressed either in error to Glamorgan, or it may be that the then Bailiff of Glamorgan who was much in John's favour, was in charge of all South Wales.

CCCXXXIV.

CHARTER OF THE COUNTESS ISABEL TO THE PRIORY OF BASSALECH; COUNTY MONMOUTH.

[NOV. MONASTICON, IV. 634.]

1213—1216.

Sciant presentes et futuri quod ego ISABELLA, comitissa GLOUCESTRIÆ et ESSEXIE, consensu et assensu domini mei GALFRIDI de MAUNDEVILLE, Comitissæ ESSEXIE et GLOUCESTRIÆ, concessi et hac presenti carta mea confirmavi Deo et ecclesiæ beatæ MARIE in ecclesia Sti. BEISILII juxta EBOD et monachis ibidem Deo servientibus pro anima JOHANNIS TRAVAIL qui ibidem in servicio nostro decessit, tres acras quas JOHANNES HAYERLEWINE tenuit; tenendas et habendas in puram et perpetuam elemosinam in perpetuum liberos et quietos ab omni servicio et exactione seculari. Ut hæc autem libera mea concessio et confirmatio stabilis et illæsa permaneant, presens scriptum sigilli mei impressione corroboravi. Hiis testibus . domino HENRICO comite de HERFORDE . WILLELMO BLUNDO . MORGAN de KARLION . RADULPHO de SWINNER tunc vicecomite . WALTERO de SULIE . WILLELMO de BERCEROLES . Magistro RADULPHO MAILLOC . et multis aliis.

It is certain that a Blount married either the daughter or granddaughter of the last Avene, and inherited the large possessions of that ancient family. It is also known that the Blounts exchanged those possessions with Despenser, the Lord of Glamorgan, for lands, it is said, in the North of England, but who Blount was, or how nearly allied to the great English family of that name whose chief seat was in Staffordshire, and who had a cadet branch at Bitton, in Gloucestershire, is not known. Pedigrees of the family are sufficiently ample and numerous, but they do not notice the marriage.

Blund, or Blunt, was a name strong about Bitton, in Gloucestershire, where they held land under Henry de Newmarch, not unknown in Glamorgan. Morgan of Caerleon held the town and Castle under the Countess, and was a well-known Welsh chieftain. Walter de Sully was probably the Lord of Sully, whose daughter, Maud, married Morgan Gam de Avan, in 1276.⁴² Ralph Mailloc was an ecclesiastic, whose name makes a figure in the annals of Tewkesbury in connection with the Church of Llanblethian. Ebod is the river Ebbw.

SUIT OF REIMAND SON OF MARTIN FOR A KNIGHT'S FEE IN KADINGAN.

[ROTUL. DE FIN., I. 535.] 16 JOHN. 1214.

GLAMORGAN. REIMAND' filius MARTINI dat x. marcas ut possit deduci secundum consuetudinem Honoris de GLAMORGAN, de feodo unius militis cum pertinentiis in KADINGAN, unde dicit quod MARTINUS pater ejus obiit saisatus.

Kadingan has not been identified: it has been supposed to be Cadoxton-juxta-Neath, but the name as it stands appears to be an error in the original transcript.

Martin was a Pembroke family of Baron's rank, holding also Combmarth in Devon, but no Raymond appears in the pedigree.

WRIT BY KING JOHN TO F. DE BREAUTE. THE KING HAS GIVEN ISABELLA COUNTESS OF GLOUCESTER (HIS DIVORCED WIFE) TO GEOFFREY DE MANDEVILLE, EARL OF ESSEX, WHO IS TO HAVE SEISIN OF THE HONOUR OF GLAMORGAN.

[ROTUL. LIT. PAT., VOL. I., p. 109.] 26 JAN. 15 JOHN. 1214.

Rex FALKESIO de BREAUTE, etc. Scias quod dedimus ISABELLAM comitissam GLOUCESTRIE cognatam nostram GALFRIDO de MANDEVILLA comiti ESSEXIE cum omnibus terris tenementis et feodis ejusdem comitisse. Et ideo tibi mandamus quod eidem GALFRIDO de honore de GLANMORGAN cum omnibus castris terris et tenementis et feodis et omnibus aliis ad honorem illum pertinentibus sine dilatione plenariam saisinam habere facias. et in hujus rei testimonium, etc., tibi mittimus. Teste me ipso apud PORECESTRIAM, XXVI. die Januarii, anno regni nostri xv.

The family of Breauté is Norman, from William Sieur de Breauté, who founded two Chapels in Rouen Cathedral, and was father of Roger and Luce de Breauté, who married Jean Makerel Seigneur de Hermanville, whence descend the family of Hastings and Carleton [Moren. II., 248]. Falk, or Foulkes de Breauté held Chesham, Kent, and was much employed by King John. Henry III., 1219, gave him the third penny from the county of Devon, with the wardship of the son of the Earl [Rot. de Fin., 293, 301]. He was finally exiled, and died 1228. His daughter married Prince Llewelyn. He was John's Custos, and Sheriff for Glamorgan in 1207, and Ballivus Regis 1208. He held lands forfeited by the Welsh rebels, fineing 100 marcs and two horses; half the money was paid in 1207. The Monks of Margam shared in the spoil and paid a similar fine [CCOXIV. and CCCXVI.]. As Serviens Regis, in 1207, he was directed to take security from Gilbert de Turberville for 50 marcs and a palfry, and to give him seizin of his dead father's land. He also, as Ballivus Regis, had credit with the Exchequer for £30 11s. 8d. for liveries for the King's servants for 20 days sojourn with him. Also, he is allowed for works at the Castles of Cardiff, Newport, and Neath, £58 18s. 6d. The general rule, when a Crown Castle needed repairs, was to call upon a jury to declare their extent, and to form an estimate of the cost. The repairs were executed by the Sheriff; the certificate is 'per visum of Galfrid de Caerdif, Gilbert the Palm-bearer, and Master William Carpenter.' John seems to have included Glamorgan in the Honour of Gloucester, to which Falk was appointed in succession to William Falais [Rot. de Fin., 293, 301].

Affixed to CCCII. is a fragment of an oval seal in brown wax with the figure of an Abbot. Falk had a brother living in 1224.

Upon King John's accession he divorced Countess Isabel, May, 1200, and at once married Isabel of Angouleme, and in 1201 the Countess was allowed to hold her lands, 'sicut antecessores suos'; nevertheless, John continued to exercise the powers of Chief Lord, and to apply the revenues as he pleased for about 13 years, when he permitted the Countess, January, 1214, to marry Geoffrey de Mandeville, Earl of Essex, of which the record is here announced to the Custos of the Lordship. The sum charged against Geoffrey was a heavy one, 20,000 marcs, and nearly at the same time he was charged a similar sum on entering upon his Earldom. Nothing is here said of security for the Glamorgan payment, and two days later the same announcement is made to the free tenants of the Lordship, from whom probably some assistance was expected, on the part of their new Lord.

Shortly afterwards, Isabel commences her new reign by a gift to the Church of St. Basil, or Bassaleg, on the Ebbw, of three acres, to support an obit for an old servant. She styles herself Countess of Gloucester and Essex, whereas her husband is Earl of Essex and Gloucester. William de Berkerolles, of East Orchard, who was Lord of Bassaleg, witnessed the grant. De Mandeville died, 1216, childless, when Isabel married her third husband, Hubert de Burgh.

The original is endorsed in red ink upon one of the cartulary rolls of Margam, and is supposed by Mr. Traherne to have been taken from the register at Neath, extant at St. Donats in 1574, but now lost.

Rossowlin, now Resolven, lies in the vale of Neath. Bryn Kynhaythwydd occurs in an old survey of it. A rude cross, on which the words 'proparavit hanc' are alone legible, is attributed to Canaythen. Coll. Top.

DECISION CONCERNING THE CHAPEL OF COGAN.

[COTT. MS. CLEOP. A. VII., fol. 69 b.]

Decisio WILLELMI episcopi de LANDAVIA et WALTERI abbatis de NETH et W. prioris de GHOLCLIVA de capella de COGAN et de duabus partibus omnium decimarum R. de SUMERI, quæ omnia R. de SUMERI clericus filius suus auctoritate literarum domini Papæ exigebat ab abbate ALANO et conventu THEOKESBURIÆ, et omnia adjudicata fuerunt prædictis abbati et conventui. Adjudicatum fuit illam capellam pertinere ecclesiæ de LANDOCHAM sicut ad matricem ecclesiam, et decimæ ecclesiæ de CAIRDIF.

Ralph de Sumeri, Baron of Dudley, held the manor and Castle of Dinas Powis, west of Cardiff, a reputed seat of the Welsh Princes of Glamorgan. He was of age before 1194-5, and died 1210-11. He was grandson of Roger de Sumeri who witnessed No. XXXV., was a donor to Tewkesbury, and held lands in the forest of Kibor. The chief seat of the Sumeris' was at Dudley, where they had a large property; they also held land in several counties, and of the Earls of Gloucester in Essex and Herts. They married the heiress of Paganel and so obtained Dudley, and their co-heiress temp. Henry V. married John de Sutton (who died temp. Henry V.) seized of the Castle of Dinas Powis, and half the Manor of Lanedern; and 'redditus in forinsico de membris castri de Duddeley' shews their identity with the Worcestershire Baron. In 1201, Roger de Sumeri held 50 Knight's fees in capite in Gloucestershire. The Suttons sold Dudley, and probably the Glamorgan estates. Their heiress married Sir Humble Ward, afterwards, Baron Ward, in 1644.

Alan, Prior of Canterbury, became Abbot of Tewkesbury in 1187, and died early in May, 1202. The Bishop was certainly William de Saltmarsh, consecrated 1185, and who died about 1191.

‘ DEI . GRA . ABBAS . S ’

A fine of 119, [CCCCXXV] mentions Thome le Sanford as having married Anabel, elder daughter and co-heir of Richard de Kardif, and as with him holding a knight's fee in Hameleden, which was probably in Gloucestershire and connected with Tewkesbury. Jordan was a name in use in the de Kardif and Sanford families, but who Jurdan was is unknown. He may have been a de Cardiff.

Richard de Kardif was a member of a well-known family in the counties of Gloucester and Glamorgan. The Golden Grove Book makes him son of Robert, and nephew of Simon de Kardif, who witnessed a Charter C. 1170. [CL.] Mr Knight cites Richard as witnessing a deed by Richard de Lucy to William, Earl of Gloucester, as 'senescallus,' 23rd March, 1159, and he witnessed the foundation charter of Keynsham Priory by the same Earl, as 'Ricardus de Card. tunc dapifer (comitis)'; it further appears, from a general confirmation, 11 Edward II., that he gave land in Mapledurham to the canons of that house [New Mon., v., 452]. He also gave to Ewenny a rent-charge on certain lands in England [Arch. Camb., 1853, p. 168].

A fine of 24th January, 1197, taken after his death, shews him to have left two daughters, co-heirs, of whom Amabel, the elder, claimed the half of three parts of a knight's fee in Toppesfeld, and half a quarter fee in Grancenden, and half a knight's fee in Hameleden, and half a quarter fee in 'Nova-villa' (Newcastle) in Glamorgan, and half a fee in St. Hilary, and half of three hydes and of a virgate of land in Haiston. She was allowed all Nova-villa, Hameleden, and the service of Grancenden, and the hydes and virgate in Haiston, to her and her husband, Thomas de Sanford, and their heirs for ever.

Hadwise, the younger co-heir, married Thomas de Bavis. They had all Toppesfeld and all St. Hilary. Nova-villa and St. Hilary were in Glamorgan; the other places were in Essex and Surrey [Fines temp. R. 1].

In his capacity of dapifer to the Earl of Gloucester, the Charter conceding to the burgesses of Neath the privileges enjoyed by those of Cardiff was addressed to and witnessed by Sir Richard, as appears from its recital in the confirmation Charter of 20 Richard II.

Meyric, quoting the now lost register of Neath Abbey, says that Sir Richard de Cardiff had thirty librates of land in Newton Nottage from Earl William, and held them as the fourth part of a knight's fee (by the tenure of castle guard at Cardiff), and the Liber Niger mentions him as holding of the Earl half a fee in Wales and a whole fee in England.

It is not necessary here to pursue the pedigree of the de Cardiff family. They were of Queenhull and Walton-Cardiff, in Gloucestershire, and were represented in 1369 by Edward de Kerdif and Paulinus, his son, who died s.p.; and in the female line by the Bawdripps and Bassetts of Beauprè, from Joanna, heiress of Wm. de Kerdif of Walton, who died 5 Edward III. Walton was afterwards Walton-Bassett. St. Hilary no doubt came from the Kerdifs to Bassett of Beauprè, though through what channel is not ascertained.

The Monmouths, Norman followers of Duke William, derived their surname from their principal fief, where they built a Castle, under which the surrounding manors were held.

Gilbert, the 4th Lord, flourished in the reign of Richard I., and marrying Berta, was succeeded by John, his son, probably the grantor of the second charter of privileges. He held various posts under King John, and augmented his estates by those of his wife, Cecilia, daughter of William Walerand. He died 1248. His son and successor, also John, was governor of Striguil Castle, but is not known to have been connected either by kinship or property with Glamorgan. He died 1257, and with him the name became extinct, and the estates were scattered.

CONFIRMATION BY GILBERT DE CLARE, EARL OF GLOUCESTER OF THE POSSESSIONS OF ST. PETER'S ABBEY, GLOUCESTER.

[CARTUL^m STⁱ PETRI GLOUC., VOL. II. p. 19.] 1226—1229.

Universis sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis GILLEBERTUS de CLARA comes GLOUCESTRÆ et HERTFORDIÆ, salutem. Sciatis me pro salute animæ meæ et comitissæ YSABELLE uxoris meæ, et omnium antecessorum meorum, concessisse, et hac presenti carta mea confirmasse, Deo et ecclesiæ Sti. PETRI GLOUCESTRÆ, et MICHAELIS de EWENNY, et ecclesiam Stæ. BRIGIDÆ, cum terris et decimis et omnibus beneficiis quæ ad illas pertinent, similiter ecclesiam Sti. MICHAELIS de COLWINSTONE cum terris et decimis quæ ad illam pertinent, sicut in cartis MAURICI et WILLELMI de LONDONIA continetur, item totam terram quam WILLELMUS de CORENDONE dedit prioratui de EWENNY; item totam terram quam SYMON de TURBERVILLA et GILBERTUS et PAGANUS de TURBERVILLA dederunt predicto prioratui, sicut in cartis eorum continetur; et totam terram quam GAUFRIDUS de CAUSI dedit eidem prioratui; item undecim acras prati quas HEREBERTUS filius HUGONIS dedit eidem prioratui; et quatuor acras terre juxta rivulum ALUNE quas dedit PAGANUS GROSSUS; et montem de feodo suo qui est inter montem de EWENNY et domum suam, cum om. al. pert. sicut in cartis eorum continetur; item ecclesiam de Novo Burgo cum omnibus pertinentiis et libertatibus et redditibus et piscariis sicut, etc.; item manerium de TRAYGOR, quod est in comitatu de GLAMORGAN quod ab antiquo tenuerunt et sicut antiquitus in tempore antecessorum meorum melius tenuerunt, cum omnibus pertinentiis et libertatibus suis, etc. Item concessi dictis monachis GLOUCESTRÆ, ut tam ipsi quam monachi Sti. GUTHLACI HEREFORDIÆ sint liberi et quieti imperpetuum de theloneo et de omnibus quæ ad suos proprios usus emerint vel vendiderint apud BRISTOLLIAM et KAYRDIÆ, et NOVUM BURGUM, sicut in carta WILLELMI comitis GLOUCESTRÆ continetur, etc. In hujus etc., etc. Hiis testibus.

This is the earliest Charter granted by the first of the new dynasty. Gilbert de Clare Earl of Hereford by patent, and of Gloucester by maternal descent was married in 1217-18, and succeeded in 1226. He and his Countess Isabel here confirm to Gloucester all their possessions in the Honour of Gloucester, whether in England or in Wales; the Honour here evidently being supposed to include the Lordship. Most of the grants specified have been included in former confirmations.

GILBERT DE CLARE, EARL OF GLOUCESTER AND HERTFORD,

Nomina eorum per quos ista cognovimus sunt. Dominus HENRICUS LANDAVENSIS episcopus. magister N. GOBIUN canonicus ecclesie LANDAVENSIS PETRUS PINCERNA miles. WILLELMUS de SUMERY miles. WILLELMUS de REIGNY. WILLELMUS de CANTILUPE. ROGERUS de GLOUCESTRIA. RICHARD le NORREIS. magister RADULPHUS MAILLOC. MAURICIUS de CANTILUPO. ROBERTUS SANSON et quidam alii.

A fragment of the Earl's equestrian seal. On the reverse a small counterseal, a shield of arms, three chevrons for Clare.

Legend—'SIGIL DE CLARA.'

Gilbert de Clare was Earl 1226—1229. The Gloucesters were very important persons at, or very soon after, the conquest of Fitz Hamon. Milo de Gloucester, about 1102, acted as a witness in the concord between Bishop Urban and the Earl and was one of the Magnates rebuked by the Pope in 1128. Hugh de Gloucester was a donor to Tewkesbury, temp. Bishop Nicholas. Roger de Gloucester by Add. Charter, 24,266, Brit. Mus. s.d. confirmed to Owen, the Priest of St. Michael's or Michaelston, the gift of Galfrid, his father, of land on the Kennow and Brenyow, near Wrenchester and Michaelston. and in 1262, Walter de Gloucester held half a fee in Wrenchester, yielding 100 marks, and was a frequent witness to the purchases of land in those parts by the de Regny's. Another Walter de Gloucester was "Escætor Regis ultra Trentam," 29-35 Edward I. The following fragment of a pedigree has been preserved :—

Henry de Abergavenny, Bishop 1191—1218. The witnesses were all, save, perhaps, Sanson, persons of consideration connected with the Lordship, whose names appear in several other Charters. A Robert Samson occurs as a witness in No. CCXXXI. But Sanson may be Samson de Allweia, Lord of St. Donats.

Sir Ralph Maelog or Mayloc, Lord of Lllystalybont, a minor by Cardiff in Chwyr Hundred, was father of Maud, who married Einon ap Cadogan.

Sir William Maelog, temp. Henry III., Lord of Lllystalybont, Wysam and Maelog's fee, married his cousin, a daughter of Rhys ap Gruffydd, Ivor Bach, and had—1, a daughter, married Llewellyn ap Cynvrig; 2, a daughter, married Howell ap Cynvrig Madoc; 3, Ann or Envin, married Sir Gwrgi le Grand or Grant.

Ralph Maelog, 17 Edward II., married Gwirvil, daughter of Llewellyn, and had—1, William Maylog, Lord of Littlebone [Lllystalybont] temp. Edward III.; and 2. Roger Maylog.

——— Maeloc, married Joan, daughter and heiress of Thomas le Eyre, by Margaret, daughter of David Cantelupe. They had—1, Richard; 2, William; 3, Gilbert.

Richard Maeloc married Alison, daughter of ——— Berkevelles, and had Roger Maeloc, married Margaret, daughter of John Dwyer, and had—

Joan Maeloc, daughter and heiress, married William Chicheley.

There was a Philip, Lord of the Hill, VI. The following portion of his support is better known.—

Magister Radulphus Maylock, or Maelog, was in ecclesiastical and a member of a family who appear in the early records of the county, and were extant as late as the reign of Henry VI. As Magister Rafe Maelock, he testified a Charter of Robert Countess of Gloucester and Essex [N. Mon. iv. 634], and an Umfraville Charter of 1217 [75 D. 14]. His name also appears in the Annals of Tewkesbury as holding the Church of Llanblethian apparently in farm. He died 2nd June, 1231, and about the 15th September following, the Bishop of Llandaff, Thomas, Dean of Hereford, Peter, Abbot of Tewkesbury, Maurice, Archdeacon of Llandaff, the Rector of Thornbury, and others, met at Striguil to dispose of the Church of Llanblethian. The result was the sending of Eustace, a Tewkesbury monk, to take seizin of the Church. On his arrival the keys were removed to the hills, and he could only take seizin of the porch, and protest against those who opposed the rights of his convent, confirmed by the Bishop of Llandaff.

So little effect had this in his favour that the people stopped him on the highway and held him three days in the hills. Upon which Bishop Elias excommunicated all and sundry in full chapter, and presented his sentence to the Justiciar Hubert de Burgh. Further, the Abbot of Tewkesbury excommunicated J. Grant, with his accomplices, who did the deed.

How the matter was then settled does not appear. Probably by the continuance of the Mayloc interest, for 25th July, 1242, during a Welsh riot in the county, the Abbot of Tewkesbury went to Llanblethian to receive the 'mission' of that church, under the mandate of the Prior of Winchcombe, sub-delegate from the Pope, on account of the deprivation of Roger Mayloc, upon his non-payment for the farm of the Church. But the Archdeacon of Llandaff, sede vacante, had put in Thomas Pennarth, which could not be allowed. On this Thomas resigned the vicarage, and was again presented by the Abbot, with all the emoluments save tythe sheaves, and did homage. Mayloc then petitioned to hold the Church to farm, as he had held it, but the Abbot refused this, and in the court at Cardiff declared that if he or his suffered injury he should impute it to Mayloc.

Finally, however, on the petition of Rhys, Roger's uncle, and of others, Roger was allowed five marcs per annum. He was dissatisfied with this, and an extra marc added to it, at the instance of Richard de Clare, who gave him letters of defence to the Sheriff.

The contumacious Roger Mayloc entered the benefice, seized the wheat, ground it, and carried it off, adding divers threats against the Tewkesbury monks; and, in short, made himself so obnoxious that the Abbot had to buy him off with twelve marcs per annum until he should obtain a benefice. The proceedings must have been rapid, for the Abbot's first visit was made 25th July, and 8th Sept. Thomas, vicar of Llanblethian, had his deeds sealed, and did homage.

Little more is certainly known of the Mailloc family beyond Ralph, who tested at Beaulieu Ch. about 1299 [75 B. 17], and appears to have been in ecclesiastical and Rhys in one generation, and Roger in another. William Maylocke, brother of the same family, appears in the Rolls of 1264 holding land in fee 'in capella valet xx. solidos,' and is, therefore, probably the ancestor of William Maylocke, who at the survey of 1320 held half a fee as Lord of Llanstaybont in Cardff. There is a mountain called Garth-Mailloc near Llantrissant, perhaps connected with this family.

Urban was a common name at Llandaff—one Urban Archdeacon became Bishop in 1108; a second was Archdeacon from 1139 till about 1171, and here is a third, also Archdeacon and like the second, omitted by Le Neve, but who must have been in office between 1187 and 1202.

Archdeacon Urban seems to have been married, as was sometimes the case at this period with the clergy, how the son comes to be Brifinus is not known. There was a family named Llancarvan of which the Archdeacon may have been a member. Aqua de Carvan and Nantcarvan are the river Carvan. The road thence to Llantwit passes to Payn's Cross, and lies between the Valleys of the Carvan and the Tawe. The Fords of Kilwent and Seiueslad have not been identified; Bodic' and the names following are unknown. Aumentum is a form of Augmentum, 'in addition.'

Endorsed—'Carta Henrici de Umframvill' Junioris de tota terra de Bradington.''

There are several Charters granting or confirming grants to Margam of land in and about Llanveithin or Llanmeuthin; mention is made in them of Gilbert and Nest his wife, Henry his son and Sibilla his wife; also we have Gerebert son of Robert, an Umfraville tenant, and his brothers Adam and Jordan, and Hugh, probably a deceased elder brother, and no doubt the Hugh de Llancarvan, whose donation of thirty acres is mentioned in King John's Charter of 1205. As Henry, Bishop of Llandaff, who confirms the donations, was promoted from the priory of Abergavenny, and consecrated before 1196, this gives about 1196—1205 as the date of these Charters.

The Humfranvilles were lords of Penmark, where the ruins of their castle still remain.

Gilbert de Humfranville gave land at Aisse, now Nash, co. Somerset, worth 31s. per annum, to Tewkesbury Abbey for the soul of his wife, and 1104 he was a witness to an apportionment of the Abbey revenues. [N. Mon. II., 66, 81.]

He was, it is believed, succeeded by Robert, who, about 1131, witnessed a Charter to Neath Abbey, by Richard de Granville, and who was probably the Robert who witnessed a Charter by William Earl of Gloucester, to that Church. [N. Mon. V., 269. Floyd.]

His successor seems to have been Gilbert, who in 1166 held nine Knight's fees of William, Earl of Gloucester [L. Niger, 161], and who must have died before 1189-90, as in that year Henry paid £4 for the relief of his land [Pipe Roll, 1 Rich I]. This is the Gilbert mentioned in the Harleian Charter [CCXII.], which names also Nest, but whether as his wife, or as is more probable, the wife of Urban de Penducaet, is uncertain.

Henry de Humfranville, his son and successor, was the grantor of the cited Charter. Between 1183 and 1193 he witnessed a Charter by Pagan de Turberville to Margam, and in 1186-7 he was rated at £45 for the relief of nine Knights' fees held of the Earl of Gloucester, on which there were due £32, and in the treasury £13 [Pipe Roll, 33 Henry II.]

3 John, 1201, he fined ten marcs on five Knights' fees for licence 'non transfretare.' [Obl. et Fin. 134. Pipe Roll 2 John.]

Besides the donation recorded in the Charter 75, D. 15, he, as chief lord, advised and consented to a gift and confirmation to Margam by Gerebert, son of Robert [CCXIII.], originally granted by Hugh de Llancarvan, elder brother of Gerebert [Coll. Top. v. 19], and confirmed by Henry, Bishop of Llandaff, in another Charter [CCXIV.]. It appears from these that Henry's wife was Sibilla. He probably died about 1203, for in the accounts of the Honour of Gloucester in 1203-4, William de Braose had a quittance from a fourth scutage of the five fees held by Henry de Humfranville; and in 1205 his gift of 160 acres to Margam was confirmed by King John; and also in 1208-9, Gulfrid Whiting accounted for 100 marcs, and a palfry, for having custody of the land and heir of Henry de Humfranville [Pipe Roll 5 and 10 John].

This heir was another Henry, the Henry junior of [CCCCLIII.], who witnessed a grant by Leisan ap Morgan after 1213, and one by Raymond de Sully. He was in rebellion against John, but on the accession of Henry III., and his return to his allegiance, 1 Henry III., 1217, a writ was issued to the Sheriff of Devon to give him seizin of his land [Close Roll i., 313; Fine Roll i., 258]. Charter CCCLVII. mentions his connection with the Bradington of the Charter to which this note is appended.

Next in succession was probably another Sir Gilbert [CCCCLII.], who in 1233 did homage to Henry III. for the land he had as one of the heirs of his cousin Matthew de Torrington [Fine Roll, i., 238]. He was one of the pledges for the Earl of Gloucester against R. Siward in 1245 [DXX.], and in 1249 witnessed the cyrograph of the sons of Morgan ap Cadwathlan. In 1253 he sued Walter de Pembroke, Archdeacon of Barnstaple, for impleading him in the ecclesiastical court [Prynne, Records, iii., 109, and Plea Roll of Justices Itinerary, M. 14, Devon].

A Gilbert, possibly the same, in 1257. was witness to the Charter of William de Clare, granting Lequid [Leckwith] to the Sanfords, and from the 'Extent' of the de Clare lands in the record office [O. 1262] it appears that he held four Knights' fees in Penmark of the value of £60 [I.P.M., 41-2, Henry III., No. 20]. Mr. Floyd concludes his death to have occurred about this time, and his successor to have been Henry.

Sir Henry de Humfraville, with others, in 1262, paid a marc for a writ of attachment that the Sheriff of Devon was directed to issue. He died 52-6 Henry III., 1271-2, seized of one-fifth of the manor of Torriton and one-fifth of Kilmington, and of the manors of Layford and Dun, or Down-Umfraville and of Langrue, all in Devon, and John, his brother, then aged 30, was his next heir. [Escaet. 56 Henry III., No. 2 Fine Rolls, II., 559].

In 1272, 15 Feb., John did homage for his brother's land. [Hundred rolls, 70 and 82], one-fifth of Torriton and Kilminton, etc., in Devon [Exc. Rot. Fin. II., 559]. In 1272 he held half a fee in Devon of Gilbert de Clare, occupied by undertenants. [Plac. de Q. W., 170-3.] In 1280 he was summoned with Walter de Sully to answer respecting his rights, in Torrington [Ibid. 169], and as to certain rights in Lyw and Kilmington which he disclaimed.

In 1229 he witnessed an agreement between Gilbert de Clare and the Abbot of Neath [Francis's Neath, 34]. In 1291 Ralph de Arundel sought to recover from John and his wife Alicia, seizin of a messuage, etc., at Bishop's Morchard, 15th October, 1294 [Abb. Orig. Rot., I. 69]. 15th Oct., 1224, being then a Knight, he was summoned to serve against the Welsh [Writs M. Sum. I. 265], and at the death of Gilbert de Clare he held, as heir of Gilbert de Humfraville, one quarter fee in Northover and five fees in Lakeford, co. Devon. [Escaet. 24 Edward I., No. 107.]

In 1289 John was member for Devon [Parl. Writs 67], and 12th March, 1301 had summons to serve against the Scots [Writs M. Sums. 351]. In 1302 he witnessed a Bonville Charter [DCCCXLI.] to Margam, and at the death of Johanna in 1307 he held (four fees) one messuage and four carucates of land, paying therefor per annum 26s. 8d. By Abb. Rot. Orig., I., 200, it appears that he granted a part of his manor of Torrington to a Gilbert de Humfraville, who 6 Edward II., 1313, was fined forty marcs for having acquired it without the king's leave. John also witnessed a Charter by William de Braose, of doubtful date. [N. Mon. VI., 491.] His name also occurs in CLXXIX.

Mr. Floyd is uncertain as to the period of John's death, but at the death of the last Earl Gilbert de Clare, in 1314, John had been succeeded by Henry de Humfraville, who held four fees in Pennard [Penmark], worth £60 per annum. [Escaet. 8 Edward II., 68, and 1 Edward III., No. 9, 2 Nov.]

Henry, the successor, before 1314, at the partition of the de Clare estates, held four fees in Penmark, and is so set down in the Spenser survey of 1329. In 1335 he witnessed a Charter by the Rector of Coytiff [DCCCCLX.] In 1327 he was on the inquisition held at the petition of Gilbert Turberville, and was then a Knight. In 1333 he is stated by Mr. Traherne to have been on the court which decided on a claim of wreck made by the Abbot of Margam, and in 1338 and 1340 he witnessed a Despencer Charter to Cardiff, and in 1341 one to Neath Abbey. Sir Robert Dumfraville, probably a cousin, was parson of Penmark, in 1310 [DCCCCLXXXIII.] [Francis, Neath, 38, [DCCCCLXX. DCCCCLXXXII.] In 1349, on the death of Hugh le Despenser, he held the four fees in Penmark, value £70. His wife's name was Isabella [N. Mon. II., 403] and Alice was his heiress. A Henry de Umframvill witnessed a charter by the Abbot of Neath in 1341. [DCCCCLXXXIX.]

Alice de Humfraville married, 12 Edward II., Sir Simon, son and heir of Matthew de Furneaux of Stringston. He died 24 Edward III., leaving issue by her one child, Elizabeth.

Elizabeth de Furneaux, heiress of Furneaux and Humfraville, married says Collinson [III. 213], during her father's lifetime, Sir John Blount, who died before 1362.

Lady Blount survived her husband, and 8 Rich. II. founded a chantry in Athelney Abbey, for the good estate of William Aungier (?) and Henry Rodham, and also of herself Elizabeth, of Lady Alice Stafford, Lady Maud Stafford, Robert Wrench, and all other friends and benefactors of the said Elizabeth; also for the souls of Sir John Blount, Sir Simon de Furneaux and Alice his wife, Sir Henry de Humfraville and Isabel his wife, Sir Wm Blount and Maud his wife, the Lady Julian Talbot, Lady Elizabeth Cornwall, Sir Brian Cornwall her son, Sir Richard Stafford and Sir Richard Stafford the younger his son, Robert Flito and Robert Stockton, and for the souls of all her departed friends. [Coll. L., 262.]

Among the St. John evidence [Lansdowne MSS. 860a. fol. 348] is a Charter by which 'Elizabeth le Blount, wife of the Lord John le Blount, Kt., in her widowhood, grants to John Purvill, perpetual vicar of Lankarvan, and to John Tokiker, son of William Tokiker, all the pasture between my wood in the Castle of Penmark, and the brook there, etc. Dated 13 May, 36 Edward III.'

Sir John and Lady Elizabeth had one daughter, Alice le Blount, heiress of the Humfraville and Furneaux estates. She married first Sir Richard Stafford, who was dead 8 Rich. II., and afterwards Sir Richard Storey, who survived. She died childless, 1414-5. [I.P.M., 2 Henry IV., No. 27.]

Upon Lady Storey's death, the Furneaux estates seems to have gone to the descendants of the sisters of her grandfather, Sir Simon, but the descent of those of Humfraville, and the manner in which they eventually reached St. John is not so clear. On the death of Ed. le Despenser in 1375 (1345-6) [Escaet. 19 Edward III.] three of the Penmark fees were held conjointly by Elizabeth Blount, John de Arundel, and John de Hath, and Thomas Mitchell, and John Andrews, so that St. John did not succeed at once to a share of the Humfraville property, even if, as is generally stated, he married one co-heir of Humfraville, while Blount married the other.

44 Edward III., 1370-1, was a deed of partition between Oliver St. John, chevalier, and Elizabeth Blount, lady of Calne (?), running thus:—

'Know all men present and to come that we, Nichol Denis, parson of the Church of Coytif, Thomas Michel, parson of the Church of Pourkerrye [Porthkerry], William Bachelor, parson of the Church of Pconstew (?) give, grant, and by this our present Charter, confirm to Oliver St. John, John Arundel, Robert Willis, and John de Hach, a moiety of the manor of Penmark, and of the advowson of the Church pertaining to that manor, with all their appurtenances, which lately were given to Oliver St. John and Elizabeth his wife, daughter of John de la Bere. Witness Laurence de Berkerolles, Edward de Estradlyne, Thomas Turberville,' etc.

Charter CCXIII. bears the seal of Gerbert, son of Robert, the device of which is a cinquefoil. This evidently was derived from the coat of his chief, Lord Henry de Humfraville. All of the name, including the Northern Earls of Angus, bore the cinquefoil as a part of their arms.

The pedigree of Humfraville or Umfreville, given in Pole's Devon, commences with Henry, who bore 'crusily a rose or' [no doubt a five-foiled rose], and was of Lapford, a member of the Honour of Torrinton, probably by his marriage with one of the five co-heirs of Mathew de Thoreton. His son John was father of Sir Henry s.p. and John, father of Sir Henry, who left two daughters, co-heirs, Alice who married Sir Simon Furneaux and had Lapford, and Elizabeth, who married Oliver St. John of Penmark. To their heirs, according to this version, Lapford reverted on the death of Alice Storey s.p., and while St. John of Ponmon, ancestor of Lord St. John, had Penmark, Lapford was settled upon Edward St. John, a cadet, whose daughter and heir married Nicholas Arundel of Trerice, in whose descendants Lapford remained.

There was another branch of Umfreville of Comb Pyne and Down Umfreville, in Devon, probably cousins, who bore 'gules, three roses and a chief or.'

The earliest William in the St. John pedigree was son of Roger, and grandson of Sir John St. John of Fonmon, Fitzhamon's retainer, who appears in the Liber Ruber of the Exchequer. His mother Cicely was daughter and heiress of Robert de Haia, co. Sussex, who probably had property in Monmouthshire, where the family were benefactors to the Church of Bissaleg. According to Dugdale, Sir John had no children, and the Fonmon estate went to the descendants of his sister's child, who married Adam de Port of Basing, their descendants taking the name of St. John. William, the first Port who took the St. John name, was great-nephew of William, and great-great-grandson of Sir John St. John of Fonmon, reputed to have married Elizabeth Umfreville, by which match Penmark was eventually brought into the St. John Family.

Wian, father of Roger and Kenewrec, was evidently a Welsh tenant of Morgan ap Caradoc, who was a descendent from Jestyn.

The Wiaun family were considerable benefactors to Margam; being tenants under the Lords of Avene their donations required the confirmation of the Over-Lord. A similar donation was made to Neath and confirmed in 1208 by King John as Chief Lord [CCCXVIII].

Datum anno gratie M^o CC^o vicesimo octavo tempore capituli generalis.

Attached is a portion of a circular seal, of brown wax, bearing the semi-figure of an abbot.

Legend—‘SIGILLVM . ABBATIS IS.’

See Irish State Papers. Vol. I. A.D. 1171—1251.

The State Papers refer to this visitation, one result of which was the reduction of Monasterneagh Abbey to the rank of a cell, on the ground of poverty, as seems to be contemplated here for Holy Cross. That South Wales was the channel through which the Normans passed to the conquest of Ireland is a matter of history, and is supported by the large number of both leaders and followers, who bear names connected with Glamorgan, Carmarthen, and Pembroke.

Leland says Margam had privilege of sanctuary, which the Welsh seldom or ever used. He also mentions its four daughter houses in Ireland—Kyrieleyson, Sancta Crux, Maio (probably Maig or Nenay, co. Limerick), and Chorus Benedictus. It will here be seen that the children were very far from partaking of the prosperity of their parent.

CCCCLXV.

STEPHIEN, ABBOT OF STANLEY, AFFILIATES THE CISTER-CIAN ABBEY OF ST. CROSS, A DAUGHTER OF MAYO,
IN IRELAND, TO MARGAM ABBEY.

[MARGAM CHARTER.]

Universis CHRISTI fidelibus presens scriptum visuris vel audituris frater STEPHANUS¹ dictus abbas de STANLEIA salutem eternam in domino.

Si nova quedam atque insolita in ordine nostro emergentia circa statum domorum ordinis innovationes aliquas inducant vel immutationes . non est absurdum aut dissonum equitati . presertim cum suadeat pietas . pulset necessitas .
blandiatur utilitas evidens . et salus animarum . Quoniam igitur virorum religio-sorum et Deum timentium crebra relatione exordinationis multiplicis abbatiarum HIBERNIE miserabilis clamor non solum ad audientiam ascendit capituli generalis .
verum etiam in scandalum totius religionis tam cleri quam populi circumquaque aures replevit . desiderans dictum capitulum tanto discrimini et infamie ordinis remedium adhibere . talique animarum periculo . et ab omnibus tam dolendo affectione materna si quo modo posset occurrere . ad omnes abbatias HIBERNIE ob ordinis inibi reformationem nos destinare decrevit in plenitudine potestatis . Ita quod inter cetera nobis auctoritate capituli memorati commissa libere possimus sine alicujus obstaculo contradictionis, et irrequi[si]tis patribus abbatibus abbatias plures in unam conjungere . Et aliis abbaciis ejusdem derivationis . pro reformatione ordinis perpetuo in filias dare . Item contradictores interdicto supponere . suspendere . et excommunicare . insuper omnia ordinare et agere .
sicut crediderimus expedire.

Nos itaque obedientie premium præ oculis statuentes et pro injuncti officii debito non sine magnis et crebris mortis periculis dictas domos HIBERNIE una cum aliis viris auctenticis atque discretis tam abbatibus quam monachis personaliter adeuntes . pensatis undique circumstanciis tam domorum quam personarum ibidem commanentium et moribus regionis . exitum alium nullatenus reperire valuimus . quo vel horrendis conspirationibus . vel inveteratis exordinationibus finis imponatur et respiret religio . nisi abbacie quedam domorum minus ordinatarum subjectioni subtrahere aliquibus aliarum regionum abbaciis . que ruinas ordinis tam in spiritualibus quam temporalibus et velint et valeant maturius reparare tanquam matribus jure perpetuo supponantur . Ita quod unaqueque mater ad minus duas habeat filias in terra memorata. Ut si quando aliqua illarum collum desub jugo regule et ordinis contumacibus et malitiosis conspirationibus attemptet excutere aut scisma procreare . in reliqua filia saltem refugium reperire possit mater tutumque receptaculum . dum alterius insolentie insistit reprimende. Sicque commodius et expeditius pro causarum varietate aut temporis . alterius per alteram oppressionem sublevet . aut domet elationem . juxta quod ait ecclesiastes. ‘Melius’ est duos simul esse quam unum habent enim emolumentum societatis . si unus ceciderit . ab altero fultietur . ve soli quia cum ceciderit . non habet sublevamen. Item si dormierint duo . fovebuntur mutuo. Unus autem quomodo calefiat ?’ Et cetera in hunc modum.

Harum igitur et hujuscemodi innumerarum instinctu rationum . pensatis quidem hinc dispendiis atque periculis . illinc utilitatibus ordinis et honestatibus pluribus . que si scribentur debitam et consuetam in cartis brevitatem immoderata sui prolixitate excederent . et audientibus tedium generarent . habita insuper cum viris auctenticis summeque peritis deliberatione diffusa et tractatu diligenti . de ipsorum omnium unanimi consilio abbatiam de Sancta CRUCE³ . que olim fuit filia de MAGIO¹ . domui de MARGAN tanquam matri decetero subicimus. Et auctoritate capituli generalis que nobis commissa est . in plenitudine potestatis domus in filiam perpetuo possidendam . ut sic tam ad domum de MAGIO quam ad illam de Sancta CRUCE citius reformandam . et in statu debito perpetuo conservandam . facilius accessus pateat . et ingressus liberior . omnisque via que hucusque abbaciis HIBERNIE contra ordinem rebellandi et scismata detestabilia procreandi in superbia sua et in abusione occasionaliter audaciam dedit et vires ministravit . in posterum precludatur. Verum quia operas graves et labores sumptuosos . maxime autem periculosos ibi quisque invitus et tardus impendit . ubi timetur ne introeat et proventus gratis percipiat alienus . auctoritate supra memorata omnibus tam abbatibus quam monachis et conversis undecumque fuerint perpetuam imponimus silentiam . ne sibi contra dictam ordinationem aliquatenus liceat reclamare . vel ipsam quomodolibet audeant perturbare. Decernentes irritam et inane . quicquid in contrarium aliquo tempore impetratum . vel quomodocumque fuerit attemptatum . '+ . SIGILL' . OSBERTI . BOSE.'

Of Osbern Bosse nothing is known, and Hoheleswrib has not been identified. Possibly they were among the swarm of small landowners, native and foreign, who were settled near Margam, and were donors to its Abbey. CROC is a better known name.

It appears from the taxation of Pope Nicholas that Margam held lands, a windmill, and certain rents, the whole valued at £12 0s. 10½d., in and about Tokynton; and to this it is probable that the Charter relates. Of the grantor nothing has been discovered, Fosbroke (H. of Glouc., II., 105) mentions a family of Croke who held under Bath Abbey in Tokynton or Tokint', and appear in an inquisition, 16 Edward II. Roger Croke held the property, 5 Edward III.; and John Croke, outlawed for felony, 21 Edward III., held the superior manor of Olveston under the Prior of Bath. Peter was, no doubt, a member of this family. He was of Olveston in 1252. A Gilbert CROC witnessed William Earl of Gloucester's Charter to Neath: and about 1166 Ruald CROC held a Knight's fee under the same Earl William, as recorded in the Niger Liber of the Exchequer. Mr. Floyd meets with a Walter CROC in the Pipe Roll for Stafford, 31 Henry I.; and in the Close Roll of King John for Devon. The latter entries probably relate to a stranger; but the two former shew that a family of the name were tenants under Earl William, probably in the fee of Llanmaes. The fleur-de-lis of the seal, like the star, was a common emblem, and throws no light on the user of it.

Peter de Stoks tests the confirmation Charter of 8 John. A family of this name held land in the same part of Gloucestershire early in the reign of Henry III.

John Aylard may be same with John Alward, who, however, is not mentioned as a Monk. See CCCCLXVIII.

SUIT CONCERNING THE WARSHIP OF THE LAND AND HEIR OF MEREDUC SEYS.

[ROTUL. FIN. I., 235.]

NESTA quo fuit uxor MEREDUC SEYS qui tenuit terram suam de GILEBERTO quondam comite GLOUCESTRIE ejus terre et hæredis custodia est in manu Regis finem fecit cum Rege pro x. marcis pro habenda custodia terre et heredis ipsius MEREDUC usque ad legitimam ætatem ejusdem hæredis cum maritaggio ejusdem hæredis. Et mandatum est P. de RIVALI quod accepta ab ea securitate de predictis decem marcis Regi reddendis ei de tota terra cum pertinenciis quam predictus MEREDUC tenuit de predicto comite et unde idem MEREDUCUS fuit saisitus die quo obiit sine dilatione plenam saisinam habere faciat. Teste Rege apud STRIGOIL XIX. die Decembris.

The name of Seys, a corruption of Seyon, 'an Englishman,' is not common in Glamorgan, though Eimon Seis, of Senghenydd is well known, but he used it as a personal distinction, not as an hereditary surname. Richard Seys, son of Evan, or possibly Roger Seys, of Boverton, by Mary Bridges, of the County of Gloucester, was Attorney General for Wales in the time of Elizabeth. The heiress of Seys married

Jones, of Fennon, and a daughter of a Richard Seys, of Boverton, married about 1203 Peter King, afterwards Lord King and Lord Chancellor. The name is still extant in Monmouthshire. Meredith Seys held land under Earl Gilbert, and his widow as Custos, paid 10 marks to Peter de Rivali, as Sheriff. The Lordship was then in the King's hand on account of the death of Earl Gilbert, and the minority of his son and successor Earl Richard. The King sold the wardship of her son to Nest, Meredith's widow. It is probable that Seys, of Boverton, descended from Einon Sais, through Howel Sais or Seys.

‘ + SIGILL’ . ROGERI . STURMI.’

Endorsed—‘ Carta Rogeri Sturmi junioris.’

(1) A later Roger than those in 75 D. 1-4.

Geoffrey Sturmi granted to Margam, confirmed by Roger his son, at half a mark rent in perpetual farm, the land which he held under the Chief Lord, who, in the person of Earl William, in 1170 confirmed the grant, reserving the service.

Geoffrey also, with the consent of his wife M., his sons R. and G., and his daughter Agnes, granted to Margam his land between Herbert's land and the bank of the Kinithvin on certain terms, all which grants are enumerated and confirmed in King John's Charter to Margam in 1207. [CL., CCL., CCLI., CCCXIV.]

Geoffrey Sturmi also built a church at Sturmi, which gave rise to a dispute about tythe between Roger his son and the parson of Newcastle.

Geoffrey had a son Geoffrey, whose daughter Agnes married Gilbert Burdin, and had Geoffrey and William. Geoffrey endowed her with certain lands, on her marriage, which afterwards they exchanged with Geoffrey for other lands, which other lands they granted to Margam for the benefit of the soul of Geoffrey, with certain reservations.

The elder Geoffrey's son Roger seems to have had a son Roger, called Roger junior, and a daughter who married Griffith Began, and had seven sons, who had a ‘loquela’ with their uncle Roger as to their mother's portion, which however was settled in 1234, in which year the uncle made a final donation to Margam, as above appears, as also did the nephews and their parents.

Sturmi and Esturmi were forms of a name widely spread over England in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, and especially known in Wilts, Hants, and the Honour of Gloucester.

John Sturmy was Lord High Admiral in 1324-5.

For Burden see note to CLVIII.

Sturmieston or Terra Sturmi was between Margam and Pyle, and is now represented by Stormy Down in Pyle. It evidently derives its name from its early owners who came from Wilts, where Sturmy or Esturmy was a well-known name, where Richard Esturmi held land in 1160-1, and William Esturmi held by Serjeantry the keepership of a forest in 1212-17; also in Hants, and in the Honour of Gloucester where Henry Esturmi held two hydes in 1210-12; as well as in other parts of England. John Sturmi was Lord High Admiral in 1324-5. Stormy Grange was included in the Crown sale of Margam to Sir Rice Mansel in 1540 [MCCCLXV.] and in the additional sale of Horgrove and Pyle in 1543 [MCCCLXXV.].

Galfrid, or Gaufrid, Sturmi is the first on record in Glamorgan. He leased to Margam at a perpetual rent of half a mark, the land which he held in Margam under Earl William, who confirmed the transaction in 1170, reserving the service; Roger, son and heir of Galfrid, consenting [CL.]. Galfrid Esturmi, with the consent of M. his wife, Roger and Galfrid his sons, and Agnes his daughter, granted to Margam his land on the bank of the Kinithwin, circa 1170. [CCL.] all which grants were confirmed by Pope Innocent in 1203, and by King John in 1207 [CXLVIII.—CLI.] about which time Galfrid built the Church in Villa Sturmi, which, however, has long since disappeared [CLXXXIX.] and which led to the dispute about tythe between Roger Sturmi and the Parson of Newcastle. In 1179, Henry II. confirmed the family grants to Margam, and one by which Galfred and Roger gave the residue of the land held of Earl William within the fee of Margam. Roger, the son and heir of Galfrid, joining with his father in the grant [CCLL.—CCCXIV.]. He settled half the rents of Sturmieston upon his sister, Agnes, when she married Griffith Began. He also witnessed Charters in 1185-91 and circa 1200. Countess Isabel confirms a gift as "liberorum hominum meorum, scilicet terram Sturmy," if this was a Sturmi grant, it is an unusual way of describing the donor [CCCXXV.]. For this the Monks were to pay 12 marks of silver and a cappa and four nummi to each son, and when the donor became infirm he was to be admitted into their community [CCL.].

Began is now a village near Cefn Mably and part of the estate. The manor was held of the Lord of Wentloog by the tenure of quarter of a Knight's fee. It seems to have formally been Begansley or Beganton, Baganeston, or Bagaston, and there was a church, so it was probably a parish. A weir upon the Rhymney is still known as Began's weir. The Begans were probably native landowners, but no record exists of their being connected with that place, which, according to the Welsh pedigrees, belonged originally to the Gamages. Andrew Pagan, second son of Pagan de Gamage was of Began, which became the portion of Elizabeth his daughter, who married William Kemeys. Another version describes Jorworth or Edward Kemeys as marrying Nest or Elizabeth, daughter of Andrew Beauchamp, and heiress of her brother Andrew, who died 1320, leaving Beganley, said to be a corruption of Beauchampsley. However this may be, Began has certainly for centuries been part of the Kemeys estate, and is said to have been their seat before their removal to Cefn Mably.

There is no regular pedigree of the Begans, what little is known of them is derived from the Charter [CCCCXCI.—1234], where the children of Griffin Began announced that an amicable settlement was arrived at between them and their maternal uncle Roger Sturmi, concerning the moiety of the rents of Sturmieston, they, by the advice of their father, and with consent of Res ap Griffith, their overlord, withdrew their claim to the moiety of the half mark which the monks of Margam were wont to pay annually to Roger for the land of Sturmieston, 40 pence which Roger gave to their father on his marriage with his sister, their mother. The mother's name was Leuki Sturmi. For in DCXC., Cradoc, son of Griffin, confirms to Walter de Regny six acres in his tenement of Lan Leuder, with the advowson of the church, the land was between that of Rees Began and of Leuki, widow of Griffin Began. It seems to have been in East Glamorgan, near Caerau. Also in CCCCLXXVIII., Galfrid Began makes a similar confirmation, and soon afterwards mention is made of the church at Beganston. In 1320-1, Walter Began witnesses a Kenfig Charter; in 1487 Robert Began occurs as a burgess of Cowbridge. MCCLL.; and in 1515 David Began appears to be connected with Pendoylon.

It is moreover stated in the Welsh pedigree that Henry Kemeys, Evan ab Jenkyn Kemeys, Reginald Kemeys, Roger and Morgan Kemeys, James and David Kemeys, were all of Began.

Llangenydd was the seat of an Alien Priory, founded probably in the reign of Stephen, by Roger de Bellomont, the Norman Conqueror of Gower, and by him attached to the Monastery of St. Taurinus, at Evreux, in Normandy, and dedicated to St. Kenydd, a Welsh Saint.

These Priors were of two kinds: one managing their own affairs and electing their own head; the other a mere cell, the Prior of which was nominated by the Superior House. Llangenydd probably was of the latter description, since one of the conditions on which it was restored to St. Taurinus by Henry IV. was, that suitable Priors should be chosen.

It was the practice of the English Kings from the reign of Edward I. about 1285, in the event of a war with France, to appropriate the sums usually sent abroad. This was done by the three Edwards and Richard II., possibly on occasion seizing upon the whole revenue, but still restoring it at the conclusion of the war. Henry IV. at first shewed great favour to these Priories, but towards the close of his reign he regarded them with suspicion, and, 7th October. 8 Henry IV., he seized upon Llangenydd; and to indemnify the Priory of Ewenny for its losses from the rebels and others, he granted to the Prior a lease of the Alien House for 10 years at £20 per annum—a lease which, however, seems to have been revoked by Henry V., who restored the Priory to St. Taurinus on condition that they appointed fit persons for its head, and accordingly Richard Day and Richard ap Morgan, the latter, at least, a native, were so appointed.

Finally, all the Alien Priories were dissolved by Henry VI. (2 Henry VI.) and their possessions vested in the Crown, and for the most part applied to religious and educational uses. Llangenydd was granted in 1441 to All Souls' College, Oxon., in which body the patronage of the Church has since remained.

This Charter is interesting as containing evidence of a connection between the family of Labeles, whose head quarters were in Laleston, and those of Penrice and De la Mare in Gower. Henry Mansel, the witness, is an early member of the family of Mansell, which afterwards held Penrice, and much other land in Gower.

The family of Lageles, Laheles, or Lagthles, of whom we have Walter. Thomas, John, William, a second Walter, and Richard, possessed and probably gave name to the manor and parish of Laheleston or Laleston, near Bridgend. Walter occurs in the Pipe Roll of 1184-5 in connection with service at the castle of Neath, and witnesses a grant to Margam by G. Esturmi. In a confirmation to Margam by King John, 1205, Thomas de Lagthles appears as a donor of 100 acres [CLXXI., CCL., CCLXXXVII.]. They held land also at Llangenydd in Gower.

The connexion of the family with Glamorgan, and possibly the family itself, ended with the grant of the paternal manor to Margam, in the middle of the 13th century.

AGREEMENT (BY ARBITRATION OF THE ABBOTS OF RIEVALLIS, VAUDEY, AND KINGSWOOD,) BETWEEN THE ABBEYS OF NEATH AND MARGAM, SETTLING DIS-SENSIONS AND ARRANGING CLAIMS IN NEWTOWN, NEWTOWN DOWN, AND CORNELI DOWN, ETC.

[MARGAM CHARTER.] ST. AGATHA'S DAY. 5 FEB. 1237-1238.

Omnibus CHRISTI fidelibus presens scriptum visuris vel audituris ROGERUS RYEVALLIS . NICHOLAUS de VALLE Dei . JOHANNES de KINGESWDE dicti abbates salutem in Domino.

Ad universitatis vestre noticiam volumus devenire quod omnes controversie et querele inter domum de NETH et domum de MARGAN mote ante festum beate AGATHE virginis anno gratie M^o. CC^o. tricesimo septimo . in presencia nostra et multorum aliorum tali fine conquieverunt . per utriusque abbatis et conventus consensum.

Imprimis quia constans est quod abbas de MARGAN tam per se quam per suos .
quam eciam per seculares nisus est supplantare abbatem et conventum de NETH de villa que dicitur NOVA VILLA et quantum in se fuit contra formam apos-tolicam . et quantum in se fuit circumvenit et supergressus est in negotio fratres suos . provisum est ut tam ipse quam omnes successores sui abstineant et arceantur in perpetuum ab acquisitione dicte ville . nisi per consensum abbatis et conventus de NETH. Caveat etiam sufficienter per cartam conventus de MARGAN quod nunquam in perpetuum abbas et conventus de NETH aliquod per ipsos incurrant impedimentum quin dictam villam ad opus suum adquirant. Provideat nichilo-minus abbas de NETH ne in emptione vel acquisitione dicte ville diffinitiones capituli generalis transgrediatur.

Item . de pasturis de NEUTUNEDUNE et CORNELIDUNE statuitur ut quoniam utraque pars sufficienter et evidenter probavit tam jus in proprietate quam usum in possessione utraque domus habeant dictas pasturas . eas videlicet aut in comune possidentes . aut si de BOXLE . BILDEWAS . et KINGESWDE abbates magis viderint expedire dictas pasturas ita dividant . ut medietas propinquior grangie de NETH domui de NETH remaneat . reliqua medietas propinquior grangie de MARGAN remaneat domui de MARGAN.

Item . Quoniam ut videtur monachi de NETH licet primo injuste provocati quasi malum pro malo reddere nituntur monachis de MARGAN vendicantes sibi jus in terris et pasturis quas domus de MARGAN a sua fundatione in proprietate possedit occasione cujusdam carte ROBERTI comitis GLOUCESTRIE . tam propter diutinum et inconcussum usum domus de MARGAN quam etiam per expressam compositionem inter duas domos per venerabiles patres quondam de BOXLE . de WARDUN' . de FONTIBUS abbates factam . omnes tales querimonias adnichilantes . dictorum monachorum de NETH actio debet prorsus elidi . Cum neutra domus in alterius propriis terris aut pasturis aliquid sibi possit vendicare.

Et sciendum quod forma hujus concordie provisa fuit per venerabilem fratrem dominum JOHANNEM primo quidem abbatem de BOXLE, et postea abbatem CISTERCI datum judicem a capitulo generali in causa ista . ante recessum suum de ANGLIA versus CISTERCIUM, in monasterio de BOXLE . presentibus tunc temporis in eodem monasterio de BOXLE . de STRATFORD . de VALLE Dei . de PONTE ROBERTI abbatibus. Et quod compositiones prius inite inter dictas domos de NETH et de MARGAN et sigillis autenticis roborate per omnia observabuntur. Et in hujus rei testimonium nos de RYEVALLE . de VALLE Dei . de KINGESWDE abbates una cum sigillis dictorum abbatum de NETH et de MARGAN huic scripto sigilla nostra apposuimus.

RESPONSE OF GILBERT MARSHAL, 6TH EARL OF PEMBROKE, AS TO HIS CLAIM, AS CUSTOS OF THE LANDS OF
RICHARD DE CLARE, TO THE TEMPORALITIES OF THE
SEE OF LLANDAFF, ‘SEDE VACANTE.’

[PLACIT. ABBREV. REC. COMMISSION, 1811, p. 109. ROTULO 17, IN DORSO.]

MICH. TERM. 25 HEN. III. 1241.

Idem comes [G. MARESCALLUS comes l'ENBROKIE] summonitus fuit eodem die et loco [apud WESTMONASTERIUM in crastino Sancti MICHAELIS anno xxv^{to}.

Regis HENRICI tercii] ad ostendendum si quod jus habet in custodia LANDAVENSIS ecclesie vacantis et ad illud proseguendum si voluerit. Et comes venit et dicit quod nichil juris clamat in predicta custodia nomine suo nisi racione terrarum RICARDI de CLARE in GLAMMORGAN quarum custodiam dominus Rex ei vendidit usque ad plenam etatem predicti RICARDI unde ipse habet cartam domini Regis et unde dicit quod predictus RICARDUS et alii barones in provincia illa vacante sede illius episcopatus et cujuslibet alterius debent singuli ipsorum habere custodiam terrarum que de ipsis tenentur salva solummodo domino Regi dignitate crocie. Et ideo provisum est quod rotuli cancellarie queruntur et si inveniatur quod dominus Rex vendidit comiti predictam custodiam . habeat eam secundum quod ei illam vendidit et si comes plus sibi attraxerit quam dominus Rex ei vendidit dominus Rex perquiret se versus eum. Preterea provisum fuit quod si domino Regi placuerit fiat inquisicio in partibus Marchie per vicecomitem et ballivos ipsius domini Regis si barones Marchie vacantibus sedibus episcopatum debeant habere custodiam terrarum episcopatus que de ipsis tenentur ita quod domino Regi nichil accrescat nisi solummodo dignitas crocie.

The circumstances of the Welsh conquest had invested the early Norman lords with powers not compatible with the Royal sovereignty, and which as the kings gained strength they were disposed to recover. One of these was the custody of the temporalities of the See of Llandaff, which was claimed and exercised, at first unchallenged, by the Earls of Gloucester for the Manor of Llandaff, and by the Lords of Gower for Bishopston. It appears from the above that Henry III. had taken advantage of the minority of the Earl of Gloucester to contest his claim, which however was resisted by the Earl Marshal, the guardian of the Earl and custos of his rights. Henry was not in a position to enforce his claim, but as will be seen his son was more successful. It will also be seen that some years later, in 1250, in the latter years of Bishop de Burgh, Henry obtained from his son acknowledgment that he held under the Crown direct, and Earl Richard seems to have assented to this.

But little is known of the Bonvilles of Glamorgan, although they were numerous, and continually occur in local Charters. They came from Devon and Dorset, where they held Minehead, Westcomb, Shute, and Chewton; were of Bonvileston, in Plymlegh, Henry III., and Edward III.; were summoned to Parliament in 1449; and inherited the barony of Harington. They also gave name to a parish in Pembrokeshire. In Glamorgan Sir Simon gave name to the parish and fee of Bonvilleston, called by the Welsh Tre-Simon, from the Tre or Castle, of which traces of the fosse and enceinte wall remain south of the church, near which Coed-yr-Abbot preserves the memory of a later connexion with Margam. The confirmation of Bishop Nicholas, 1153-1183, shews that Tewkesbury then held two parts of the tythe, and in the confirmation of King John to Margam, in 1205, John de B. appears as the donor of 50 acres. This may be Johannes Clericus de Bonavilla from whom Henry, son of John de B., had thecroft 'Johannis Clerici' and five virgates for William de B. and Mabel his wife, Geoffrey and Jordan B. being witnesses. Mabel afterwards gave up her dower land to Margam for £8 sterling, Geoffrey, Henry, and Simon—no doubt near kinsmen of her husband—being witnesses. John de B. also gave 30 acres to Margam, and with William his brother—the two sons of 'John the Clerk'—quit-claimed to the same the land their father held from the Templars. John de B. also gave land to William the harper (Citharedo), as did William, son of John, with his daughter Sibilla. The harper also appears as a donor to Margam, and Sibilla, as his widow, confirms the grant. Another widow, Cecilia de B., confirms to Adam, her eldest son, her land in Bonvileston, Simon and James de B. being witnesses. Robert de B., with Aliza his wife, grants to Margam, saving the thirds of Cristina de B. (another widow), the whole fee of Bonvileston, in fee farm, which is confirmed by Raymund de Sully, who describes Robert as 'liber homo meus,' he being free lord. Robert de B. and Juliana his wife gave lands in Craumere to Tewkesbury. [N. Mon. IV. 73.]

The Close Roll of 1297 [25 Edward I., M. 18, 9 May] mentions James de Bonevill and Amabilia his wife, as co-complainants with Simon de Ralee and Johanna his wife; the subject being no doubt the heritage of the two wives, who were probably coheirs of de Reigny. It is probable that Amabilia died childless.

See DXLIV. for Robert and Aliza de Bonevilla's gift to Margam.

Next, probably about 1260, occurs William de Bonavilla, son of John, who gives to the monks of Margam forty acres of arable land which they held of the Templars in the time of his father, paying to them forty pence annually. This seems to be a gift on condition that the land shall be his and not the Templars, and was probably taken by the monks as a measure of precaution [75 B. 17]. It may be observed that King John's Charter enumerates, next after the Boneville grant, forty acres given by the Templars.

Soon afterwards Abbot Gilbert is found executing agreements with John le Norreys, who holds lands and tenements in Bonevileston of the Convent, by which Norreys admits the holding at the seisin of 12d. per annum, and monthly rent at the Abbot's Court of Bonvileston, paying the foreign service and reasonable relief to the Abbot when due, with custody of the lands and heir when a minor, and fealty. For those considerations, and at the instance of Gilbert, Earl of Gloucester, the Abbot warrants to le Norreys and his heirs the tenement of the fee of Bonvileston should he (the Abbot) be impleaded in the Easter Court, but should le Norreys be so impleaded, and cast, he can only come upon Margam for a pair of gilt spurs of 6d. value, as value of the land so lost, and le Norreys covenants under a forfeiture of £100 sterling not to sell more than the gilt spurs. [75 A. 36.]

In 1291, 1st February, the Abbot, as Lord of the fee of Bonvileston, is party to an agreement with Thomas le Spodur of that place, by which Thomas gives up, in perpetuity, an acre of land, a house and curtilage in the vill of Tudekistowe, which Thomas, son of Robert Acus, formerly held of Margam, and which lies between the Margam land and the main road towards the common called Newton's Down. In return the Abbot grants to Thomas two acres in the fee, one in Redelond field and one near the vill, which Roger, son of Cady, formerly held, paying 14d. per annum, and doing suit of Court. At Thomas' death a heriot of 5s. to be paid. [75 A. 42.]

In 1302, 24th June, John, son and heir of Henry de Bonvyle de Bonevylston, informs the faithful that he has demised and acquitted to Margam, for himself and his heirs, 14s. sterling of a certain 40s., annual rent due to him from the Abbey, and this in exchange for 14s. annual rent upon the tenement which Philip le Especer formerly held of Margam in Bristol, and which is now assigned to his lord, Reymund de Sullye, who in returns enfeoffs John and his heirs of 14s. rent in exchange for 20s. which Matthew Everard, Joan his wife, and Hugo their son, used to pay to Reymund for a tenement held by them at Holeton, in the lordship of Dinas Powys. A somewhat complex arrangement, showing de Sully to have been Boneville's lord, and pointing to the retirement of the Bonevilles from the county. [75 B. 22.]

It does not here appear how de Sully came to be the superior lord of de Boneville; perhaps this may be connected with the superiority of Wenvoe over Bonevileston, mentioned above, and the fact that in 1262, as appears by the County Extent, Walter, the then lord of Sully, held also two fees in Wenvoe.

A deed of 25th July, 1378, records an exchange by the Abbot and convent of two acres of arable land in Redelond, and five acres next the old castle on the northern side of Bonvileston, with Will. Wrouno [Grono] de Bonevileston, against his seven acres next Heligogy on the west side. [75 A. 43.] The Spencer Survey of 1320 mentions Ma : Bonville, i.e. plough lands. This may be Maurice Bonville.

26th November, 1330, occurred a plea before the Sheriff of Glamorgan between the Abbot of Margam and John le Woledon, who held a free tenement under Margam in Bonevileston, for which John le Flemyng of St. George's claimed service. Woledon absconded, leaving nothing behind, upon which the Abbot became responsible to John le Flemyng. [Francis MSS.]

30th November, 1377, an indenture was agreed to between the Abbot and convent and John Denys of Waterton, by which they granted him in farm eighty-nine acres of land in the fee of Bonvileston, during the minority of John, son and heir of John Norreis of Leche Castle, at 13s. 4d. per annum. [75 A. 45.] The Abbot held the Norreis lands as lord of the fee.

The Golden Grove Book mentions Elias de Bonville as contemporary with William, Earl of Gloucester, Simon as the person who gave name to the parish and manor, William as named in the dateless deed, Maurice, and John, and adds that an heiress of Bonville married Lewis Raglan. Bonvileston probably remained in the Crown from the dissolution until 18th February, 32 Henry VIII. [Orig., p. 90, part I, m. 62], when the manor and rectory were granted to Sir John St. John, Kt., in exchange for other lands.

Sir John did not long retain his acquisition. 33 Henry VIII. he fined £4 13s. 4d. for licence to alienate to John Bassett the manor and rectory of Bonevileston, and John Bassett did homage and fealty to the Crown for the manor and rectory of Bonevileston, and messuages in Brandiston, Monewydon, Hoo, Kilylboro', Some-Count, and Cretyngham. [Ibid., p. 93, m. 126, and p. 90, m. 69.] Further, 8 Elizabeth, is a memorandum concerning the exonerating William Bassett and Edward Manxwell from the annual rent of five marks from the manor of Bonwyshton. The Bassetts thus acquired Bonvileston, which they still retain in the person of Thurstan Bassett.

Allusion has been made to the Templar lands in or near Bonvileston, of which they gave 40 acres to Margam before 1205. The residue no doubt descended to the Knights of St. John, for in the Lansdowne MSS. [No. 200, p. 6] is a Charter by John Kendall, prior of St. John of Jerusalem in England, dated 20th June, 1492, by which he lets to Roger Vaughan, and Roger his son, all their demesne lands in the Lordship of Milton, Glamorgan, with a water mill newly built there, for forty-one years from the Assumption of the Virgin, at a rent of 44s., payable to the Preceptor of Dynmor.

This property was acquired by John Bassett, who did homage 35 Henry VIII. for the manor of Milton. [Orig., p. 77, part I, m. 91.] It has descended with Bonvileston to Thurstan Bassett, whose father rebuilt the Parish Church. They represent in the male line the Bassetts of Beaupré and St. Hilary.

In 1379 the Abbot of Margam granted to John Deny a lease of eighty-six acres of land at Bonvileston during the nonage of John, son of John Norris, of Leche Castle. [75 A. 15.] How this estate was acquired does not appear. Leche Castle is a square earthwork of Roman aspect, and near the old Roman road from Cardiff to Cowbridge. This is the only evidence of its having been a residence. The manor, of small extent, is dependent upon Wenvoe. As Bonvileston had already been made over to Margam, John was probably in ward to the Abbot.

This document has apparently been mislaid. See Birch, Hist. of Margam Abbey, p. 241. n

Three seals, of which the 2nd and 3rd are lost.

The remaining seal is one of singular elegance of design and fine execution, as appears from the Bishop's effigy and a part of the background, which alone remain. The Bishop stands on a carved bracket in full robes—a jewelled clasp at his neck, and the mitre on his head. The right hand is lifted in benediction; the left, also lifted, grasps a pastoral staff near its top, which is broken off. The background is reticulated in quatrefoils, with a flower at the junction of the lines, and in each compartment is a crescent.

PLEA BEFORE KING HENRY III. BETWEEN RICHARD SYWARD AND RICHARD DE CLARE, EARL OF GLOUCESTER.

[WALLIA 32 HEN. III., SANCTI MICH., COTT. MS. VITELLIUS C.X.,
p. 17, 2 b.] - 1248.

GLOUCESTRIA. RICARDUS de CLARE comes GLOUCESTRIE attachiatus fuit ad respondendum RICARDO SYWARD¹ de placito quare cum venisset ad mandatum suum ad quoddam parliamentum in GLAMMORGAN ipsum RICARDUM arrestavit et coegit ad obsides tradendos donec redderet ei castrum suum de THALEVON et constabularium suum cepit et imprisonavit contra pacem etc. et unde queritur quod cum venisset apud les ESCALEURS in GLAMORGAN ubi predictus comes tenuit parliamentum suum die MERCURII proximo ante translationem Sancti THOME Martiris regni Regis qui nunc est XXIX. [5 Julii 1245] in pace domini Regis absque summonitione contentione et placito que ibi credebat habere venit dictus comes et corpus ipsius RICARDI arrestavit et tanquam prisonem detinuit donec obsidem ei invenisset scilicet PAGANUM de SANCTO PHILIBERTO ut personaliter veniret in crastino ad reddendum ei predictum castrum suum de THALEVAN ita quod ibidem venit cum constabulario suo et quodam alio serviente statim venit predictus comes et ipsos cepit et ipsum RICARDUM retinuit donec ei redderet predictum castrum sibi reddidit (sic). Idem comes retinuit constabularium predictum et illum poni fecit in gaola sua in vinculis et ferris donec finem fecisset cum eo pro vita sua et membris suis pro LX. marcis. Preterea predictus comes ista malitia nondum contentus ubi idem RICARDUS habuit terram suam de LLANBLIDIAN extra castrum predictum venit predictus comes et contra pacem domini Regis et ibi cepit L. boves de precio xxx. marcarum et cc. bidentes precio x. marcarum et alia animalia et bona ut equos porcos et arma ad valenciam x. marcarum et bona alia contra pacem et abduxit. Et postquam dominus Rex mandavit dicto comiti quod dum predictus RICARDUS fuisset in servicio domini Regis et in guerra sua apud GLAMMORK omnes contentiones inter eos mote ponerentur in respectum et omnia bona ipsius RICARDI in pace essent usque in crastinum animarum, venit predictus comes et terram ipsius RICARDI cepit in manum suam et fecit liberos homines suos facere ei homagium et villanos fidelitatem. Et quod hoc fecit contra pacem domini Regis et dampnum suum de producit testes. Et comes alias venit coram domino Rege scilicet a die Pasche in xv. dies apud OXONIAM anno regni sui tricesimo primo [1247] quod attachiatus fuit ad respondendum predicto RICARDO de predictis transgressionibus et defendit vim etc. et quicquid contra pacem est etc. Et dixit quod non videbatur ei quod debeat ei ibidem respondere quia cum predictus RICARDUS conquestus fuit de transgressione ei facta in GLAMMORGAN et ipse comes habuit talem libertatem in terra sua de GLAMMORGAN quod nullus de hominibus suis nec aliis debent de aliquo placito placitare alibi quam infra libertatem suam de GLAMMORGAN et desicut idem RICARDUS qui tunc conquerebatur est de libertate illa et terre unde conquerebatur et res sunt de GLAMMORGAN. Et desicut ipse conquestus fuit quod transgressio predicta si facta fuit, facta fuit ibidem. Et desicut ipse nec antecessores sui nunquam alibi solebant placitare quam ibidem non videbatur ei quod deberet ei respondere. Et rogavit dominum Regem quod teneret ei libertatem suam et quod dominus Rex mitteret ibidem si ei placeret duos vel tres vel quatuor milites de consilio ad audiendam querelam predicti RICARDI ibidem et responsam suam ita quod si bene fecerit secundum consuetudinem patrie pro justitia fieret sin autem bene concederet quod factum ejus corrigeretur per dominum Regem. Et comes requisitus extra placitum si ipse haberet castrum et terram predictam de judicio comitatus sui vel alio modo dixit quod bene ostendet ibidem quod ille habuit per judicium curie sue et secundum consuetudinem et usagium patrie. Et RICARDUS SIWARD per attornatum suum tunc venit et dixit quod non videbatur ei quod debet curiam suam de querela illa ibidem habere set debet tunc coram Rege respondere quod ipse RICARDUS con-questus fuit de persona propria ipsius comitis.

Postea coram domino Rege et consilio suo tunc provisum fuit quod dominus Rex mitteret ibidem WALTERUM de CLIFFORD JOHANNEM de MUNEMEY' WALERANNUM THEOTONICUM² et GILBERTUM del VAL' ad audiendum in curia predicta utrum dictus comes bene fecerat et juste in facto predicto ita quod si bene fecerat secundum consuetudinem et usagium patrie staret factum sin autem milites facerent recordum domino Regi et ipse factum illud corrigeret. Unde per provisum illum mandatum fuit predictis WALTERO de CLIFFORD . JOHANNI de MUNEMEY' . WALTERO THEOTONICO et loco GILBERTI del VAL' . NICHOLAO de MEULES . quod essent coram domino Rege a die Sancti JOHANNIS BAPTISTE [24 Junii] in unum mensem proximo preterito etc. ad testificandum simul recordum factum in curia RICARDI comitis GLOUCESTRIE de GLAMMORGAN inter ipsum comitem et RICARDUM SYWARD per quod idem RICARDUS dixit injuste esse utlagatum et quod recordum domino Regi mitterent sub sigillis suis in crastino Sancti HILLARII [14 Jan.]. Et ubi tunc venisse debuerunt etc. simul ad testificandum recordum illud et non venerunt sicut venire debuerunt etc. et ipsi omnes ad diem illam venerunt et testificati fuerunt quod recordum quod miserunt in crastino Sancti HILLARII secundum quod in recordo illo scriptum fuit audiverunt recordari in comitatu de GLAMORGAN et quando predictus comes fecit coram eis recordum illud omni eodem modo sicut continetur in predicto recordo et similiter testificati fuerunt quod coram eis venit PAGANUS de SANCTO PHILIBERTO et obtulit se quasi attornatum predicti RICARDI SYWARD et obtulit probare per corpus cujusdam liberi hominis contra curiam predictam quod recordum illud quod recordabatur coram ipsis militibus in parte fuit verum et in parte falsum et protulerunt recordum quod tale est.

COMITATUS de GLAMORGAN. Apud STALUR' die MERCURII proximo ante translationem beati THOME Martiris anno R. R. HENRICI XXIX. [7 Julii 1245] ibidem venit RICARDUS de CLARE comes GLOUCESTRIE et HERTFORDIE et appellare

fecit dominum RICARDUM SYWARD de seductione et felonia quam ei fecerat scilicet quod dictus RICARDUS SYWARD qui fuit de familia comitis et de consilio contra fidem comitis et homagium quod ei fecerat et contra pacem suam sicut felonus infregit treugas que capte fuerunt inter dominum comitem et HOWELINUM filium MEREDUCKI que quedam treuge capte fuerunt pro comite et pro omnibus hominibus suis de GLAMORGAN videlicet a die Dominica proxima post festum Sancti MARTINI durature usque ad EPIPHANIAM proxime sequentem ejusdem anni. Nam idem RICARDUS SYWARD contra fidem dicti comitis et contra pacem suam et contra formam predictarum treugarum ad exheredacionem comitis et ad guerram tenendam super ipsum comitem et homines suos et terram suam cepit gentes et imprisonavit scilicet GRIFFINUM LATIMER . WRAMON ab KADOUGAN . RESUM ab KADOUGAN . GRIFFINUM ap MEURIK VAUGHAN . YORUARD ab AGARETH et alios scilicet die MARTIS proximo post diem Nativitatis infra predictam treugam qua accione dictus HOWEL cepit THOMAM de HODNACH infra eandem treugam et ipsum redemit pro ducentis marcis unde WILLELMUS de WAUTONE vicecomes et alii ballivi comitatus mandaverunt dicto HOWELO quod faceret illud commendare et dictus HOWEL respondit quod libenter illud emendaret si ipsi delictum ei factum infra eandem treugam scilicet de hominibus suis captis per dictum RICARDUM SYWARD ut predictum est emendassent. Quod quidem dicti ballivi comitatus emendare concesserunt et diem parliamenti super hoc ceperunt ad delictum ex utraque parte factum emendandum per consideracionem XII. proborum et legalium virorum scilicet domini ROBERTI WALERAND . domini JOHANNIS de REGNI . THOME de NEREBERT^s . ROBERTI de CANTILUP . JOEL filii WILLELMI . THOME de MULL' ex parte comitis, KENEVEWREK ab WYON . HOWEL VACHAN . et JORVARD ab ESPUS . RESI COTE . WILLELMI Clerici . RESI ab ALAYTHO . ex parte HOWEL et dominus WILLELMUS de WAUTONE vicecomes et dominus RICARDUS SYWARD et alii pro comite affidaverunt ad standum ad consideracionem dictorum XII. virorum. Et dictus HOWEL pro se et compliceibus suis idem affidavit unde ad diem parliamenti scilicet ad molendinum SEGOD predicti XII. viri con-sideraverunt quod dictus R. SYWARD dictos homines dicti HOWELI reddere debet et dictus HOWEL dictum T. de HODENACH et arma sua et catalla deliberare et reddere debet . quam consideracionem vicecomes concessit pro comite quod dictus HOWEL ex parte sua idem concessit. Set dictus RICARDUS SYWARD illud contradixit dicendo quod dictos homines reddere noluit nec deliberare et quod nihil habuit agendi de treugis comitis et quod nihil habuit agendum de treugis comitis, et quod nullatenus treugam illam voluit tenere. Unde per hoc incipit guerram talem in qua idem RICARDUS SYWARD sicut felonus et felonice et seductus fuit consentientibus dicto HOWELO et hominibus suis inimicis comitis et treugam habuit cum domino HOWEL infra mortalem guerram comitis. Et hoc sine assensu et consilio comitis vel ballivorum suorum quod patuit nam dictus comes nec garnisones castrorum suorum scilicet de KIDIS et de aliis castris suis nullam poterant ire equitacionem ; set dictum HOWEL quin dictus RICARDUS SYWARD qui de consilio comitis fuit sicut seductor et felonus et felonice per se et per homines suos premunire fecisset dictum HOWEL et homines suos contra fidem et pacem comitis et homagium quod ei fecerat et hoc felonice fecit et procuravit ad [ex]heredacionem comitis et ad damnum et hurtagium ipsius et hominum suorum et terrarum suarum ad valenciam mille librarum sterlingorum et amplius sive morte proborum virorum ut de domino HERBERTO filio MATHELI et de multis aliis sive combustionem terrarum suarum. Et si predictus RICARDUS talis esset quod hanc felonice seduccionem defendere vellet STEPHANUS BAUCEN⁴ miles et homo comitis paratus est per corpus suum sicut audiens et videns ad disracionandum versus dictum RICARDUM SYWARD sicut versus felonem et seductorem per omne quod comes consideraret quod facere debent. Et si forte contingeret quod dictus STEPHANUS BAUCEN hoc facere non posset per corpus domini THOME de BELLO vel per alium sufficientem versus dictum RICARDUM SYWARD comes illud probaret. Et de hoc invenit plegios ad prosequendum scilicet WALTERUM de SULLIA GILBERTUM de UMFRAVILL et JOHANNEM de REGNI.

Et RICARDUS venit et respondit et defendit totam feloniam et totum factum ut predictum est et posuit in iudicio comitatus si debeat de predictis respondere versus dictum STEPHANUM BAUCEN sicut non est de comitatu nec par suus

Et dictus comes GLOUC' dicit quod idem STEPHANUS BAUCEN homo suus est et miles de familia sua et posuit se super iudicium comitatus si debeat ei respondere vel non et comitatus adjudicat quod idem RICARDUS SYWARD dicto STEPHANO BAUCEN debet respondere.

Interim venit WILLELMUS de CANTILUP' et alii milites cum eo petentes respectum super hoc de dicto comite usque ad proximum comitatum sequentem ita scilicet quod loquela esset in eodem statu in quo eodem die fuit si interim per se vel per amicos suos non posset facere pacem de hoc exegit comes plegios. Et RICARDUS SYWARD non potuit invenire plegios et quia non potuit plegios invenire dictus RICARDUS SYWARD tradidit domino comiti castrum suum de TALEVAN et totam terram suam de GLAMORGAN cum pertinentibus in plegium et in obsidem veniendi ad proximum comitatum ad respondendum super predictis articulis et multis aliis super quibus dictus comes vellet loqui versus ipsum.

COMITATUS DE GLAMORGAN APUD STALUR' DIE DOMINICA PROXIMA ANTE FESTUM BEATI ANNO EODEM. Ibidem venit RICARDUS de CLARE comes G. et H. et STEPHANUS BAUCON et THOMAS de BELLO-CAMPO in pleno comitatu profert se versus dominum RICARDUM SYWARD et exegerunt recordum et iudicium de appellacione facta versus RICARDUM SYWARD. Dictus RICARDUS SYWARD fuit ter vocatus non venit nec apparuit, recordo facto, datus est dies dicto comiti et dicto STEPHANO BAUCEN et dicto THOMAS de BELLO-CAMPO ad proximum comitatum et positus fuit dictus R. SYWARD in prima demanda secundum legem et consuetudinem patrie. Et terra sua capta fuit in manus comitis per consideracionem comitatus et quod idem R. SYWARD nichilominus sit vocatus et demandatus; dictus RICARDUS de CLARE comes GLOUCESTRIE facit THOMAM de SULLY attornatum suum ad prosequendam appellacionem suam versus dictum RICARDUM SYWARD et ita potuit facere secundum consuetudinem patrie.

COMITATUS DE GLAMORGAN APUD STALUR' DIE LUNE PROXIMA ANTE FESTUM NATIVITATIS B. M. ANNO EODEM. THOMAS de SULLY attornatus comitis et S. BAUCEN et THOMAS de BELLO-CAMPO comparuerunt [et] proferunt se versus dictum RICARDUM SYWARD et petierunt recordum et iudicium de appellacione prius facta super dictum R. S. de felonia et seductione per dictum STEPHANUM BAWCEN et dictum THOMAM de B.—C. Predictus R. SYWARD fuit ter vocatus sicut ille qui appellatus fuit de felonia et seductione comitis et non venit et quod non venit fuit primum recordum in pleno comitatu et dies datur dictis THOME de SULLY attornato comitis et S. BAUCEN et THOME de B.—C. ad proximum comitatum sequentem et quia RICARDUS SYWARD non venit positus fuit in tertia demanda secundum leges et consuetudines patrie.

COMITATUS DE GLAMORGAN. APUD SANCTUM NICHOLAUM DIE LUNE PROXIMA POST FESTUM SIMONIS ET JUDE ANNO R. R. 30. [30 Oct. 1245.]

THOMAS de SULLY attornatus comitis et STEPHANUS BAWCEN et T. de BELLO-CAMPO comparuerunt [et] proferunt se versus dictum R. SYWARD et petierunt recordum et iudicium jam quarto de appellacione saper eundem R. SYWARD facta de felonia et seduccionem comitis dictus R. SYWARD fuit ter vocatus sicut ille qui appellatus fuit de felonia et seductione comitis et non venit primo comitatu nec secundo nec tertio nec quarto nec aliquis qui ipsum manucaperet unde recordum de comite in comitatu factum adjudicavit comitatus dictum R. SYWARD esse wayviatum de comitatu et vocatum WOLVESHEVED et fuit in quarta demanda wayviatus et hoc secundum consuetudinem et usagium patrie de GLAMORGAN. Et ad predictum diem quo milites venerunt et testificabant [recordum venit] predictus RICARDUS [et] obtulit se versus predictum R. de CLARE comitem GLOUC' et ipse non venit etc. Unde precatus fuit vice[comes de GLAMORGAN] distringere eum etc. ita quod haberet corpus ejus etc. auditurus recordum et iudicium supra predictis. Et idem dies datur predicto RICARDO SYWARD ad quem diem venerunt partes et coram eis lectum fuit predictum recordum et quesitum fuit de recordum tale fuit et si voluerunt habere predictum recordum pro bono vel aliquid dicere contra recordum illud etc. Et R. SYWARD venit et dicit quod recordum illud in parte bonum est et in parte falsum eo quod predicta curia omisit dicere pro se bonum suum et dixit suum pejus unde petit quod per justiciam et per consuetudinem regni possit predictum recordum emendari in hiis in quibus rebus predicta curia oblita fuit dicere suum melius. Et dicit quod quando predictus comes eum appellavit de predicta felonia et seductione quod per eum fieri debuit, quod absit, sicut predictum est, dictus RICARDUS preter ea que contenta sunt in dicto recordo respondit quod desicut idem comes qui eum appellavit de felonia et ipsemet presens fuit sanus de corpore suo et de membris suis et sine mahemio et talis etatis quod ipse potuit per corpus suum hoc probare et illud optulit probare per alium vel per alios non videbatur ei quod debeat ad talem appellacionem respondere unde petit iudicium. Item desicut idem comes appellavit eum de felonia predicta ubi periculum faciet vite et membrorum si inde convictus esset et cum felonia illa adjunxit damna catallorum et illam feloniam ad precium mille librarum appositum unde per unam et eandem appellacionem vitam et membra sua petiit et pecuniam predictam similiter que simul stare non possunt ad aliquem appellandum petiit iudicium si debeat huic appellationi respondere. Item desicut idem comes appellavit in curia propria et ipse de curia illa fuit dominus et quasi rex et justiciarius et ipsemet in eadem curia inculpavit de pace sua propria et de felonia ei facta in pace sua et non tetigit pacem domini Regis desicut ambo fuerunt homines sui et in terra domini Regis qui justiciam tenere debuit et potuit de utroque et cujus vita et membra erant et nullius alterius petiit iudicium si debuit ei tali appellationi ibidem respondere. Item desicut idem comes appellavit eum de seductione eidem comiti facta et de pace sua et ipse comes nec aliquis alius in regno possit tale appellum habere nisi corpus Regis petiit iudicium si debuit tali appello respondere. Item desicut idem comes appellavit eum de predictis felonia et traditione que ei fieri deberent et de consilio suo discooperto et de consensu facto inimicis suis et hoc paratus fuit probare per predictos STEPHANUM et THOMAM nec ipse dicebatur in appello suo nec ipse de auditu et visu nec quando nec quo die nec qua hora nec ubi nec per quem nec de quibus rebus consilium illud discooperuisse debuit nec consensum illum fecisse non videbatur ei quod debuit tali appello respondere. Unde in predictis quinque articulis quos in responsione sua in curia predicta proposuit ut melius suum et quod melius dicta curia oblita fuit ad recordandum dictus RICARDUS emendat recordum illud. Et quod ita sit per unum audientem et unum intelligentem scilicet ROGERUM de SANCTO PHILIBERTO et MAURICIUM le GRAY paratus est verificare quos presentes sunt et statim simul cum predicto RICARDO super sacrosancta hoc juraverunt et dicit quod ubi predicta curia recordatur quod dictus RICARDUS SYWARD predicto comiti manerium suum de LANBLITHAN et omnes terras suas et castrum suum ibi male recordatur quia predictus R. SYWARD nihil tradidit eidem comiti nisi solum corpus castri sui salvo eidem RICARDO omnibus aliis sicut patet in scripto sigillo ipsius comitis signato quod profert et quod hoc testatur.

Item predictus R. SYWARD dicit quod contra predictum recordum et iudicium et quod dicta curia injuste processit ad faciendum tale iudicium secundum recordum predictum et quod in eadem curia falsum factum est ei iudicium quia tam predictus comes personaliter appellavit eum de predicta felonia et hoc paratus fuit probare per predictos S. et THOMAM et idem comes primo secutus fuit appellum suum in propria persona et postea secutus fuit idem appellum per attornatum suum ad secundum tertium et quartum comitatum sicut curia predicta recordatur et quod per sectam predicti attornati exigerunt predictum R. SYWARD unde petit iudicium et quod sibi allocetur modus predictae secte. Item cum dominus Rex demandasset eidem comiti quod predictus RICARDUS pacem haberet de omnibus contentionibus in curia ipsius comitis motis usque in crastino animarum [3 Nov.] eo quod idem RICARDUS SYWARD fuit in servicio suo apud GANNOCK.

[‘Residuum deest in hoc recordo.’]

(1) Richard Syward, Lord of the Castle of Talavan, married Ela, Countess of Warwick, as his second wife, before 1234. He was Custos of Glamorgan and Swansea, and seems to have taken service with Alexander of Scotland. His wife was a widow in 1256. She afterwards married Philip Bassett, of Hedington. Syward was accused of rebellion before the Comitatus 1245, and was then Lord of the Castle of Talavan, his prosecutor being Earl Richard de Clare, the overlord. Syward was then serving with the Royal Army at Gannock, in North Wales. In 1281, John Giffard, then custos, was in charge of Syward's manor of Llanblethian, and his Castle of Talavan and Llanharry, and had to account for receipt of £55 4s. 8d., less expenses of £23 12s. 1½d.

Also in 1523—1539, Richard Syward, lord of the Castle and lordship of Talavan, and seized of the manor of Merthyr Mawr, held by the service of one fee, paying also 7s. 11d. yearly ward-silver to Cardiff Castle. Merthyr Mawr and this charge were inherited from Daniel, son of Richard, with a charge of a soor sparhawke, payable yearly to the heirs of Richard at the Castle of Talavan. The heir of Daniel was Thomas Stradling, who accordingly paid 7s. 11d. ward-silver to Cardiff, and the sparhawke to Talavan. But the officer of Talavan also claimed 7s. 11d. for Talavan, against which he petitioned.

When before the Comitatus, Richard Syward appealed to the King, probably the first attempt to extend the 'regis jurisdictio' into Glamorgan; and resented as such by de Clare.

In 1306-7 is mentioned 'Taleuant Castra extenta,' and in 1317 the Castle and Manor of Talavan and Llanharry are in the partition assigned to Hugh le Despenser and Alianora de Clare his wife, and valued at £126 18s. 10d., and in the statute, 27 Henry VII., 1535-6, Tallavan is one of the twenty cantreds comprising the new shire of Glamorgan. In the 26 Henry VIII., the manor is coupled with those of Llanblethian, Ruthin, and Tir Suard, and these were together valued at £10.

Of the Castle, which stood on high ground, North-east of Cowbridge, there remains part of an arch, probably pointed, the base of a wall, slightly battering, and probably part of a square tower, said to have been taken down 150 years ago. A very light earth-bank probably cover the foundations of the enceinte wall, the surrounding lands of about 153 acres are still known as 'The Park.' The position is a strong one, and commands an extensive view over the valley of the Upper Thaw.

(2) 'Excerpta e Rot. Fin. I., p. 458, 1246.'—Waleran Teutonicus is in charge of William, Earl Marshal's lands for the King. He answers, among others, for £25 19d. for lands in Karleon and Morgan. Waleran was evidently officer for Nether Went, 'p. 455.' 'pp. 270, 305, 1234-6.'—The King orders certain lands to be taken into his hand on the death of a tenant in the honour of the Earl of Gloucester, in co. Surrey.

Waleran, in the 12th Century, was a considerable name in the Western Counties. Walter Waleran, besides holding from 20 to 30 fees in Wilts [1190-1195], held a fee of the Abbot of Glastonbury, which descended to Walter his son; he also held a fee of the Bishop of Salisbury in Wilts, and 12 other fees in the same county [L. Nig. I., 37, 103.] Walter, whose mother was Cecilia, married Isabella, and his daughter Sybil, about 1200, was known to have granted land at Marshfield, in the fee of Gloucester, to Pagan de Turberville. His son Walter held the Glastonbury fee in 1166.

Llandaff [Cotton Charter, XI., 24.] Walter, son of Herbert Waleran, also occurs. It appears from DCCCLXVIII., 90 years later, that when, by the death of Bishop Helias, the See of Llandaff became vacant, Edward I. committed the custody of the temporalities to Waleran Teutonicus, who was probably a son or grandson of the first named.

(3) This name, confined, it is believed, to one family, may be connected with Narberth in Pembrokeshire, anciently called Nerber. Thus a king's writ to Rees ap Griffith in 1316 mentions 'terra et dominium de Nerber;' and 'Nerberd,' co. Pembroke, occurs in an inquisition of the 2 Edward II. [N. Fœd., III. Pt. I., p. 67; I. p. M., I., 101.] The Welsh pedigrees also record the marriage of Andrew, son of Roger Nerbert, temp. Henry II., with Elizabeth, daughter of Giles de Carew of co. Pembroke.

In 1166, William de Nerber held four knights' fees of William Earl of Gloucester, and later evidence shews that these fees were at Aberthaw in Glamorgan.

The Nerbers had lands in Devon, as was not uncommon with Glamorgan feudatories. 8 Richard I. [1197], William Nerbert was petens, and William de Poniard, of Lidiard, tenens, in a fine relating to a fee in Akinton: 'Et pro hoc fine, etc., W. de Poniard concessit Willelmo Nerbert et heredibus suis de se et heredibus suis viij. ferling terre scilicet ij ferling in . . . weton et ij. ferling in Gielgnolle, et ij. ferling in Hameletorre, et ij. ferling in Stapeldon et in La Ferse et molendinum cum via in Akinton cum hamello quod est inter Bethum molendinum et vetus camellum Et preterea . . . W. de Poniard . . . dedit predicto Willelmo de Nerbert x. marcas argenti pro homagio et relevio suo quod ipse fecit Willelmo de Nerbert.'

Also in 11 of John [1210], in the same county, Philip de Nerbert is tenens against William Painei petens, concerning a knight's fee in Bery Pomeroy. [Fines, 8 R. I., p. 40, and 11 John, p. 68.]

Thomas de Nerber, in 1249, witnesses to a fine by the sons of Morgan ap Cadwalathan; and in the same year Thomas and Henry de Nerber are on the court held in the assize between the Abbot of Neath and Lleisan ap Morgan. About this time 'Willelmus de Nerber debet x. marcas pro festinando recto de feodo unius militis de feodo Willelmi filii Johannis;' and a year later, 'sed de his [marcis] debent v. marce requiri de Godfrido de Dinres [A.],' against whom he pleaded. It has been suggested that William Fitz John was William, son of John de Harptree. Were the Nerberts Harptree tenants in Somerset?

An Extent in the Record Office shews Philip de Nerber, about 1262, as upon a jury at Cardiff. He held a quarter of a knight's fee in Llancarvan. This Philip and Maurice, his brother, witnessed, in 1257, a Charter by Ph. de Cornele: Cornele was a manor near to Margam. In 1289 a Philip de Nerber, possibly the same, witnessed an agreement between Gilbert de Clare and the Abbot of Neath. [Francis's Neath, p. 34.]

At the inquisition upon Gilbert de Clare, 24 Edward I. [1295-6], No. 107, Richard de Nerber was a juror, and was probably the same who, by the inquisition on the death of Countess Joanna, in 1307, held a messuage and four carucates of land at St. Tathan's, valued at 26s. 8d. per annum, and a tenement in Penllyne valued at 3s. 4d.; the latter, no doubt, as custos of John le Norreys, a minor. [Escaet., 35 Edward I., p. 47.]

Philip de Nerber succeeded, and had four knights' fees in St. Tathan's at the inquisition on the last Earl Gilbert in 1315; when, however, Philip was dead, and the fees divided, Castleton, a part of those fees, remained in the name. Richard de Nerber was upon this same inquest.

The Spencer Survey of 1320, names Richard lord of half a fee in Llancovian manor; and Richard, probably the same, lord of half a fee in St. Tathan's; the latter being certainly Castleton. This Richard witnessed, 15th May, 10 Edward II. [1317], a Charter by Sir William de Berkerolles concerning messuages in St. Tathan's, Joelstone, and Llanfey.

In 1322 another Philip Nerber was a serviens, performing military service due from John de la Mare [Writs, I., p. 1216]; and in 1327 Philip de Nerber was on a jury to inquire into the rights of Gilbert Turberville [Escaet., 1 Edward III., 2nd No. 97]; and in 1333 he sat on a jury to decide upon a claim by the Abbot of Margam. Philip also witnessed a Charter, 28th July, 1335, by David, rector of Coity, confirming to Roger, son of Sir W. de Berkerolles, and to Katherine, his wife, the manor of Merthyr Mawr.

John de Nerber, at the inquisition upon Hugh le Despenser in 1349, held half a fee in Llancovian and half a fee in St. Tathan's, each valued at 60s. per annum. John died 1st May in this same year [1349], seized of the manor of Castleton and advowson of St. Tathan's, held by knight's service at £4 3s. 9d. per annum, leaving his son and heir, William, then aged two years and eight days. On 22nd June, 1350, his wardship was sold to Guy de Brien for £100 per annum [Escaet., 24 Edward III., 1st No. 6; and Abb. Rig. Rot. II., 210B.]. In 1350, William Nerbert was on the inquisition upon Thomas Joil [Joel of Joelston or Gileston]: and upon that of Christian Fleming in 1360 [Escaet., 24 Edward II., 1st No. 5; and 34 Edward I., A. No. 11]. This was 1349-50.

William Neverber, or Nerber, of Castleton, married Ann, daughter of William de Wintonia [Wilkins], and had Jenkin Nerber, who married Elizabeth, daughter of Lewis Raglan, and had Thomas and Ann.

Thomas Nerber, temp. Henry V., married Gladys, daughter of Rees ap Jenkin of Glyn Nedd, and had Thomas, and a daughter who married John Hir.

Thomas Nerber, living 7 Henry VI., married Gladys, daughter and heiress of William Thomas. They had John, and Catherine who married David Powell. In this same year, 1st April, 1429, Thomas witnessed a donation by Sir Edward Stradlyng to Cardinal Beaufort and other feoffees of the manor of Lanfey in Glamorgan.

A Fonmon deed records Robert Nerber, who had a grant of Llancovian manor from Thomas Lyddyn and William ap Llewelyn; no doubt trustees, to whom he had previously conveyed it. The settlement was on Robert for life, with remainder to Lewis Mathewe, Esq., and Elizabeth, his wife, and their heirs and assigns. Date, 1452, 30-1, Henry VI.

John Nerber, of Castleton, married Catherine, daughter of Sir Roger Vaughan, of co. Brecknock, and had Agnes Nerber, heiress of Castleton, who married, 1st, Thomas John of Brigan; and 2nd, Morgan Thomas. Agnes died childless and a widow, 20th Sept., 1558. Her inquisition, subjoined, shows that she held no lands 'in capite' or direct from the Crown. Castleton was held of the Lord of Glamorgan.

The Manor House of Castleton stands upon the brow of a steep hill which rises about a hundred feet above two flat marshy valleys which here unite. The main or southern valley is traversed by a substantial bank intended to pen back the waters into a pool for the working of a mill, the ruins of which remain at the northern end of the bank. The northern valley is a mere combe. The two, uniting, join the Tawe about a quarter of a mile lower down, close to East Orchard Manor House. The house has the aspect of a very substantial farmhouse of the reign of Elizabeth or James, having on each front the ordinary three-light Tudor window of the district; each light with a round head, and the whole under a flat dripstone with square returns. On entering the building it will be seen that the greater part of it is of the sixteenth century; the old doors and thick walls, and some other details, remaining untouched. The hall, of Tudor date, is a low, long room having oak beams in the ceiling with panel-work of embossed plaster, the pattern being a fleur-de-lis. It lies north and south, and at its north end are the old doorways which led into the kitchen and offices. The east end and wall of the house are evidently the remains of a far older building than the rest, probably of the original castle of the first Norman lord. The wall is exceedingly thick, and contains a small chamber in its substance. In this wall is the carved lintel of an old fireplace, rudely executed, but apparently of early perpendicular work. Among the ornaments is 'a hart lodged,' a tiger or lion couchant, a fleur-de-lis, and some curious frets or knots, all in stone. The greater age of this eastern wall is confirmed by an examination from the outside. The building has evidently formed the south and part of the east side of a quadrangular court of considerable size, the gatehouse into which is built up in a barn on the north front. There are there two arches—one on a high drop-arch of about 12 feet opening, with a plain chamfer; and on the east side of this a smaller portal, of 6 feet opening, for foot passengers. These evidently are the remains of a late Edwardian gatehouse.

It would then appear that here stood originally a late Norman or Early English castle; that it was added to, or altered, in late Edwardian times, and a spacious courtyard enclosed; and that, finally, the defensive parts were removed in the Tudor period, and the remainder converted into a farmhouse.

(4) It is difficult, in Sir Stephen Bawcen, to recognise Stephen de Baiocis, lord of that barony in the county of Lincoln, and a baron of the realm. His name is corrupted into many forms. Among them are Bause, Bauen, Bawson, Bazan, Bayhus, Buzun, Baiocas, Bays, and Bayens or Bayensis, all indicating his origin from the Norman city of Bayeux.

The pedigree opens with Ranulph de Bayeux, a great Lincolnshire baron in the time of Henry I., and a benefactor to Newhus Abbey. He married Margaret, daughter of Alan de Lincoln, and had Hugh, Alan, and others.

Hugh, the second baron, held 'per baroniam' the barony de Baiocis, containing fourteen and a half knights' fees, the distribution of which appears in his return to Henry II., recorded in the Liber Niger.

He appears also in the various scutage lists in the reign of Henry II. and Richard I. He died about 8 Richard I. [1196], leaving Alienor, his widow, and two sons, John and Stephen. Alienor paid one hundred marks to marry as she pleased.

John succeeded as third baron, and was probably of age. 2 Henry III. 3 Henry III., the King respite the payment of his reliefs on succeeding. From hence to 9 Henry III., though twice charged with homicide, he was a justice itinerant. At the latter date, 1226, he was Constable of Plympton Castle in Devon; and next year is a charge for his messenger sent to the King. 18 Henry III. [1234] he is entered on the Fine Roll as "Baro." John died 33 Henry III. [1248], when his next heir was his brother Stephen, then above sixty years old. His lands 'in capite' were in Lincoln, Dorset, and Northampton.

Stephen, fourth and last baron, was an active and successful soldier, and, probably as a younger son, pushed his fortune in South Wales. He did homage as his brother's heir. On his succession, 33 Henry III. [1249], when the King, in whose favour he stood, remitted his reliefs for the counties of Lincoln and Dorset, he gave security for £100. 38 Henry III. he had the King's part of Kempston, Beds., and a part of Brixham in Devon. The earliest mention of Stephen in Wales is probably in the Rot. de Prestitis of 12 John [29th August, 1210], whence it appears that he was freed of two marks by the King, then at Margam. He must have been just of age. That he was Vicecomes of Glamorgan appears from the Charter given above, and from one by Owen and others, sons of Alaythur, to Margam, of which he is a witness. [Harl. Chart. 75 C. 25.] He was not then a knight. Meyrick says that Sir Stephen Bawson had a grant of Brigau, in Llansannor, from Richard Earl of Gloucester, and built a house there. He certainly held one and a half knights' fees in Hemingstrasse, co. Pembroke. T. Wykes calls him 'vir magne probitatis'; and the Oxney Chronicle, 'miles strenuissimus'; and both, with the Annals of Margam, relate his death in 1257. In that year, before St. Peter's Day, he took a share in an expedition of some magnitude, despatched by Henry III. to repel the Welsh, who had laid waste the Earl of Gloucester's lands, and probably those of Sir Stephen. The advance seems to have been mismanaged, and Sir Stephen and many other English were slain. This was probably in Carmarthenshire; but an effigy in Llansannor Church, the parish church of Brigau, is said to represent his person and cover his remains. Agnes, his widow, had in 1257 [41 Henry III.] a lease for six years, from the King, of the vill and hundred of Wotton, co. Oxon.

After Stephen's death two ladies appear upon the scene; but whether they were his children, or those of his brother John, has been doubted. Dugdale and most of the records give them to John. On the Rolls of Parliament they are attributed to Stephen. It appears from a document printed in 1871 in the Journal of the Archaeological Institute [p. 312], that they were really the children of John; but it was not till the failure of the male line that they became heirs of the barony. Of the two, Matilda was the elder; Joan the younger; but both were under age when Stephen died. The Welsh estates, being a male fief, escheated to the Lord of Glamorgan; but Agnes, the widow, had a third in dower.

The King granted the wardship of the nieces to Elias de Rabayne, who married the eldest daughter, and took the other abroad, where she married Baudret, an alien. Rabayne seems to have attempted to acquire the whole property, on the plea of the alienage of Baudret, who, however, surrendered his wife's half to the King, who seems already to have seized it in 1258. The result was a succession of lawsuits. Rabayne died, leaving children apparently; John, who had lands in Thoreswey, 9 Edward I.; Joan, to whom, on her marriage with Robert de Brakenbury, was given Kelleston, a part of the barony, which came to their son Robert; and apparently a third child, Matilda. Elias de Rabayne died before 1290, and his widow married Peter Mallory, a Justice of the Common Pleas under Edward I. and Edward II.; but a Peter de Rabayne, probably an uncle, was guardian of the infants, and died about 1 Edward III.

Joan left a son, Peter Baudret, a Poitevin, who claimed his mother's moiety from the crown without success. The other moiety was finally, 12 Edward II., confirmed to Peter de Rabayne either as trustee or as heir.

Rees Meyrick gives a different account from the above of the relations of Sir Stephen, whom he calls Bawson alias Bassing. He says he had issue, Thomas, whose daughter and heir, Elizabeth, married Sir Simon or Sir Adam Walsh, of Llandough, whose daughter and heir, Bettin, married Aaron ap Howell Vychau, and so on. If there be any truth in this statement, Thomas must have been a natural son, holding Brigan by special grant from the lord.

There is also an account of the family of Sir Stephen given by Prince in his Worthies of Devon, which differs materially from the above. He makes him son of Sir Guy Bawcen of Yardbiry, co. Devon, and calls the elder brother Sir Richard of Norton-Bawceyn. He also makes Sir Stephen die childless, and says the lands passed to his brother's only daughter, who married Sir Richard Hiwish. No mention is made of any connection with Lincolnshire. The two accounts have not been reconciled. The Devon family bore for arms, azure, two bars undy gules, a quarter sable. See DCXX.

In 1126 William de Kayrdif informed the Sheriff and Barons of the Comitatus of Cayrdif that he had given bail for Galfred ab Kneitho and his brother to the Abbot and Convent of Gloucester, to secure them against loss in the event of any forfeiture of the donation made to them. This is the earliest of the Comitatus, or as it is sometimes called the Parliamentum which formed a very important part of the Constitution of the lordship. It was a supreme court, both civil, criminal, and of record, the highest tribunal of appeal; independent of the royal courts, save in cases of high treason. It was composed of the lord's tenants 'in capite,' all more or less considerable landowners. The president was the lord's sheriff. There was a chancery and a great seal bearing the arms and effigy of the chief lord, and the usual place of meeting was in the shire hall then standing in the outer ward of the castle of Cardiff, where also stood the houses for the lodging of the military tenants when discharging their duty of castle-ward. Among other officers of the Comitatus were the chancellor, treasurer, coroner, and the escheator. The coroner was selected annually by the lord from those persons presented to him by the court, but it was a condition that he was a landowner in Kibor, and at his appointment two Kibor men, members of the court, were to be present. Also there were two bailiffs, and at a later period they were called bailiffs of the shire, one acting for the county east of Thaw, and one for the west of it. The first meeting, of which the date is recorded, was on Monday, the 10th May, 1249, to decide upon a question between the Abbot and Convent of Neath and Leysan ab Morgan, arising out of the shifting of the bed of the river Nedd. The members present were twenty-two, of whom fourteen were English, or rather Anglo-Normans, and seven, or perhaps eight, were Welsh, showing that the native Welsh, even at that early period, were allowed a fair share in the management of local matters.

In 1248, (see number DXXXV.), the court appears to have met at Esgelaers, showing that it could on occasion be ambulatory, a great concession to the convenience of the suitors and witnesses. The case too was trying to the independence of the court for it lay between the Earl Richard de Clare the official President and Richard Syward, a very considerable Baron. The proceedings shew the court to have been one of the best men, as well as of appeal and for criminal causes, as well as to seek in equity. The record preserved is of its meeting at the 'Cario Comitatus,' at Cardiff, on Monday, 12th September, 1228, to grant to Roger de Berkeholes, a license to marry to Wadousa, daughter of Richard Syward, the younger, a tennement in Mesthy Mawr [DCCCXXXVI.] Another meeting on record is that of Monday, 20th November, 1240, under Peter de Vele, sheriff, to hear a plea between the Abbot of Margam and John de Waledon [DCCCXLI.V.] Also on Monday, 3rd August, 1299, under Symon de Raleye, sheriff, one hundred members of the Court of whom four were clerks, met at the Bell of Tyrdith, having respected the office of coroner. He was punished by imprisonment. The sentence of the Court is sealed with 12 seals. [DCCXCVIII.]

On Monday, 1th June, 1243, under Richard de Grendon, Sheriff, to hear a plea read from the Earl to his Sheriff, and to William de Everton, Treasurer of Cardiff, as to the claim of the Abbot of Margam, to a right of wreck upon his foreshore [DCCCLXI]. As the Sheriff was sometimes called Sheriff of Cardiff, so the Treasurer was no doubt an officer of the Comitatus.

The family of Wallensis, or Le Walsh, whose name speaks their foreign origin, were early settlers at Llandough by Cowbridge, where they built the castle, and lie buried in the church.

Adam Waletis tests a Waleran Charter, in the collection of Major Francis, of about 1200; and Henricus Wallensis an Umfreville Charter of about the same date [73 D. 15]. A century later, in 1302, 'Dominus Johannes le Waleys, Knt.,' tests a Bonville Charter [75 B. 22]. In the Spenser Survey of 1320, Adam Welsh held one knight's fee in Llandocho and St. Mary Church.

According to the local genealogists the descent is as follows:

I.—Adam le Walsh, lord of Llandough, contemporary with John le Wales, 25 Edward I. He married Margaret, daughter and heir of Thomas Bosnaber, and had 1, Robert; 2, Beatrice, married Aaron ap Howell vachan.

II.—Robert le Walsh, living 20 Edward II., bore ermine a bend gules. Married Ann, daughter of Robert German, and had—1, Adam; 2, Sybil, married John de St. Mary Church of co. Pembroke.

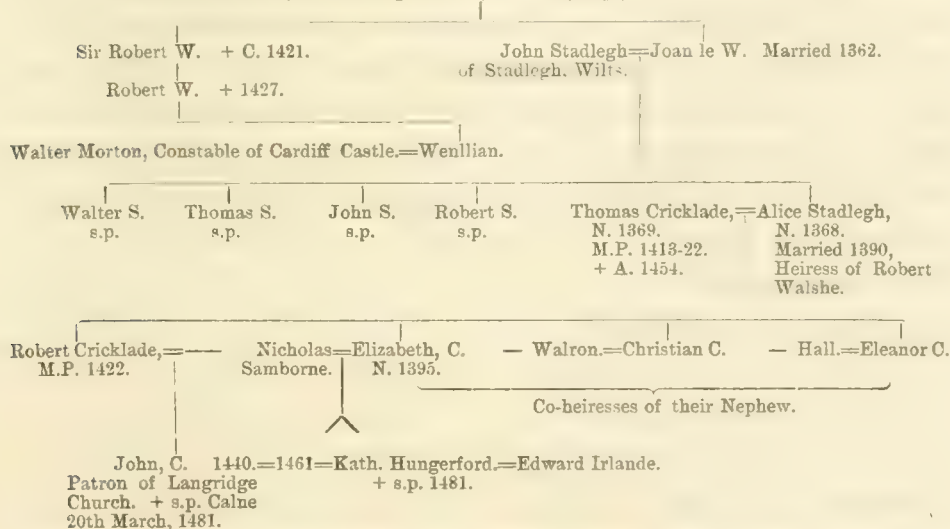

III.—Adam le Walsh, lord of Llandough and St. Mary Church, 1320. By writ dated Cardiff, 28th October, 1326, Adam le Walsh was ordered to raise four hundred foot-soldiers for the defence of the town and castle of Cardiff. [Writs. II., 453.]

The next descents are wanting, but there was a Sir Simon Walsh, Knt., lord of Llandough, who married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Bawson, of Brigan; a Robert Walsh, who witnessed a Kenfig Charter of 20 Richard II.; and another Robert, who lived 4 Henry V. and 1 Henry VI. The final representatives of the name were two sisters, Gwenllian or Bettina and Elizabeth.

Gwenllian Walsh, of Llandough, part of whose sepulchral brass remains in that church. She died 6 Henry VI., 1427, having married Walter or Watkin Morton, lord of Goston and constable of Cardiff Castle, 9 Henry V.

Elizabeth Walsh, of Llandough, St. Mary Church, and East Orchard, 7 Henry VI., final heiress, married John ab Anne or Van. Their son, Payne, Vicar of Marcross, seems to have sold Llandough and St. Mary Church to Sir William Thomas, 22 Henry VI.

Robert le Walshe, of Llandough, Glam., and Langridge, co. Som. + ante 1362.

In 1456 was a release of Langridge and St. Mary Church to William Herbert by Alice Cricklade.

Entitled—'Cyrographum filiorum Morgani ab Cadewathlan de warantizatione carte priscorum . Comes habet tertiam partem istius cyrographi.'

[See CCCCLXXXVI.] As early as 1208 the 'Pastur' Cadwathlani is mentioned in an arbitration between Margam and Neath as divided between them, and this was evidently the donation confirmed to Margam by Morgan ab Cadwathlan in 1220, and defined in a later Charter as common of pasture, and again in three other Charters in which he promises protection, which is finally specified to cover the grange of Egliskeinwir and to be against the attacks of the men of Brecknock and Senghenydd, and the sons of Seisil ab Lowar.

The sons of Morgan ab Cadwathlan, Owen Creich, and Morgan, confirmed their father's gifts of common of pasture, and are mentioned in an Extent of Glamorgan, among the 'noviter feofati' as holding half a common in Glin Rotheni (Glyn Rhondda) by no service, but subject to the heriot of a horse and arms at death. Morgan was evidently a power among the Welsh in the hill-country [CCCLXIII., CCCLXIX.]

Legend—‘SIGIL DE LONDINIIS.’

The family of De Londres were early, perhaps original, settlers under Fitzhamon upon the lower Ogmore, where they held four fees and built a castle, of which the square keep, in the late Norman style, still remains. The Batlers of Dunraven were their vassals; and they seem already to have held large possessions in Carmarthenshire, where they acquired or built Kidwelly Castle and the lordship of Carnwylhion. Of this family, Maurice gave land in Aisse, or Nash, to Neath before 9 John; and about 1200 the church of Colwinston to the church and monks of St. Michael's of Ogmore [Ewenny Priory], which was founded, in 1141, as a cell to Gloucester, by Sir John de Londres [N. Mon., V., 58; L., 537; Cott. Cart. XL., 24]. William was brother to Richard, and tested a Charter to Neath by Henry, Earl of Warwick [Coll. Top. et Gen., 29]. It is curious that the family are not included in the list of fees in 1262, but the name is of frequent occurrence both here and in Berks till Hawisia de Londres, heiress of the Welsh and Berks estates, conveyed them by marriage to the Chaworth or De Cadurcis family; her son, Pagan de Chaworth, coming into possession on her death, 2 Edward I. Maud, the heiress of Chaworth and of the four fees, married Henry Earl of Lancaster, grandson of Henry III.; and her granddaughter, Blanche, carried the Welsh estates to her husband, John of Gaunt. They have since merged in the Duchy of Lancaster, of which the old De Londres Castle of Ogmore, with a large upland estate, is still held.

This is a Charter preserved by its inclusion in a letter patent. William de Londres' mother, whose name is not given, and his brother Thomas, were then alive. William de Londres gives what he had between the Ogwr and the Garw, probably the hamlet of Ynisawdre, which is included by them at their junction. Rotheni no longer appears on the map, for which Margam is to pay three marks annually. The timber seems to have been valuable. Peter Pincerna, who witnesses, is not at this time sheriff. Ralf and William de Cantelo are no doubt of Cantleston. Gundi, is unknown. Owen le Noreys possibly of Penllyn; Pagan and Gilbert de Turbervill of Coyty.

Ut autem hec mea concessio et confirmacio firma et stabilis in perpetuum perseveret presens scriptum sigilli mei impressione roboravi. Hiis testibus.

Entitled—'Carte Ricardi Pincerne de xx^{ti}. iiii^{or}. acris apud Marcross.'

Richard Pincerna appears in a Neath Charter in 1249 [DXXXVII]. He was grandson of Philip de Marcross, who died after 1230. William Pincerna witnessed the foundation Charter of Neath circa 1129. Peter Pincerna was Sheriff circa 1249. and Dominus Mauricius Pincerna had land in Siginston, near Marcross, from Hugh de Sigin. [LXVII., CCL., DXLIV., DCXXIV.]

Philip de Marcross, the earliest of the name on record, is mentioned by Giraldus as attending on Henry II. about 1189. Mr. Traherne records an agreement between W. de Barri and John de la Mare, witnessed by this Philip in 1201, as is a Barry Charter to Neath before 1207 [75 B. 5 b.], and a Charter to Margam, granted by W. de Londres about 1210 [CLX.]. Philip also witnessed a final concord between Gilbert de Turberville and Margam about the same time.

This Philip seems to have lived to see his son Philip of mature age, since Philip senior and junior witness together the above composition between Margam and Helias, clerk of Newcastle, without date, but early in the thirteenth century, and one or the other gave 10s. rent for Neath and to Margam for a light to burn at the purification of the Virgin Mary. Mr. Traherne mentions a Walter de Marcross, who witnessed a grant by Thomas Lawilis, of uncertain date.

Nec licet predicto RICARDO et h. s. v. s. a. predictum burgagium cum predictis c. et p. conjunctim aut divisim totum aut aliquam partem sine consilio et assensu predictorum abbatis et conventus de MARGAN vendere distrahere aut alicui alienaret.¹ Et ut hec nostra donacio concessio et confirmacio rata stabilis et inconcussa permaneat . nos presens scriptum sigilli nostri inpressione roboravimus.

Hiis testibus et cet.

Above the entry of this Charter is written :—‘Hanc ipse Jacobus habet . reddet III^{or}. sol. ad festum Michaelis.’

(1) sic, MS.

Portskewit, a village on the Severn, in Monmouthshire, does not appear to have given a name permanently to any known family. Abbot Thomas probably came from thence, and so we may suppose did William Portechewet, who witnessed a notification by Pagan de Turberville, without date.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN MARGAM ABBEY AND KAERLION CONCERNING LAND BETWEEN THE TAF AND DUFLEIS.

[MARGAM CHARTER.]

COMPOSITIO INTER DOMUM DE MARGAN ET DOMUM DE KAIRLEON.

In nomini patris et filii et spiritus sancti Amen. Convenit inter domum de MARGAN et domum de KAIRLEON super terris et pasturis inter TAF et DUFLEIS propinquiorem . quod domus de MARGAN adquirit sibi in proprietatem vel ad firmam quicquid sibi adquirere poterit de FRANCIS et ANGLIS . domus de KAIRLEON nichil nisi communem pasturam et pratum et terram DUC de feudo DOGEFEL et burgagia infra villam quocunque eis data fuerint. Item domus de KAIRLEON adquirit sibi in proprietatem vel ad firmam quicquid sibi adquirere poterit de WALLENSIBUS . domus de MARGAN nichil nisi communem pasturam et boscum infra predictos terminos.

Teste LUCA monacho et RICHERO monacho de MARGAN . YSAAC . KNAITHERO monachis de KAIRLEON . JORDANO . ERNALDO conversis de MARGAN . ROLLANO . RANDULFO . WASTELIO . KADRODO conversis de KARLEON.

The Duffels or Dubieis is thought by some not to be the Dowlais, a tributary of the Ely, near Llantrissant, but a brook of that name which flows into the river Rhymney, near Cardiff. Dogefel is probably the manor of Roath Dogfield, which however lies east of Cardiff, and between the Taff and the Rhymney. The distinction between a pusinas from the French, and the English, that is the invaders, and the Welsh is remarkable.

A similar agreement was arrived at between the same Houses as regarded the land between the Nedd and the Taph. Rotheni Mawr in that agreement is evidently the greater Rhondda, Hyrwenunworgan the well known common of Hirwaun Wrgan, and Magna Pola, the great pool there, all of which lie about the head waters or branches of the Taff and the Nedd.

For the Agreement dated 1208 see CCLXXXIV., see also DLXXX.

RATIFICATION BY THE GENERAL CHAPTER OF CITEAUX, OF AN AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE ABBOTS OF MARGAM
AND CAERLYON, RESPECTING COMMON OF PASTURE
AT HYRWENWORGAN.

[HARL. CHARTER, 75 A. 6.]

1253.

Universis CHRISTI fidelibus presens scriptum visuris vel auditoris. Frater B[onifatius] dictus abbas CISTERCIENSIS totusque conventus abbatum capituli generalis rei geste noticiam cum salute.

Universitati vestre presentibus innotescat quod nos sententiam a venerabilibus coabbatibus nostris de BILDEWAS de BRUERA et de KYNGESWODE iudicibus a capitulo generali constitutis in causa que vertebatur inter abbatiam de MARGAN ex una parte et abbatiam de KERLYON ex altera rite ac judicialiter latam prout inferius continetur partibus presentibus ac consentientibus auctoritate dicti capituli duximus roborandam.

Omnibus sancte matris ecclesie filiis presens scriptum visuris vel auditoris. de BILDEWAS. de BRUERE. de KYNGESWODE abbatibus salutem in domino sempiternam. Quoniam quecumque a mortalibus geruntur nisi ad posterorum memoriam litterarum diligentia scripto commenduntur ceca oblivione perire dinoscuntur universis presentibus et futuris que per nos auctoritate capituli generalis inter domos de MARGAN et KERLYON sentencialiter terminata sunt presenti scripto propalare decrevimus. Cum enim ad petitionem abbatis de MARGAN dati fuisset iudices a capitulo generali super communia pasture de HYRWENWORGAN, unde nobis liquido constabat per retroacta alias hinc motam fuisse questionem et eandem amabili concordia per compositionem inter partes factam fuisse sopitam. Sed eam postea ex parte dictorum abbatis et conventus de KERLYON minus integre observatam. Nos convocatis rite partibus in ecclesia cathedrali WYGORNE anno domini m^o cc^o l^o tereio, feria secunda post clausum Pasche, propositis utrimque proponendis, testibus admissis et attestacionibus puplicatis, cartis et scriptis inter partes confectis, lectis, et sane intellectis, assidentibus nobiscum venerabilibus patribus de DORA de TINTERNA abbatibus neenon et aliis discretis nostri ordinis personis dictam controversiam auctoritate capituli generalis quaungebamur in hac parte per sententiam diffinitivam cum nullatenus licet per nos plurimum esset elaboratum amicabilem posset finem sortiri hoc modo terminavimus. Primo scilicet irrefragabiliter censuimus compositionem inter dietas domos anno domini m^o. cc^o. iiij^o. de dicta pastura et possessionibus aliis factam perpetuis fore temporibus inviolabiliter observandam. Secundo quod abbas et conventus de MARGAN dicta pastura de HYRWENWORGAN omnibus anni temporibus die noctuque ubique libere et pacifice cum omni genere animalium utantur. Et ut litis in posterum tollatur occasio, dicte commune terminos per has divisas facta prius inde diligenti inquisitione per viros religiosos et fidedignos duximus h[oc modo de]clarare videlicet a magna pola ubi WRELECH oritur per aquam de WRELECH tendendo usque in fluvium de NETH versus septemtrionem, et per fluvium de NETH tendendo versus orientem usque ad REDEVAYN et a RE[DEVAYN] usque ad fines BRECONIE et inde versus austrum tendendo usque ad rivulum CANAN et per rivulum CANAN usque de ABERDAR et ab ABERDAR directe versus occidentem usque ad PUTHLADAR et a PUTHLADAR usque ad cilium montis, et per cilium montis directe tendendo versus occidentem usque ad predictam magnam polam. Quicquid infra hos terminos continetur dictis abbati et conventui de MARGAN in communem pasturam adjudicavimus exceptis mansioni et bosco de BOLCHOYTH et centum acris eidem mansioni contiguis in loco dumtaxat abbati et conventui de MARGAN minus nocenti, et unica tantum domo apud ESTUNWRELECH in qua nullus maneat religiosus nec aliqua ibi excepta tantum trium acrarum quantitate, circa eandem domum fiat clausura. Tercio quod sepes fossata clausure et alia quelibet edificia per ipsos de KERLYON constructa preter prenominata penitus amoveantur. Quarto et ultimo quod si aliquis monachus vel conversus dictorum domorum contra hanc sententiam venire presumpserit sine omni excusacione et dilacione a[u]toritate ordinis a domo propria penitus emittatur; non reversurus nisi de licentia capituli generalis. Et ut hec sententia diffinitiva firmitatis robur optineat imperpetuum nos eam in scripto redactam sigillorum nostrorum impressione roboravimus. Antedictis vero iudicibus committit iterato capitulum generale eisdem firmiter injungendo ut sicut in dicta causa super principali laudabiliter processerunt: ita super accessoriis videlicet super expensis factis et dampnis illatis domui de MARGAN ejusdem auctoritate capituli juris ordine observato procedant prout fuerit procedendum facientes quod decreverint per censuram sordini irrefragabiliter observari. Quod si omnes hiis exequendis interesse non poterint: duo ea nichilominus fideliter exequantur. Datum CISTERCII anno domini M^o CC^o L^o IIJ^o tempore capituli generalis.

* + SIGILLVM . ABBATIS . CISTERCIENSIS.*

[Birch, Catal. of Seals in Brit. Mus., Vol. V., No. 18,526.]

The Wreoch has no name in the ordnance map, but is evidently indicated by the names of Blaen Gwrelech and Ystin Gwrelech upon a small stream near Pont Wniby and Aber Gwrelech at the junction of the same stream with the Nedd. In fact, the boundaries are pretty much those of the common at this day. The mansion and wood of Bolchoyd may be Bolgoeth, or Bolgoed, a property near Hirwain-Wrgan, known now as Hirwain, above the town of Aberdare. The Conan, or Cwnon, is the river which receives the Dare at the town of Aberdare.

There was also a Michael Tosard, who held one-sixth of a knight's fee in Llentwit at the partition of the de Clare estates, about 1316. There was also a Henry Thusard, whose name may be mis-spelt, who was clerk to Wilham, Earl of Gloucester, who requires the abbot and convent of Margam to allow him to erect a church at Kenfig, upon certain specified conditions (CX.). William Tosard was, upon a Llentwit jury in an extent of that manor about 1262-6, and he witnessed a charter by a Hugh Sigin, granting land in Siginston to Maurice Pincerna.

North and South Cornely or Cornelan are villages in the parish of Pyle, a short distance east of Kenfig. There was a chapel of Cornely granted to Tewkesbury by William, Earl of Gloucester, and confirmed by Bishop Nicholas of Llandaff, 1153—1183. The two were called parishes (See No. M^oCCCL.) probably inaccurately. The manor of Cornely was held in 1597 by Jenkin Turberville of Penlyne. North Cornely was held of the lord, in the lordship of Kenfig, in free socage and fealty at a quit rent. Corneldune occurs in the charters as near Sturmy Moor.

Thomas de Cornely gave ten acres in Cornely to Neath before 1208. His name frequently occurs as a witness about 1253—1258. There occur also Edward and Wronn de Cornely. Philip was party in 1257 to an exchange with Margam of land near the chapel, and with the consent of Amabilie, his wife, he granted his minerals of iron and lead at Cornely to Margam. Maurice occurs in 1264.

William de Corneli, of Cornely.

Philip de Cornely—Amabilie

The earliest record of the name Cornely is that of William, which occurs between 1149—1183. Bishop Nicholas 1153—1183, confirms to Tewkesbury its Glamorgan benefices, including 'Capella de Corneli que est Villa Thom,' [CXXXVI.], possibly so called from Thomas de Cornely, who witnessed various Charters from 1187—1200, and who gave to Neath the ten acres of arable land in his fee of Cornely. This gift was confirmed by King John in 1208 [CCCXVIII.].

William de Corneli may have been a son of Thomas. He occurs chiefly as a witness to Charters connected with Margam or its neighbourhood from 1202 to 1300—1321, so that there may have been two of the name, probably father and son.

Then occurs Philip, son of William de Corneli, who witnesses a convention between Margam and W. Frankelein; and again in 1257. He occurs also in 1253, 1258, 1261-62, and in 1257 was himself party to a convention with Margam concerning an exchange of lands, his wife Amabel was then living. He gave Margam the lease of iron and lead mines in Corneli. Maurice Corneli was living in 1264 and 1283.

Legend—' MA '

Frankelin, or Franklin, is a name of early and continual occurrence in the western part of the county about Cornellau, and in Gower. William Frankeleyn of Goylake, is party to a convention with Margam, in 1208, and occurs as free as 1267, chiefly as a witness to local charters, especially those connected with the family of Gramus, with whom the Frankeleyn's seem to have intermarried. Others as Adam, John, and, William, held land at Bonvilleston, and Thomas, Henry, John, Matthew and Robert occur in Gower about 1641.

John Frankelin Hên was of Pwede-Braose. Thomas was Abbot of Margam in 1450, and confirmed a donation to the abbey in Caerwiggau.

The Gower branch migrated recently and still remain at Clemenston. Another branch settled in Carmarthenshire, of whom Walter practised in the Marches Court at Ludlow; and Thomas was Rector of Charlton, in Hants, in 1685.

Harl. Charter 75 A. 39 is the counterpart, with the seal of William de Boneville used by William Frankelin. See Bren. Hist. of Margam Abbey, p. 130.

This Charter is attested by five of the earliest and most prominent of the followers of Fitz Hamon : St. Quintin, de Londres, de Sully, Fleming, and Cantilupe ; de Londres being quite at their head in both wealth and importance [see No. CLX.]. St. Quintin and Cantilupe, cadets of great English families, and Sully and Fleming in the first rank of the local Baronage. For St. Quintin see No. CCXCI.

William de Cantilo, or Cantilupe, bore a name very widely known throughout the Welsh Marches ; but the actual connexion of the family of Gower and Cantilupeston with the Barons Cantilupe and the canonized bishop of Hereford, has not been ascertained, although various circumstances, besides the peculiarity of the name and arms, render the connexion more than probable.

Sir William Cantilupe of Cattleston or Trecantilo Castle, in Merthyr Mawr, is reputed ancestor of William, Elias, and William, three generations allied by various ties with Dunstanville of Cornwall, Umphraville, Vaughan, Butler, de Londres, and de Breese of Glamorgan and Gower. Robert de Cantelow tested a Gower deed in 1304, and a Margam charter [75 A. 43] in 1308. The Welsh pedigrees deduce the Lords Cantilupe of Abergavenny from this ancestry ; but this is exceedingly improbable, and the reverse is more likely to be true. It seems certain that Cattleston, Newton, and Cornellau, were conveyed in marriage by Joan, the Cantilupe heiress, to Horton, whose granddaughter, Janet, daughter of Jenkin Horton, married Richard, and was mother of the well known Sir Matthew Cradock of New Place in Swansea.

ALEXANDER episcopus servus servorum Dei . dilectis filiis . abbati monasterii Sancti MARIE de MARGAN ejusque fratribus tam presentibus quam futuris regularem vitam professis . in perpetuum.

Religiosam vitam eligentibus apostolicum convenit adesse presidium ne forte cujuslibet temeritatis incursas aut eos a proposito revocet . aut robur quod absit sacre religionis infringat . Ea propter dilecti in Domino filii vestris justis postu-

In primis siquidem statuentes ut ordo monasticus qui secundum Deum et beati BENEDICTI regulam atque institutionem CISTERCIENSIIUM fratrum a vobis ante concilium generale susceptam in eodem monasterio institutus esse dinoscitur perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter observetur. Preterea quascumque possessiones . quecumque bona ibidem monasterium impresentiarum juste ac canonice possidet . aut in futurum concessione pontificum . largitione regum . vel principum oblatione fidelium . seu aliis justis modis prestante domino poterit adipisci firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata permaneant. In quibus hec propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis. Sane laborum vestrorum de possessionibus habitis ante concilium generale . ac etiam novalium que propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis . de quibus novalibus aliquis hactenus non percepit sive de ortis . virgultis . et piscationibus vestris vel de nutrimentis animalium vestrorum nullus a vobis decimas exigere vel extorquere presumat. Liceat quoque vobis clericos vel laicos liberos et absolutos e seculo fugientes ad conversionem recipere . et eos absque contradictione aliqua retinere. Prohibemus insuper ut nulli fratrum vestrorum post factam in monasterio vestro professionem fas sit sine abbatis sui licentia de eodem loco discedere . discedentem vero absque communium litterarumstrarum cautione nullus audeat retinere. Quod si quis forte retinere presumpserit . licitum vobis sit in ipsos monachos vel conversos regularem sententiam promulgare. Illud districtius inhibentes . ne terras seu quodlibet beneficium ecclesie vestre collatum liceat alicui personaliter dari sive alio modo alienari . absque consensu totius capituli . vel majoris aut sanioris partis ipsius. Si que vero donationes aut alienationes aliter quam dictum est facte fuerint . eas irritas esse censemus. Ad hec etiam prohibemus . ne aliquis monachus sive conversus sub professione vestre domus astrictus sine consensu et licentia abbatis et majoris partis capituli vestri pro aliquo fidejubeat vel ab aliquo pecuniam mutuo accipiat ultra summam capituli vestri providentia constitutam . nisi propter manifestam domus vestre utilitatem. Quod si facere forte presumpserit . non teneatur conventus pro hiis aliquatenus respondere. Licitum preterea sit vobis in causis propriis . sive civilem sive criminalem contineant questionem . fratrum vestrorum testimoniis uti ne pro defectu testium jus vestrum in aliquo valeat deperire. Insuper auctoritate apostolica prohibemus . ne ullus episcopus vel quelibet alia persona ad synodos vel conventus forenses vos ire . vel iudicio seculari de vestra propria substantia vel possessionibus vestris subjacere compellat . nec ad domos vestras causa ordines celebrandi . causas tractandi . vel aliquos conventus publicos convocandi . venire presumat . nec regularem electionem abbatis vestri impediat . aut de instituendo vel removendo eo qui pro tempore fuerit . contra statuta CISTERCIENSIS ordinis se aliquatenus intromittat. Si vero episcopus in cujus parrochia domus vestra fundata est cum humilitate ac devotione qua convenit requisitus . substitutum abbatem benedicere . et alia que ad officium episcopale pertinent vobis conferre renuerit . licitum sit eidem abbati . si tamen sacerdos fuerit . proprios novicios benedicere . et alia que ad officium suum pertinent exercere . et vobis omnia ab alio episcopo percipere . que a vestro fuerint indebite denegata. Pro consecrationibus vero altarium vel ecclesiarum sive pro oleo sancto vel quolibet ecclesiastico sacramento nullus a vobis sub obtentu consuetudinis vel alio modo quicquam audeat extorquere . sed hec omnia gratis vobis episcopus diocesanus impendat. Alioquin liceat vobis quemcumque malueritis catholicum adire autistitem gratiam et communionem apostolice sedis habentem qui nostra fretus auctoritate vobis quod postulatur impendat. Quod si sedes diocesani episcopi forte vacaverit interim omnia ecclesiastica sacramenta a vicinis episcopis accipere libere et absque contradictione possitis. Sic tamen . ut ex hoc in posterum proprio episcopo nullum prejudicium generetur. Quia vero interdum proprii episcopi copiam non habetis . si quem episcopum ROMANE sedis ut diximus gratiam et communionem habentem . et de quo plenam notitiam habeatis per vos transire contigerit . ab eo benedictionem vasorum et vestium . consecrationes altarium . et ordinationes monachorum auctoritate apostolice sedis recipere valeatis. Porro si episcopi vel alii ecclesiarum rectores in monasterium vestrum vel personas inibi constitutas suspensionis . excommunicationis vel interdicti sententiam promulgaverint . sive etiam in mercennarios vestros pro eo quod decimas sicut dictum est non persolvitis . sive aliqua occasione eorum . que ab apostolica benignitate vobis indulta sunt . seu benefactores vestros pro eo quod aliqua vobis beneficia vel obsequia ex caritate prestiterint . vel ad laborandum adjuverint in illis diebus in quibus vos laboratis et alii feriantur eandem sententiam protulerint . ipsam tanquam contra sedis apostolice indulta prolatam decernimus irritandam. Nec littere ille firmitatem habeant . quas tacito nomine CISTERCIENSIS ordinis et contra indulta apostolicorum privilegiorum constiterit impetrari. Preterea cum commune interdictum terre fuerit . liceat vobis nichilominus in vestro monasterio exclusis excommunicatis et interdictis . divina officia celebrare. Paci quoque et tranquil-litati vestre paterna in posterum sollicitudine providere volentes . auctoritate apostolica prohibemus . ut infra clausuras locorum seu grangiarumstrarum nullus rapinam seu furtum facere . ignem apponere . sanguinem fundere . hominem temere capere vel interficere . seu violentiam audeat exercere. Preterea omnes libertates et immunitates a predecessoribus nostris ROMANIS pontificibus ordini vestro concessas . necnon libertates et exemptiones secularium exactionum a regibus et principibus vel aliis fidelibus rationabiliter vobis indultas auctoritate apostolica confirmamus et presentis scripti privilegio communimus.

Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat prefatum monasterium temere perturbare aut ejus possessiones auferre vel ablatas retinere . minuere . seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare . sed omnia integra conserventur . eorum pro quorum gubernatione ac sustentatione concessa sunt usibus omnimodis profutura. Salva sedis apostolice auctoritate in predictis decimis moderatione concilii generalis. Si qua igitur in futurum ecclesiastica secularisve persona hanc nostre constitutionis paginam sciens . contra eam temere venire temptaverit secundo tertiove commonita nisi reatum suum congrua satisfactione correxerit . potestatis honorisque sui careat dignitate . reamque se divino judicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat . et a sacratissimo corpore et sanguine Dei et domini redemptoris nostri JHESU CHRISTI aliena fiat . atque in extremo examine districtae subjaceat ultioni. Cunctis autem eidem loco sua jura servantibus sit pax domini nostri JHESU CHRISTI quatinus et hic fructum bonae actionis percipiant et apud districtum judicem premia eterne pacis inveniant. Amen. Of the Odyns very little is known, but the name Odyn is peculiar, and they may have bestowed it upon the small sub-manor in Penmark, known as Odyn Fee, which has also, with less probability, been attributed to Odo le Sor.

Henry Odin was a juror for the Extent of Cardiff in circa 1262, and also witnesses a Charter.

In 1339, Joan, widow of Robert le Soor, held land in Penmark. She was the daughter of Thomas Odyn [DCCCCLXXII.]

John Odyn held a burgess in Cardiff in 1290, and witnessed Charters in 1290 [DUCLXII.] and in 1313 [DCCCLXXXIX.]

Constantinestun or Coston is a parish or manor on the Ely, not far from Cardiff, probably so called from the Constantine family, of whom Gilbert de Constantine tested a quit claim [OXXXI.] by Keneithur ab Herbert, circa 1151; circa 1262 the heir of Gilbert held a fee in Constantinestun, valued at £10, and one third part of a fee in Llanmais, at 100s., of which Walter de Sully held two parts at £10, so that the whole fee stood at £15. Robert de Constantin, in 1166, was charged scutage under William Earl of Gloucester, for one knight, as was Galfrid de Constantine, in 1211-12; he also held Orchardston, Wilts, of the Honour of Gloucester. Also a Charter without date [OCXXXVI.] by Gilbert, bestows on St. Augustine, in Bristol, a pasture in the Marsh, between Taff and Ely, in exchange for a messuage in Bristol.

St. Nicholas, formerly Llanellydd, includes that very ancient hamlet of Dyffryn or Tref Golych, afterwards Worleton. Ralph Button, living 39 Edward III., married a de la Bere. Their grandson is said to have married the heiress of Worleton. They ended in Martin Button, who died childless, 1767, when the estate was sold. A cadet branch remained a few years longer at Cottrell in the same parish. Tewkesbury had two parts of the tythe of the Lordship of St. Nicholas.

Penmark Place, now a farm house, is in part old. It stands within its own manor, and has always been a distinct property. The old house was much altered by the Tyntes. It contains some old oak panelling, and parts of the walls are very thick. Sir Thomas Lewis, of Van, purchased it from the Broadripps, about 1615—1616, and settled it upon a younger son.

Sir Robert Noreys or Norris, the Earl's Vice-Comes, was one of Fitzhamon's followers, and he or his father are reputed to have had a grant of the manor, and to have built the rectangular keep at Penllyne, the fragment of which is probably the oldest bit of military masonry in the County. [See DCXLIV.]

John, son of R. le Butiler, was the father of William and of two daughters. William died before 47 Henry III., and left Joan who died under age, when the estate was contested by three ladies, two daughters of the younger William, and their aunt a daughter of the elder William. How the matter was settled does not appear, but 'pendente lite,' the Earl of Gloucester as chief lord held the Glamorgan property. There was also a suit in Wilts, 27 Henry III., as to the dower, in Wilts, of Wentlehand [Wenllian], widow of Robert le Butiler, who held Poulton, 'et fuit anglicus.' His heir was his younger brother Baldwin.

Of William le Butiler's heiresses, one married a de la Bere, and John de la Bere held half the Marcross fee in 1320, his widow and heiress married Elias Bassett of St. Hilary.

This is the earliest Extent or Survey of Glamorgan which has yet been discovered, and probably the earliest now in existence. Though not dated, it is one of a roll of ten documents relating to the same county, also without date, but which are referred to in the Calendar as of the 8th year of Edward I. Before admitting the precise correctness of this date, explanation is needed how it happened that an inquest undertaken, as some of these are stated to be, and this, from its company, probably was, 'per preceptum domini Regis' should go forward when the lordship was not in the hands of the Crown. Gilbert the Red, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, son and heir of Earl Richard by his second wife Matilda, daughter of John de Lacy, Earl of Lincoln, on the death of his father, 46 Henry III., was of full age, as appears by his having livery at once of the inheritance, which he held unmolested till the 18th of Edward I. In that year in consequence of a breach of the peace between Earl Gilbert and the Earl of Hereford, and of an impending marriage with the king's daughter, Earl Gilbert surrendered his estates to the king, who immediately regranted them, on his marriage, with a new settlement.

The Earl died 24 Edward I., leaving his son and heir, Gilbert, the last Earl, then five years of age. Hence the royal precept is not likely to bear date the 8th of Edward I., but may have been issued in the very short interval between the surrender and the re-grant, 18 Edward I., or during the subsequent minority, which lasted from the 24th of Edward I. to the 4th of Edward II., 1295—1311; or, finally, which is perhaps most probable, the Inquisition may have been taken in 46th of Henry III., 1262, on the death of Earl Richard, notwithstanding the majority of his son, and before his livery was granted.

The names of the twelve jurors are written on the ends of the slender labels cut from the deed, and still pendent to it, and which bore the small seals now lost. The writing is evidently of the date of the deed, and may have been written to guide those who sealed. The total of fees appears to be thirty-six-and-a-quarter and one-tenth with a value, supposing £30 to be added for the three fees in St. Nicholas, of £518, besides £42 5s. for wardships and perquisites. There are two other returns with which to compare these figures, an Escheat of 35 Edward I. printed in the I.P.M. for that year, and an Extent of the reign of Edward III. taken by Hugh le Despenser. The former gives on addition thirty-six fees one quarter and one-tenth, and the latter a sum of thirty-six-and-a-half and one-tenth, to which, however, the addition of the items does not correspond. The Escheat roll gives no values, but the later survey gives figures which amount only to £349 10s., and 20 marks, a considerable falling off. This, however, is probably nominal only, and due to the omission of entries, for most of the fees given are set down as producing as much or more than is credited to them in the earlier Survey.

The tradition of the county has steadily asserted that Fitzhamon, upon his conquest in 1091, parcelled out the low lands, those between the mountains and the sea, and from the Rhymny to the Nedd, between the twelve principal followers to whom he owed his victory, leaving to the native lords, or to such as, however unwillingly, accepted his rule, the less fertile and less accessible hill country to the north. That this was the general policy pursued is certain enough, as well as that the fees created paid some kind of military service to Cardiff Castle; but that there were precisely twelve tenants-in-chief, and that they were the knights whose names and holdings are usually given, is opposed to positive evidence. The present survey goes some way towards supplying an account of the actual state of things, and hence its peculiar value in the history of Glamorgan.

The knights recorded by tradition are De Londres of Ogmores, De Granville of Neath, De Turberville of Coyty, St. Quintin of Llanblethian, Siward of Talavan, Umfreville of Penmark, Sully of Sully, Berkrolles of East Orchard, Le Sore of St. Fagans and Peterston, Fleming of Wenvoe, Llanmaes, and Flemingston, St. John of Fonmon, and Stradling of St. Donats.

Of these there is evidence that De Granville founded Neath Abbey with his portion, and he seems to have retired very early to his richer and more secure fief at Bideford in Devon. St. Quintin is said to have failed in the male line, and to have disappeared during the reign of Henry III. Probably he was of the family which gave name to Frome St. Quintin and other manors in Wilts, but no evidence has been produced of this, or to show that he was, as usually stated, the ancestor of the heir general who intermarried with the Herberts.

This leaves ten of the twelve knights to be accounted for, and of them six are found in the present record, namely, De Londres of Ogmores, De Turberville of Coyty, Umfreville of Penmark, Sully of Sully, Le Sore of St. Fagans, and, in the list of jurors, Fleming.

Of the other four, Daniel Siward, was doubtless of the family of Siward of Talavan, an important barony, then, it is presumed, in the hands of the chief lord by the forfeiture of Richard Siward, and therefore not here set down. The outline of the castle is preserved, and the name of the family exists in the meadow near, still called "Maes Siward."

The Stradlings are always counted among the very earliest settlers. This document, however, shows that St. Donats was then held by Thomas Hawey, not as he held Marcross, for another person, but as his own. Sir Peter Stradling, about the close of the reign of Henry III., married Joan, daughter and heir of Thomas Hawey of Comb-Hawey or Hay, co. Somerset, and is always supposed to have been himself of St. Donats. But that Thomas was not a mere feoffee for his grandson is evident, not only by the distinction taken between his tenure of St. Donats and Marcross, but by a Plea in Michaelmas term, 15—16

Edward I., by which Earl Gilbert de Clare claimed the marriage of the heir of John or Thomas de Hauweye [Hawey] against the Lady Berchamp, of Somerset, on the ground that Hawey held lands under him at St. Donats. [Abb. Placit., p. 213.]

The Stradlings appear to have held lands in Warwickshire. Dugdale mentions John de Strattelienges and Maud his wife (7 Edward I.), as of Whellesborne Hastang or Parva, and as having a grant of a market there (18 Edward I.), also (21 Edward I.), the Lord John de Stratelynges or Estradlynges, was lately deceased, and owed £200 to the Lucca merchants. His pledges were Gerard de Winstane (?) Archdeacon of Richmond, and Walter de Langton, Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry. There was also a Thomas Esteling, who witnessed a charter by the Earl of Leicester before 1167. In 50 Henry III., Roger Stratle and Matilda, his wife, and Richard de la Bere and Alicia, his wife, had seizin of their wives' lands. On 9th January, 1296, Matilda and Margaret de Stratelyng, were going to Brabant with Margaret, the king's daughter. In 1298 Peter de Stratelyng was in Ireland, Joan, his wife, who was evidently an heiress [Cal. of P. Books, 1292—1301,] was also going there. It is possible that this is the Joan, daughter of Thomas de Hawey, the owner of St. Donats, and that Peter de Stratelyng is the same person as Sir Peter Stradling, who acquired St. Donats, and also Comb-Hawey in Somerset, by this marriage. His descendants remained at St. Donats until 1738, when they became extinct in the male line.

The extinction of the main line of the Stradlings, and the contest that arose between the claimants under the Will of the last baronet, the next of kin, and heirs-at-law, are embodied in the record of a very memorable suit-at-law, followed by the partition of the estates. These were the castles of St. Donats, Sully, East Orchard, and Penllyne, and the manors of St. Donats, Sully, Monknash, East Orchard, Merthyr Mawr, West Orchard, Castleton, Court Llanfey, Gileston, Merthyr Parva, Penllyne, Gorton, and Langan. Also lands and tenements in the above manors, in Ewenny, St. Brides Major, Tythegston, St. Tathan, Marcross, Llantwit Major, Coyty, Llandeudwg, Llansannor, and the towns of Cardiff and Cowbridge, besides various tythes and advowsons and rights of fishing and other manorial rights; also lands in Somerset.

Sir Thomas Stradling, the last baronet, made a Will in March, 1735, and died coelebs, 16th September, 1738. By a deed indented 2nd and 3rd March, 1735, he passed his estate to Richard Hyett, his steward, as tenant, with a view to a common recovery, which he suffered at the ensuing Great Sessions at Cardiff, 22nd April, 1736, by which the estates were supposed to be enured to the use of Sir Thomas and his assigns for ever. On the day following the indenture, 4th March, 1735, Sir Thomas Stradling made his Will, leaving his estates as follows:—(1) to his mother for life; (2) to the second and other sons of Bussy Mansel in tail male; (3) failing them, to Bussy Mansel for life; (4) failing him, to John de la Fontaine Tyrwhit, in tail male; (5) the remainder over to the right heirs of his own mother, Dame Elizabeth; also £10,000 to trustees for any daughters of Bussy Mansel.

Dame Elizabeth died before her son, 3rd February, 1737. Christopher and Bussy Mansel administered Sir Thomas' Will, and Bussy, having no son, entered on possession of the whole estate. Charles Bowen, of Oystermouth, as Sir Thomas Stradling's heir-at-law, put in a claim, but was bought off by deeds, 25th and 26th May, 1739, confirmed 26th September following. By another deed, 18th October, 1739, between Bussy Mansel, Rowland and Richard Dawkins, and Charles Bowen, certain moneys were settled on Charles Bowen, his wife, and children, or failing them, on George Bowen, his nephew. These payments were charged on the Penllyne estate with the Dawkins' as trustees, but to be void should Bussy's son be ousted from the succession. Bussy then sold the Cardiff tenements to Richard Bates, M.D.

In Easter term, 1741, Tyrwhit put in a claim against Bussy Mansel and Charles Bowen. Bussy, Lord Mansel, died 29th November, 1750, and by Will, 11th December, 1749, left the Stradling estates to his wife for life, remainder to their only child Louisa Barbara Mansel. Charles Bowen died s.p. 8th July, 1761, leaving his personal estate to Anne, his wife. Hugh Bowen, his heir-at-law, claimed, 23rd January, 1752, to set aside the Will of Sir Thomas Stradling, as voidable, the recovery, as well as the compromise made by his brother, Charles Bowen, as not valid. The Mansels defended, and the Chancellor heard the cause 25th June, 1754. and afterwards Tyrwhit became a party to Bowen's petition, and the Mansel ladies put in replies. The result was a composition, and it was agreed that the Mansels should make certain payments to Hugh and Anne Bowen, and confirm certain annuities. The estates to be divided into four lots, one of East and West Orchard; Castleton and Gileston to be sold to pay law charges, and to provide a fund for equalizing the shares. The remainder to be divided into three parts, and the parties to draw lots for them. Of these, Lady Mansel to have half a half part for life, with remainder to her daughter who had the whole half and the Somerset estate; also Bussy's sale in Cardiff to be allowed, Penllyne, Langan, Lamfey, etc., went to the Mansels, valued at £14,229 6s. 4d., to which was added from the common fund £930 4s. 4d. to make it equal. Tyrwhit had St. Donats, Sully, and Marcross, valued at £15,259 10s. 8d. Hugh Bowen had Monknash at £14,807 15s. 10d., plus £351 14s. 10d. to make it equal. With Sully went the right of fishing opposite Barry Island, and in Barry channel; quayage, keelage, and moorage, were no longer taken, but harbour dues yielded about £1 per annum; also kelp raised and burned on the shore, and limestone raised between high and low water mark. Lead mines in the manor are now no longer worked. Also waste on the beach. 275 acres is not included in the estate. The measurement, by another statement is 232 acres, 2 roods, 31 poles. Sully island is at one end of the waste. The waste included sand and lime.

St. John, the third name, is that of a family usually regarded as early settlers at Fonmon; but how it comes that neither he or his fee of Fonmon are here mentioned, it is difficult to say. Mr. Jones, the owner of Fonmon, suggests that probably it was not originally held in capite of the Lord of Glamorgan, but formed a part of the Umfraville fee of Penmark, a dependence which would naturally be allowed to be forgotten when the heiress of Umfraville carried Penmark to the St. Johns. If this be so, as it probably is, it is odd that the St. Johns, not being tenants in chief, should appear among the twelve knights.

Berkrolles of East Orchard, the fourth name, does not appear in this Survey. That William de Bercherola was a landowner on the Ebbw in Monmouthshire, appears from Bishop Uchred's declaration of 1146, and Roger de Berkerol was a Gloucestershire knight in 1165, but the family probably did not settle in Glamorgan till late in the reign of Edward I. Before that time East Orchard was one of the Nerber fees. In the 8th year of King John, Peter de Berkrolles is mentioned in some local pleadings as the purchaser of half a virgate of land at Watton, Herts. [Arch. Camb. for 1869, p. 69; Abb. Placit., p. 56.] Thus, then, on the whole, the evidence of the newly discovered record goes to support the popular tradition, only as regards six of the twelve knights, who may, therefore, have come in early.

There remains the further question, whether they were the only, or even the most important of the tenants in chief. De Granville certainly was a very large holder, and of the rest De Londres, Sully, and Umfraville held four fees each, the largest recorded holding. The honour of Coyty also, held by Turberville, was equally considerable, and Talavan was an important barony; but Le Soor held only one fee. Of the landed estate of Fleming before 1337, nothing is known.

On the other hand, Nerber held four and Corbet three fees, and yet they are not among the twelve. Cogan also held two, and many others. Nor was it the possession of a castle that gave the rank, for Someri certainly held Dinas Powis at a very early period, as did Norreis, Penllyne; Walsh, Llandough; Barry, Barry Castle; Bonvile, Bonvileston; Winchester or De Winton, Llanquian; Butler (not Pincerna), Dunraven; and Nerber, Castleton Castle; of all of which buildings parts, more or less considerable, remain.

Several other tenants, not among the twelve, may also be presumed to have come in very early, since they gave their names to their lands, and even to whole parishes, which look as though they were original allottees. Thus Constantineston or Coston was so called from Constantine; Bonvileston or Bolston, by the Welsh Tre Simon or Simon's place, from Sir Simon de Bonvile; Odyn's fee in Penmark from Odyn; Gileston or Joelston from Joel; Cogan from Cogan; Scuria Castle, a manor in Llanharry, from Scurlage, who also gave name to a manor in Gower; and Sigginston or Tre Siggyn, from a family of whom Hugh Sygin was a Llantwit juror about this time. Mayloc was no doubt Welsh, and possibly gave name to the hill still known as Garth Maylog. The family of Someri had the manor and castle of Dinas Powis very early, for Roger de Someri of Dudley Castle had it on his death, 1 Edward I. It seems to have fallen into wardship, as Matilda, widow of Earl Richard de Clare, granted, 4 Edward I., the custody of it and of Roger the heir, then 18 years of age, during his minority to Alina Countess of Norfolk, daughter of Philip Basset of Wycombe.

The Survey further supports the statement of the disposition of the hill country among the greater Welsh lords, of whom Morgan Vachan, head of the Jestyn branch of Avan, had Baglan, that is to say, the lands from Aberavan to the Nedd, most of which came afterwards to the Houses of Margam and Neath. The sons of Morgan ap Cadwallan, also from Jestyn, had half a commote, or Welsh hundred, in Glyn Rhondda. They were then in possession. It appears from the Annals of Margam that Morgan their father was cruelly, and probably fatally tortured by his kinsman Howell ap Meredith in 1228. Griffith ap Rhys, one of the Van family, had the large tract of Senghenydd above and below the Caiach river, being two commotes. The commote held by Mordih ap Grefid [Meredith ap Griffith] seems to have been mainly in Gwent, or beyond the Rhymny, in a quarter where the two counties of Monmouth and Glamorgan are still intermixed, parts of parishes belonging to one running into the other. Meredith was lord of Hirvayn commote in Caermarthen as well as of the northern part of the modern Hundred of Wentloog in Monmouthshire; he descended paternally from the celebrated Rees ap Griffith, and maternally from Howel of Caerleon, and through his mother was heir to Howell's son. He died 1270. See Brut, p. 357, and Cal. Geneal., p. 272.

Some other names occur in the Survey concerning which a word or two may be said. Walter de Gloucester was Escheator to the Crown on either side of the Trent at various times in the reign of Edward I., and lived into that of Edward II. Ivel Fitz Robert does not occur elsewhere as connected with Glamorgan, neither do Pireton nor Clifford. The family of De Cardiff, of Walton Cardiff in Gloucestershire held Newton Nottage by grant from William Earl of Gloucester, one of whose Charters is witnessed by Robert de Cardiff, whose heiress married Sanford, who also had a quarter of a fee in Leckwith. Cardiff of Lanirid or Llantrythid was a kinsman, whose daughter seems to have carried that manor to Bassett. Earl Richard de Clare, before 1257, granted the manor of Leckwith, being a quarter of a knight's fee, to Nicholas de Sanford, who gave it to his brother Laurence, who gave it to Philip Basset. How it came back to the Sanford family, so as to belong to Fulk Sanford, is unknown. He had however been newly enfeoffed. Butler or De Pincerna was a very early settler, and held Kelligarn under Le Sore; a match with the heiress of Sir Ph. de Marcross gave him that fee. Chapel, in which William Mayloc held half a fee, seems to be the same with Littlebone and Llystalybont, a manor near Cardiff held by him in the Spenser survey. There was a Galfred de Constantine, who had possessions in Bedfordshire and Ireland in the reign of Henry III., possibly of this family, since migrations to that country from Glamorgan were common.

The Welsh Cogan seem to have been the head of the family, whereas those of the others, as Sully and Bonville, were cadets. Petronille, widow of Thomas Cogan, of Glamorgan, was assessed upon her dower, on one-third of Huntapill-Cogan, co. Somerset, at £67 0s. 1½d., and on one-third of Usfulcomb, at £17 7s. 9d., and on one-third of Bampton, co. Devon, at £23 15s. 11½d. [Close Roll 8 Edward I.]

The Welsh genealogists, though they record with great minuteness the stocks and branches of the families of Welsh descent, very seldom extend their care to the advenæ, who settled in the lordship, and these though often recorded in the English counties from whence they were derived, seemed to have cared very little for the branches in Wales, so that even so well established a family as the Barrys has left no regular pedigree or record.

The name of Barry is not uncommon in the West of England, and appears in West Wales and in Ireland, derived no doubt from Wales. The founder of the family in Glamorgan is usually thought to have given the name to the Island and Parish of Barry, where are still fragments of a castle of the name, of which the entrance doorway is probably of the date of Edward II.

There seem to have been two families of the name in the lordship, one, the principal, held land in Gower, the other, appears in Charters connected with Cardiff or that part of the county. Peter, Bishop of St. Davids, in 1176—1190, confirms a grant of thirty acres given by William de Barri to Neath. In 1201, William de Barri, owns rents in Walterston [CCLXVI.], and from a confirmation by King John, in 1208, it appears that the land was in Gower, it further appears in 1230 and in 1250 [DXLIII.], that the land was the whole fee of Villa Walteri or Walterston, in Gower. William de Barri occurs as a juror for the earliest of the Comitatus of Glamorgan, circa 1262, but neither his name nor the name of the place are found in the appended list of feudatories or their fees. Meyrick says, William de Barri, was held of Cantilupeston. In 1281—1290, William de Barri witnesses a de Braose Charter, and in 1247, Sir William de Barri witnesses an Avan Charter [DXXXIII.].

Lucas and Thoma de Barri occurs in 1338, in a Neath Charter [DCCCCLXVIII.]; Richard de Barri witnesses a Penmaen and Oxwich Charter [DCCCXCVII.]; and a Gower Charter in 1420 [MCXV.]. These all belong to the Gower family.

Those of the Cardiff family are less numerous and probably less important. In CCOXCV. Milicent, daughter of William Mitdehorguill, makes a donation to Margam, in gratitude for a former gift, of one silver mark to enable her to pay the relief of her land of Barry, in the fee of St. Nicholas; it seems as though this referred to a St. Nicholas in Gower, in which case it may be another Barry, it could scarcely be Barry in East Glamorgan.

The names of those of the Eastern branch, so far as they have been recorded, are as follows:—

William de Barri witnesses a Dinas Powis Charter, without date [DOLI. and DOLXXII.]. Walter de Barri witnesses Charters at or near Cardiff [DCCCXLVIII.]. Also in 1281, a Bonvileston Charter [DCCCL.]. John, son and heir of William de Barri, a burgess of Cardiff, grants a tenement there [DCCXXXV.]. Also Thomas de Barri occurs in 1338 [DCCCCLXIX.]. In 1281, Barry was a port, classed with the mouth of the Thaw and the Ogmere, and levied tolls.

An Extent was an estimate of the value of the land under a writ of 'extendi facias,' issued by the Sheriff. When the full value was given it was called a 'full extent.'

It was important, as upon its proceedings for debt could be taken without further reference to the value of the land.

Usually the value reached seems to have been two-thirds of the real value. \

The Bawdripps were of Bawdripp, co. Somerset, but Thomas Bawdripp seems to have acquired land in Penmark, before 1339, which he demised to Johanna daughter of Thomas Odyn, who may have been his wife, and from whose family the manor of Odyn's fee, now Penmark Place, evidently derived its name of 'Odyn's' fee. William Bawdripp, probably their son or grandson, living 1443-4, married Elinor St. John, of Fonmon. William Bawdripp sold the fee, about 1615-16, to Sir Edward Lewis. They also held Splot, near Cardiff. John Bawdripp married Elizabeth de Kerdyff, who inherited half a fee in Queenhull, from her mother Joane de Kerdyff, whose co-heiress she was. These left a daughter and heiress, Agnes, who married John Bassett, of St. Hilary, at 13, in 1396.

Roger Clifford is mentioned in the County Extent as holding half a knight's fee in Kenefic. Griffith ap Rees is not an uncommon combination, so that it is doubtful if the juror here was the same with him who held two cummots in Senghenyth.

Llantwit (Llantwit Major) and Lysworney are parishes, one five miles south and the other a mile west of Cowbridge in the midst of a population of strangers. The jurors do not contain any Welsh names, nor do they all appear to have adopted surnames. Tosard is no doubt related to the founder of St. James' Church in Kenfig. Blanesignel occurs DCCCCLXIII. Boys is de Bo-co [CVI., DCLXXXIX.] Elias Basset was of St. Hilary.

These inquisitions, together with one for the whole county, though without date, appear to have been taken on the death of Richard de Clare, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, in 46 Henry III., 1262, in order to ascertain what were the particulars of the Earl's feudal rights over the lordship of Glamorgan, upon which the King's claim for reliefs and other feudal incidents was to be calculated. As the Earl's son and successor was of full age, there was no question of custody of lands or wardship of the heir, but an ordinary case of succession only. The returns show the burgage rents, the assised or fixed rents, and those paid by free and rustic tenants, the latter being such as held by socage, with an obligation to perform agricultural services on the lord's land. The free tenants are sometimes within and sometimes outside the borough boundaries, being then called 'Forinseci.' The cotarii were mere cottagers. Among the dues are those from market tolls, fisheries, prisage of beer, receipts from fairs, perquisites from the lord's courts, rents from the demesne lands, arable, moor, or meadow, operationes or obligations to assist in getting in the lord's harvest or to repair his waggons, and, more valuable than all, dues to the lord's mills. These, in Cardiff, amounted to nearly one half of the whole receipts; in Llantrisant, much exposed to the inbreaks of the Welsh, only to one-twenty-third part; in Llangonydd to one-eleventh; in Neath to one-sixth; and in Llantwit, far within the English boundary, to the same.

The reign of Henry III. was a period of frequent inbreaks of the Welsh, but still it is surprising to find that in Llantrisant, which, however, included Pentyrch and other villages, as many as 100 houses had been burnt, in Llangonydd 80 houses, and in Neath 150; and yet Neath appears to have been walled, and both it and Llantrisant were defended by strong castles. In the hamlet of Garth-Maelog, two carucates of land, usually yielding £2 6s. 10½d., were utterly waste.

The Public Records afford conflicting evidence as to whether the two ladies, heiresses of Sir Stephen Bausson (better known as de Baiocis), were his daughters or those of his elder brother, the preceding baron. The Lysworney return settles this point. Agnes is well known to have been Sir Stephen's widow, and here it appears that she held her third as dower, and the Earl, in the absence of heirs of Sir Stephen's body, took the other two-thirds. The two nieces were at that time of age, and married. [See DXXXV.]

The names of the inquisitors show the prevalence of the Welsh in the border parishes only. In Cardiff all twelve are clearly English. In Llantwit the same. In Llantrisant, perched astride upon the hills, and notwithstanding its castle, peculiarly exposed, all twelve are Welsh, as they are in Llangonydd. In Neath, though much exposed, the presence of the castle and abbey probably attracted strangers, for, of the twelve, seven only are decidedly Welsh, and five English. Here are some Welsh tenants, who do not elsewhere appear, save in Llantrisant. Adaaf ab Ivor pays 2s. for a sparrowhawk, probably involving a licence for fowling. The payment 'ad lardarium' is possibly for allowing the hogs to fatten or produce lard in the lord's woods, and answers to pannage, also mentioned, though why the two phrases should be used in the same schedule does not appear.

The inquisitions give the advowsons of Llantrisant, Pentirch, Llangonydd, and Neath, and omit those of Cardiff and Llantwit with Lysworney. Llantrisant, however, belonged to Tewkesbury Abbey from an early period, Pentirch was in the hands of the Dean and Canons of Llandaff, and Llangonydd, in Margam. Neath seems always to have been in the hands of the lord of Glamorgan, and so descended. Llantwit, held with Lysworney, was in Tewkesbury.

It is curious that though the general return is called 'Extenta Comitatus,' or of the county, no mention is ever made of the Earl, save as holding the two-thirds of Lysworney, of which Agnes Bausson held one-third. Unfortunately the Earl's schedule in the I.P.M., though very full as regards England, has only one Welsh entry, the manor of Marcross in Glamorgan, which in the County Extent is not in the hands of the Earl, but in those of Thomas Hawey of St. Donats, evidently held for the heiress of Richard Butler. Hawey certainly held this by licence from the Earl, for in the Cal. Genealogicum, I. 107, this Richard is entered as having held Marcross manor as custos of Johanna la Butillere, who was daughter of William Pincerna, son of John le Butler, which John was brother of Richard le Buteler, whose heirs and great niece was Johanna. But Johanna died under age, and the inheritance was claimed by the two sisters of her father William, and the one sister of her great uncle Richard, and pending this dispute the Earl held possession, and was so holding when he died.

According to Rees Meyrick the Pincerna family name was Halwey, and William Pincerna of Kelligarn, son of Simon de Halweia, married the daughter of Sir Philip de Marcross, and had Sampson de Halweia, who migrated into Somerset. It will probably turn out that this family was Hawey of Comb-Hawey, County of Somerset, and of St. Donats, with whose heiress the Stradlings acquired those manors

CAUSE BETWEEN MARGAM ABBEY AND ST. PETER'S, GLOUCESTER, RESPECTING TITHES.

[HARL. CHARTER, 75 A. 40.]

WEDNESDAY AFTER ST. AGATHA'S DAY. 5 FEBRUARY. 1262.

Examinatio testium productorum ex parte abbatis et conventus de MARGAN et eorum depositio facta die MERCURII proxima post festum beate AGATHE virginis anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo sexagesimo secundo in ecclesia beati JOHANNIS de KAERDIF per dominum priorem de TALELECHO commissarium abbatis de WYGEWOR et magistri GALFRIDI de BURGO canonici LANDAVENSIS judicium a domino Papa delegatorum in causa appellationis mota inter abbatem et conventum de MARGAN ex parte una et conventum monasterii Sancti PETRI GLOUCESTRIE ex altera.

Frater JOHANNES COMYN monachus de MARGAN juratus et examinatus dicit quod vidit et audivit et presens fuit in ecclesia cathedrali LANDAVENSI in crastino Sancti HYLLARIi anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo sexagesimo primo ubi frater PHILIPPUS de LULLIWELLE procurator abbatis et conventus de MARGAN CISTERCIENSIS ordinis LANDAVENSIS dyocesis comparuit coram decano Christianitatis

LANDAVENSIS et magistro ROGERO de STAUNTONE clerico vices officiales domini LANDAVENSIS episcopi gerentibus in causa tunc mota inter abbatem et conventum monasterii Sancti PETRI GLOUCESTRIE ex parte una et abbatem et conventum de MARGAN ex altera super decimis provenientes de terris eorundem abbatis et conventus de MARGAN consistentibus in parochia ecclesie de LANKARVAN LANDAVENSIS dyocesis. Qui quidem procurator humiliter ac instanter petiit ut ipsi acta iudicii coram eis habita in causa ipsa tam eadem die quam in vigilia beati NICHOLAI proximo preterita per que causa ipsa instruebatur et processu temporis instrui poterat redigi facerent in auctenticam scriptam et eadem acta in scriptis redacta sigillis suis signarent ut per ea in auctenticam scriptam redacta causa eorundem abbatis et conventus de MARGAN pro loco et tempore instrui possit et juvari. Set ipsi decanus et ROGERUS hoc ei facere precise denegarunt. Propter quod idem procurator de MARGAN nomine suo et dominorum suorum predictorum ad sedem apostolicam in scriptis appellavit et apostolicos instanter petiit quos ipsi decanus et ROGERUS eidem procuratori concedere denegarunt. Requisitus de hora diei quando hoc factum fuit, dicit quod circa horam terciam. Requisitus qui fuerunt presentes, dicit quod ipse et predictus frater PHILIPPUS de LULLIWELLE, et fratres JOHANNES de NOVA-VILLA, WILLELMUS SORTES, PHILIPPUS de KAERMARDIN, monachi de MARGAN, magister NICHOLAUS de KAENETONA phisicus, JOHANNES PERUAT, JOHANNES DU, et multi alii tam clerici quam laici quia consistorium fuit ea die. Requisitus quare non fuit causa appellationis ipsius infra annum terminata a tempore appellationis ipsius interposite, dicit quod hoc stetit per curiam Romanam sive per nuncios eorundem quos ad eandem curiam miserant ad impetrandum super eadem appellatione. Miserunt enim predictos nuncios suos versus curiam Romanam infra octavas predicti Sancti HYLLARII et neminem eorum receperunt ante vigiliam beati VINCENTII martiris anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo sexagesimo secundo eo quod impediti erant ut dicebant per viam et eciam in predicta curia propter audientiam et bullam in eadem curia diu suspensam ut dicebant.

Frater WILLELMUS SORTES monachus de MARGAN juratus et examinatus super predicta appellatione et ejus causa et aliis circumstanciis superscriptis. Idem dicit et concordat cum fratre JOHANNE preconjurato suo.

Frater PHILIPPUS de KAERMARDIN monachus de MARGAN juratus et examinatus super predicta appellatione et ejus causa et aliis circumstanciis suprascriptis. Idem dicit et concordat cum fratre JOHANNE preconjurato suo, adiciens quod ipse propria manu scripsit tenorem appellationis predicti quam predictus procurator de MARGAN in predicto crastino Sancti HYLLarii interposuit ab audientia dictorum decani et ROGERI.

Magister NICHOLAUS de KENETONE phisicus juratus et examinatus super predicta appellatione et ejus causa et aliis circumstanciis memoratis. Idem dicit et concordat cum fratre JOHANNE preconjurato suo excepto quod missioni nuntiorum predictorum non interfuit. bene tamen scit literam super dicta appellatione impetratam fuisse a sede apostolica ad quam fuit appellatum.

Frater JOHANNES de NOVA-VILLA monachus de MARGAN juratus et examinatus super predicta appellatione et ejus causa et aliis circumstanciis memoratis idem dicit et concordat cum fratre JOHANNE preconjurato suo.

Magister ROGERUS de STAUNTON clericus juratus et examinatus super dicta appellatione et ejus causa et aliis circumstanciis predictis. Idem dicit et concordat cum fratre JOHANNE primo jurato adiciens et jurans quod invitus et coactus hujusmodi testimonium dixit.

It seems that a dispute had arisen between Margam and Gloucester concerning the tythe of Llancarvan. The case was first heard in the Cathedral in 1261, before the Dean of Llandaff and Master Roger Staunton, official of the bishop, who, Leland tells, the Margam proctor, appeared for Margam. CONFIRMATION BY THE ABBOT AND CONVENT OF ST.
PETER'S, GLOUCESTER, TO HEREWALD, SON OF HABRA-HAM, OF LAND IN THE FEE OF PENNUNE.

[CARTUL^{um} S^{an}c^ti PETRI GLOUC. VOL. II. p. 15.] ANTE 1263.

Omnibus CHRISTI fidelibus præsens scriptum visuris vel audituris JOHANNES Dei gratia abbas et conventus Sancti PETRI GLOUCESTRÆ salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra quod nos hoc præsenti scripto concessimus et confirmavimus HEREWALDO filio HABRAHÆ et hæredibus suis terram illam quam habet de dono EMMÆ de COGAN videlicet tres acras et dimidiam terræ arabilis et dimidiam acram prati et unum hortum in feodo nostro de PENNUNE, tenendas et habendas prædictas acras cum horto sibi et hæredibus suis libere et quiete absque alicujus contradictione vel calumnia prout in carta quam habet de dicta EMMA plenius continetur. In ejus rei testimonium, etc., etc.

John de Felde, Abbot of St. Peter's, who died 1263, here declares that he confirms to Herewald, son of Habraha, the land he had by gift from Emma de Cogan, in Pennun.

Very little is accurately known of the religious foundations, whether secular or regular, before the coming of Fitz Hamon; the country was certainly divided into parishes, many of large area, but even of these nothing certain is known, the Liber Landavensis is the chief if not the only authority. Of the establishments of the regular clergy, the best known and most important were at Llantwit and at Llancarvan, and for what is known of them we are indebted to the Liber Landavensis. All the Monastic institutions seem to have been swept away by the Normans, probably to be replaced by foundations of their own.

Tenendam et habendam de me et heredibus meis vel assignatis dicto MAURICIO et heredibus suis vel assignatis libere et quiete bene et in pace integre et hereditarie imperpetuum. Reddendo inde annuatim mihi et heredibus meis vel assignatis dictus MAURICIUS et heredes sui vel assignati duos denarios esterlingorum ad duos anni terminos scilicet ad festum Sancti JOHANNIS BAPTIST unum denarium et ad festum Sancti MICHAELIS unum denarium pro omnibus serviciis querelis auxiliis sectis et secularibus demandis que de dicta terra exeunt vel aliquo casu exire poterunt. Et ego HUGO et heredes mei vel assignati dictas decem dainias et dimidiam cum pertinentiis suis dicto MAURICIO et heredibus suis vel assignatis contra omnes homin et feminas warentizabimus acquietabimus et defendemus imperpetuum. Pro hac autem mea donatione et concessione et carte mee confirmatione dedit mihi dictus MAURICIUS sexdecim solidos argenti premanibus in ingressum. Et ut hec mea donatio et concessio rata et stabilis permaneat presentem carta sigilli mei impressione roboravi. Hiis testibus . JOHANNE filio WILLELMI . PETRO filio ROGERI . JOHANNE filio JOHANNIS . WILLELMO THUSARD . DAVID filio ROGERI . HAMUNDO LACHAM . WILLELMO HERBERD . et multis aliis.

Syginston, Sygginland, or Tresigin is on the border line of the parishes of Llantwit Major and Llanvihangel, and no doubt took its name from a family named Sigin, who probably entered Glamorgan late in the 12th or early in the 13th century. Their pedigree has not been preserved. Hugh Sigin was one of the jurors employed, circa 1262, upon the Survey of Llantwit and Liswrini [DCXX.]. As Hugh Sigin, of Siginstone, he conveys to the Lord Maurice Pincerna, ten dainias and a half of land there for 10s. cash, in silver [DCXXIV.], and in 1262, he witnessed a Charter by Maurice Croc [DCXXIII.]. How or when the Sygins ended does not appear; a daughter (Blanche) of Richard Carne married Griffith Grant, of Siginston, in 1558, the Grants were for some generations of that place.

There seems to have been another Siginston or Siginland, in the hamlet of Lamphy, in St. Brides Major, which in 1528, Thomas ap Jevan Du, sold to William Herbert, and which was again sold in 1544, by William Stradling, of Talygarn, and Margaret, his wife to William Tyler, for 45 marcs, who in the same year resold it to Thomas Stradling, of St. Donats, for 40 marcs [MCCCXXXIII.].

Ducange, the great authority on medieval Latin matters, omits to notice the dainia, which is evidently a land measure.

PRELIMINARY FORM OF THE DEED OF REMISSION THAT FOLLOWS.

[MARGAM CHARTER.] 10 APRIL. 1265.

In nomine Domini nostri JHESU CHRISTI convenit inter abbatem etc. as in the deed following to partem scripti memorati.

Datum apud HANLEGAM . decimo die APRILIS . in presencia domini GILBERTI de CLARE comitis GLOUCESTRIE et HERTFORDIE eorum patroni . anno Gracie M^o. CC^o. LX. quinto.

Imperfect seal of the Earl of Gloucester, as described in the deed following. This is the only seal affixed to the deed, which appears to be a preliminary consent acquired by the parties from the Earl before they proceeded to make two sets of indented cyrographs, sealed with the seals of the respective abbots and convents, as well as with that of the Earl. The endorsement seems to favour this view—‘Transcriptum cyrographi inter nos et domum Tekesburie, sigillatum sigillo G. comitis de Clare’; and in a later hand—‘De decimis de Novo Castello in manibus domus de Morgan.’

Asceline is elsewhere unknown in Glamorgan. He was probably a small landowner near Margan, as were the other persons named in the Charter, but Robertus filius Asceline held one fee of Earl Patric, in Wilts, and one of Walter Waleran [L.N., I. 107, 108], and also charged scutage for one knight, in Wilts 1166, [L. Ruber, I. 240].

Philip Coh appears as a landowner near Kenfig.

The name of Thusard, Tusard, or Tosard, first appears in 1147—1184, when Henry Thusard petitioned the Abbot of Tewkesbury for leave to build a church in Kenefeg (Kenfig), to be served by himself for his life, he paying a pension of 1s. on each feast of All Saints. This was the parish church of St. James, and seems to be the rebuilding of a previous church. This gave rise to a controversy in 1154 between St. Leonard's, Newcastle, represented by Parson Job, presbyter there, and Master Henry Thusard, concerning tythes. This same Henry witnesses an undated Charter concerning church lands at Kenfig, and another Henry witnesses a Charter by Robert, Earl of Gloucester, in 1338. W. Tussard tests a Charter by Maurice Croc, confirming, in 1262, a gift of land in Landmayes. Also in 1267, Michael Tussard held, under Margan, two parts of messuage, a croft, a garden, and an acre of land at a rent of 2s. This was probably the same who held one-sixth of a fee in Llantwit in 1317, valued at 10s.

Actum anno die et loco predictis.

This is an attempt, probably not entered upon in good faith, on either side, between Prince Llewelyn and Earl Gilbert, to put an end to the perpetual wars carried on between the Welsh and English of the borders, in accordance with the recommendation of a commission which held a meeting at Montgomery.

It appears from the record that the scene of the special difference was in the lordships of Miskin and Seinghenydd.

Fragment of a seal of arms : a cross fleury. Green wax.

Norria, Noreis, Norcys, Norensis, were from Gloucestershire, and early settlers in Glamorgan where they held Penllyne and probably Llanvihangel, which they also held in 1320, each lordship as one knight's fee. Sir Robert Noreis was, no doubt, the builder of the Castle of Penllyne, where still remains a fragment of a small rectangular keep, shewing herring-bone masonry, very rare, even if existing anywhere else in South Wales. Sir Robert, and perhaps his son of the same name, filled the office of Sheriff under Robert consul, and William Earl of Gloucester.

Their successor was Sir John le Norreis, who gave a croft to Margam, about 1188, and made a convention with Margam, whence it appears that he held land in Bonevileston under the Abbot. In 1262, he, or his son, was one of a jury of twelve for an Extent of Glamorgan, when it appears that Penllyne, possibly with Llanvihangel, was rated at £15 per annum.

John seems to have been a popular name with the family.

In 1376, John, son and heir of John le Noris, of Leche-Castel, was under age, so Margam granted a lease at Bonvilleston for the term of his minority. And in 1400, Pierre Crull, tres cher escuier to Henry IV., had the wardship of the lands of John le Norris, chevalier, deceased, held in capite of Thomas le Despencer, and falling to the Crown on his attainder in the time of Richard II. With the land Crull had the wardship of John's daughter and heiress Margaret. Collinson calls her Elizabeth, and married her to William Cahor, of Coker, county Somerset. Of this there is no record, but the Welsh pedigree gives to a John le Norris four daughters, co-heiresses, of whom (1) Beatrice, married Walsh, of Llandough; (2) Maud, married Philip Morgan, of Pencoyd; (3) Lucy, married Tompkin Turberville, whence the Turbervilles of Penllyne; (4) Wenllian. Several other Norrises occur in the Charters, as Owen, Robert, Richard, Nicholas.
